Ray's Hall Plan: B'way East Land

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Kingston Common Council will receive two resolutions concerning a new city hall Downtown—one to buy the land from the Urban Renewal Agency, the other to hire an architect.

A Tentative $25,000

The price of the 3.25 acres north of Meadow Street along Broadway has been tentatively set by the Urban Renewal Agency at $25,000. The resolution calls for the city to contract for the land with the actual outlay of cash expected after the first of year.

The other resolution asks for the hiring of Albert E. Milliken, Kingston architect, whose fee for designing the $1,093,000 city hall has been set at $65,000. The resolutions are jointly sponsored by the City Hall Committee with Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) as its chairman and the Finance, Ways and Means Committee with Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward) as its chairman.

It appears Epstein's committee will approve the resolutions for a floor vote but there is serious doubt whether Mancuso's committee will give its approval.

Opposed to Both

Chairman Mancuso said today he is opposed to both resolutions and was supported by a fellow committee member, John Naccarato (R-Third Ward).

Mancuso wants the whole city hall issue given to the public for a referendum. "An issue of this magnitude and with the amount of money involved should not be left in the hands of 13 aldermen. The people should vote on it," Mancuso told The Freeman today.

Mancuso said the taxpayers of the city were overburdened now and would probably not approve of another major expenditure by the city government. "I don't think 13 men should obligate 29,000 people to an expenditure as large as this," Mancuso said.

Naccarato concurred with Mancuso, stating, "With the way city finances are now, I can't see going into any major projects with the taxpayers' money."

In addition, Naccarato was opposed to building a city hall Downtown, which he termed "a blight area." Said Naccarato, "Urban Renewal is at a standstill. Just take a ride Downtown and look. It's the same all over the country. We could wind up stuck down there."

Will Refuse to Sign

Naccarato said he would refuse to sign the committee report that would bring it out for a floor vote. If Mancuso also refuses to sign, the resolution would remain in committee unless the rest of the Council votes to relieve the committee of its duties, a seldom used maneuver, especially on major issues.

It has been estimated that a million-dollar bond issue would have to be floated for the new hall over a 30-year period. The cost on the tax rate has been pegged at about one dollar per thousand by officials at city hall.

There has been extensive preliminary work on the city hall project including soil tests, site studies and the drawing up of plans. These plans were presented to the Council last month by Milliken.

City Engineer Thomas Wickman told The Freeman today that soil tests were taken to a depth of 40 feet. No rock was hit which led Milliken to design a building which takes into account the generally weak base of the Downtown area.

Before Milliken was hired for his study Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan had estimated the city needed 19,000 square feet of space for a new hall at a cost, including parking, of $500,000. Milliken's figures were well above Garraghan's. Milliken put the city's space requirements for an expected population of 40,000, at 36,813 square feet. The cost was pegged at $1,093,951 to which would be added the cost of the land ($25,000), cost of paving for 120 cars ($16,000) and the architect's fee ($65,000).

Renovation: $1,459,601

The cost of renovating the old building at 408 Broadway was estimated by Milliken to be $1,459,601.

The city, by building the city hall Downtown, would virtually wipe out its Urban Renewal debt for Broadway East, which is almost $900,000. The city received a credit of $500,000 for the John F. Kennedy School and could expect another $250,000 from the city hall. Municipalities are allowed credits of up to 25 per cent on each building project against their over-all urban renewal dollar obligation.

If the Council approves both resolutions Tuesday night construction would probably not begin until next spring and estimates are that it would take about a year to complete.

Reagan and Lindsay:

Contrasting Plank Views

By LEWIS GULICK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—descended on GOP platform writers today with contrasting calls for 1968 party planks.

For the California governor, whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate, the accent lay on firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

Arthur S. Flemming, speaking for the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, urged the platform workers Tuesday to make a "vigorous and convincing endorsement" of the sweeping recommendations of the National Commission on Civil Disorders for action to wipe out poverty in the seething slums.

"The Congress has been unwilling to move with a sense of urgency in this direction," said Flemming, who is president of the University of Oregon and a former secretary of health, education, and welfare.

"In fact, in such areas as employment, education and welfare, the movement has been in the opposite direction. This is an unsatisfactory response to the eruptions in our cities..."

Dr. Flemming, a native of Kingston, is the son of the late Surgeon General and Mrs. Harry H. Flemming of the city.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campus centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

Stress on Reforms
For the New York mayor, who says he's for New York

not himself as president, the stress was on reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission; a commitment that this (Johnson) administration has scorned," he said. "It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

On Vietnam, Lindsay said "the Republican party should assume forthright leadership of the cause of ending this unwanted war on the other side of the world."

And U.S. diplomacy, he said, should recognize that in a changing world, relations with Russians and Chinese are not "fixed forever in an unalterable pattern."

Reagan and Lindsay spoke in separate, prepared statements as the Republican Platform

Committee neared the end of open hearings on the party's policy document for this campaign year.

On Thursday the group plans to start closed plank-writing sessions amid indications that despite some disputes here and there, the drafters can agree on a platform acceptable to any of the candidates.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, a key Rockefeller backer on the committee, said "obviously if they turn back to the 19th century in the platform there will be a fight." But he did not think such a battle would develop.

Avoids Specifics

Reagan said he was not getting into specifics, which sometimes cause controversy. "I have intentionally today talked in some generalities because I believe our party should be bound by principles, not just details," he said.

Both Reagan and Lindsay—who were separated in their scheduled morning appearances by an intervening foreign policy witness, former Ambassador to Mexico Robert C. Hill—joined in stiff assaults on the Democrats.

Reagan accused the Johnson and Kennedy administrations of weakness in foreign affairs, of allowing U.S. military might to slip, of squandering of federal dollars and allowing riots and insurrection.

"These are not the hallmarks of a great society; but they are the heritage of the Democrat years," he said.

Cong Flushed Like Quail

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

SAIGON (UPI) — American forces made their deepest drive of the war into the Mekong Delta Tuesday and with Vietnamese marines flushed out the Viet Cong "like quails and foxes," killing 93 of them, U.S. spokesmen said today.

U.S. Navy gunboats carried the 750 Vietnamese into battle and provided firepower support as the Marines slogged through waist-deep mud into the Viet Cong hideout.

The Allied offensive into the canals and waterways of the Cai Lon River 100 miles southwest of Saigon "flushed (the Viet Cong) out like quails and foxes," Brig. Gen. Elbie Roberts said.

Far to the north, military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese were rebuilding their A Shau Valley supply stronghold to support an impending offensive in the northern war zone, where senior officials said 100,000 Communist soldiers are poised. U.S. B52s hit the valley Tuesday night and today in the first strikes there in three months.

Roberts, assistant commander of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division, said the 750 Vietnamese marines had to take the Viet Cong by surprise or lose them.

Meanwhile, at the 15th session of the Paris Vietnam talks, U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman accused North Vietnam of violating the 1962 Geneva agreement that guaranteed the sovereignty and neutrality of Laos.

Harriman, the U. S. chief negotiator, told newsmen that North Vietnam never kept the 1962 agreement for even one day.

He based his accusation on a white paper released last week by Laos Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Harriman also accused North Vietnam's Communist regime of depriving its people of freedom and ruling through "terror and butchery."

Settlement Sought

Czechs Hope to End Talks Today

CIERNA NAD TISOU, Czechoslovakia (UPI)—The three-day Czech-Soviet summit meeting ended today, and there were official indications the Czechs had won at least a period of grace from the Russians to continue their reform of Communism in Czechoslovakia.

CIERNA NAD TISOU, Czechoslovakia (UPI)—Czech Communist reformers want to wind up today their three-day-old crisis showdown with their former Soviet masters, party sources said.

But sources here and in Moscow said neither side wanted to break off the talks without a settlement to the split that has shaken Eastern Europe.

No official word of progress—or lack of it—has come out of the remodeled movie house where 16 Czechs led by First Secretary Alexander Dubcek and 13 Kremlin chieftains led by Soviet party First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev have been meeting since Monday.

The talks aimed at satisfying Soviet pressure for curtailing the Czech party reforms that the Russians fear is driving Czechoslovakia to capitalism and out of the East bloc military alliance. Failure to reach agreement could drive the Soviets into threatened armed intervention in this country, according to Moscow sources.

The Czech sources said Dubcek hoped for a windup late today.

They said he wants to go to

Bratislava to greet President Tito of Yugoslavia. Tito is coming in a show of support for the defiant Czechs.

The Russians have demanded the eight-month-old Czech Communist reform regime reimpose press censorship. They wanted Dubcek to fire aides the Russians regard as dangerously anti-Soviet. They sought guarantees the Czechs will stick to the Soviet-dominated Warsaw Pact military alliance. Dubcek and his reformers came to this village on the Soviet border with vows of loyalty to Moscow but pledges to do nothing to spoil their popular reform program.

In Moscow, the Soviets announced that the anti-aircraft portion of their massive maneuvers—called in as a sort of big stick diplomacy during the talks with this little country—had ended.

Pontiff's Edict on the Pill-- Family Plans Impact Unlikely

By JACK R. MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI's birth control edict is not expected to have significant impact on the U.S. government's broad and costly family planning programs, say informed sources in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Many Desperate

Past experience has shown that most poor women, including Roman Catholics, are eager to obtain means of birth control, these sources say.

"Many are desperate to control the size of their families," said a well-placed source. "They otherwise have one baby every year, and that keeps them in poverty and it's bad for their health."

The source said that men, from the Pope down, "have always speculated on the moral and theological issues, but it's the women who bear the babies

—and they make the final decision."

HEW declined official comment on the Pope's encyclical released Monday forbidding Catholic women to use birth control pills or any other mechanical means of contraception.

No Figures Available

No figures are available on the number of Catholics among women eligible for family planning services under federally supported programs. But officials say Catholics probably comprise a distinct minority.

HEW officials point out, however, that there are sizeable concentrations of Catholics in low-income brackets; Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans.

Mrs. Katherine B. Gettlinger, HEW's deputy assistant secretary for population and family planning, noted in an interview that predominantly Catholic Puerto Rico has pioneered in family planning programs and they have been extremely popular. But, she said, "It's too early to tell how Catholic women will react to the Pope's statement."

Only Part Is Likely

The federal government provided about $28 million in birth control services last year.

President Johnson has asked for $56 million for the current fiscal year. Indications are that Congress will grant only part of the increase.

In another reaction to the Pope's pronouncement, 87 Roman Catholic theologians announced Tuesday in Washington that they were opposed to it and that they believe Catholic couples should use birth control techniques according to their own conscience.

"As Roman Catholic theologians, conscious of our duty and our limitations," they said, "we conclude that spouses may responsibly decide according to their conscience that artificial contraception is permissible and in fact necessary to preserve and foster the values and sacredness of marriage."

Meeting Scheduled For RVC Voters

Voters of the Rondout Valley Central School District will have opportunity to become familiar with the nine options to the 1968-69 contingency budget at a district informational meeting scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Monday in the high school gymnasium.

Registration of voters for the Tuesday referendum concluded today at 3 p. m.

At the informational meeting, each option will be discussed thoroughly and the floor will be open to questions.

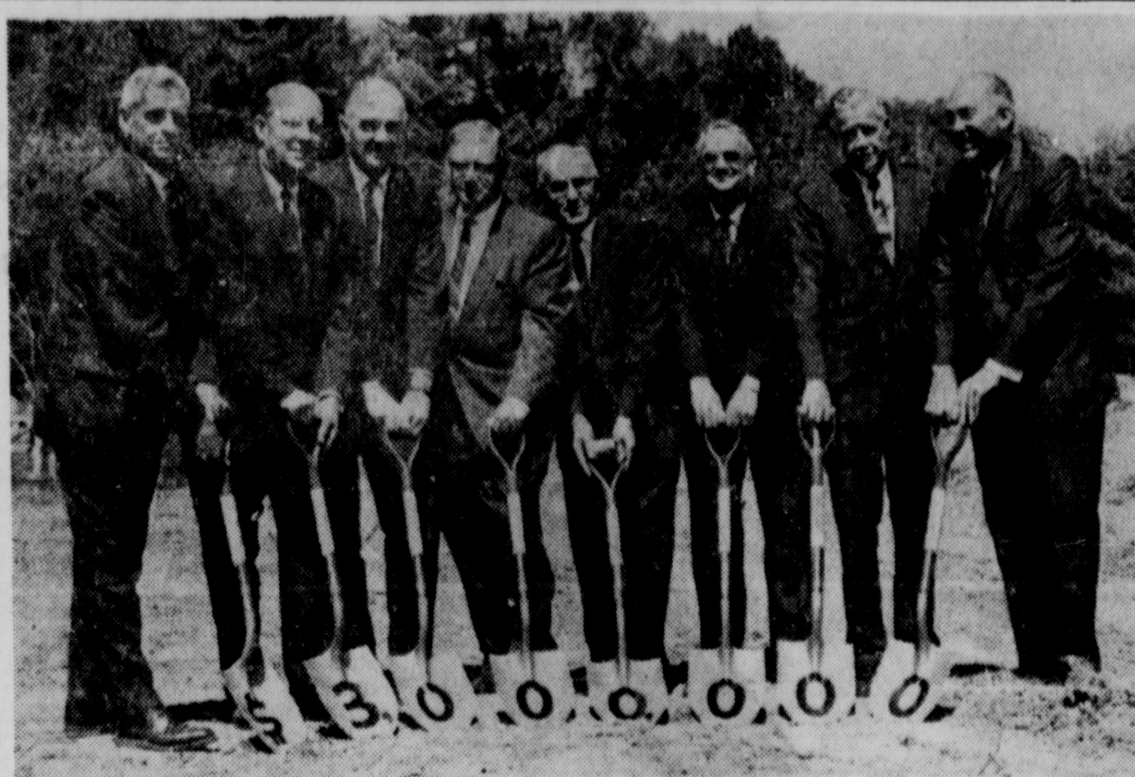

In a press release issued today by the school administration, it is noted that option number seven, transportation, "is undoubtedly of most concern to parents, for under the contingency budget it is completely possible that elemen-

Wills $5.5 Million

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Katherine U. Wilson, who died July 15 at the age of 85, willed $5.5 million to the University of Rochester, university officials said Tuesday.

Mrs. Wilson was the wife of the late Joseph R. Wilson, former president of Haloid Corp., now Xerox. Their son, Joseph C. Wilson, is chairman of the board of Xerox.

The will provides for $5 million in Xerox Corp. stock to be applied to the university's development fund and $500,000 from the residuary estate for general purposes.

7-Point Program for Peace Revealed by Candidate Dyson

By LYNN MULVANEY

Referring to the American involvement in Vietnam as "truly tragic," John Dyson, Democratic candidate for Congress, revealed to a Kingston audience last night his seven-point plan toward peace.

Dyson spoke to members of the press and public in the garden room of the Governor Clinton Hotel at an event which was originally scheduled as a debate between Dyson and his principal opponent Republican Hamilton Fish Jr.

As he has repeatedly, Dyson took the absent Fish to task for not entering into debate for not taking stands on issues.

Dyson quoted Fish as having said on April 5, that he has never been for withdrawal or escalation in Vietnam. "That's not a very specific place to stand," commented Dyson.

The Millbrook publisher also answered Fish's request for a confrontation on the recent Farm Bureau issue, saying he would willingly appear before the Greene or Columbia County Farm Bureaus whenever a date can be arranged.

Dyson said he himself was not personally involved with Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's inquiry into Farm Bureau activity and that he did not agree with all the things Resnick claimed to have found questionable, although he agreed with some.

He also suggested that a congressional inquiry into all tax exempt organizations would be worthwhile.

Concluding, Dyson said he does not intend to defend Resnick (for whom he once worked) or the administration on "a carte blanche basis."

Most Immediate Goal

The Democratic nominee prefaced his seven-point plan by remarking that uncontrollable events could alter the advisability of implementing some of the points, but, "our most important, immediate goal must be an internationally guaranteed negotiated settlement of a neutral and independent Vietnam."

He called for a "new and constructive approach to Vietnam and our entire foreign policy which will welcome diversity, assist peaceful change and recognize America's limited role in the world today."

FIRST, declared Dyson, "the United States should accept the reduced rate of infiltration from the North as evidence of restraint and halt the rest of the bombing of the North. If this occurred and the North Vietnamese still stalled in Paris, in the eyes of the world North Vietnam, not the United States would be prolonging the war."

SECOND, "Restore the demilitarized zone to its neutral status under supervision of the International Control Commission."

THIRD, "We should seek in Paris a partial or complete ceasefire between belligerents. Even if limited to certain areas like Saigon, a ceasefire could be the first real step toward peace. However, we should not agree to a freeze of forces in place, since there is no reason to believe that the forces of the National Liberation Front or North Vietnam will suddenly become immobile."

FOURTH, "Encourage direct talks between the South Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front, for the war will ultimately have to be settled by the Vietnamese."

FIFTH, "Repatriate troops if there is a proportional reduction of troops supervised by the International Control Commission and keyed to the evolution of the political settlement between South Vietnam and the National Liberation Front."

SIXTH, "Curtail the excessive use of search and destroy missions, which subject our soldiers to an inordinate danger of ambush and are of dubious success." Dyson noted that military efforts should be geared to protecting heavily populated areas, which, once secured, would be a base for agricultural and urban development programs.

SEVENTH, "Transfer the major responsibility of the war to the South Vietnamese Army, for the sooner we prepare the South Vietnamese to bear the burden of their own defense, the better."

Dyson said that beyond this immediate problem, "I deeply believe that the time has come for the U. S. to change some of our most fundamental assumptions and approaches to foreign policy . . ."

" . . . Our most important foreign policy objective must be the creation of what President John F. Kennedy called a world 'safe for diversity.'"

Negligence Charge Levied In Nun's Death

A 75-year-old Greene County man was ordered held for grand jury action on Tuesday after his arrest by State Police on a charge of criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle resulting in the death of a 43-year-old Roman Catholic Dominican nun.

Sister Agnes Berry, victim of the fatal mishap which occurred on the Thruway six miles south of Albany on Monday, was the driver of a car involved in the fatality. Two other nuns, Sister Mary Purissima, 69, who is visiting in this country from Pakistan, and Sister Helen Theresa McKenna, 50, were injured in the mishap.

Arrested and held for grand jury action was Harry E. Dean, 120 Broad Street, Catskill. He waived his right to a preliminary hearing and was committed to the Albany County jail pending grand jury investigation.

Authorities charged that Dean made an illegal U-turn in front of the other vehicle, causing the car driven by Sister Agnes Berry to go out of control, hit the divider and overturn.

Following his arrest, Dean was arraigned on the charge before Justice Edward Jones of Ravena.

The three nuns had visited at Villa St. Joseph in Barclay Heights sometime before they left for Albany.

College Aid String

Aid to higher education will be continued for two more years at least, but with a string on it. The House provided for mandatory denial of aid to college students who take part in a campus uprising in violation of lawful order, or are convicted of a crime as a result of participating in a campus uprising. A Senate-passed bill left it to college authorities to cut off such aid.

Some 3 million students have been helped to meet the costs of their college education through direct loans, guaranteed loans, grants and payments for campus work. Some have taken part in student uprisings that swept the campuses of the country earlier this year. If they value their schooling, the proposed cut-off of aid should have a salutary effect on many of the students who went along with the ring leaders but would think twice before jeopardizing their education for such a specious revolt.

The penalty was approved on a roll call by the House, which means that members were alarmed enough by the uprisings to be willing to be recorded against continued aid for the trouble makers. The Senate approved a 4-year $13.8 billion measure, but the economy bloc in the House reduced the bill to $5 billion for two years.

With the mandatory spending cut of $6 billion to meet, it is likely when the bill goes to conference that the lower figure will be approved. So should the penalty for joining in uprisings. The Federal government should not be in the business of subsidizing sabotage, whether of the educational or the governmental systems.

Spreading Welfare

When an arm of government in an election year makes a door-to-door canvass to find new clients for Social Security grants and Medicare allowances, it is natural to wonder if another objective may also be to drum up votes for the party in office. Especially as the order has gone out to reduce personnel to meet the economy program.

Anyway, a nationwide effort has just begun concentrated in the big cities of the country—where the voters are, it may be added—to find out how many people are entitled to Social Security and Medicare payments are not getting them. Youth Opportunity Corps workers are making the canvass in a suburb of Pittsburgh. The canvassers will continue through the month of August.

There are four broad areas in which the Social Security Administration makes payments—retirement benefits, survivors' benefits to dependents of deceased workers, disability benefits to individuals unable to work and certain of their dependents and Medicare for health and hospital care.

District officers state that this is not just another statistic gathering mission. It is just an effort to improve the system, and incidentally discover any who are overlooked. Of course, they deny any political objective is to be served.

Economic Growth

The Department of Commerce announcement that the seasonally adjusted annual rate of the gross national product has risen $19.6 billion to $850.8 billion in the second quarter of this year was only a shade lower than the first quarter record rise of $20.2 billion.

William H. Chartener, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs, discounted fears of economic overcooling as a result of higher taxes and cutbacks in federal spending. He foresaw no dip in the real GNP—the nation's total output of goods and services, corrected for price increases—over the next several quarters, just a slowing in the rate of growth.

Furthermore, Chartener said the April-June performance revealed no basic economic imbalances except for a federal deficit running at an annual rate of more than $20 billion, which should be brought under control by the passage of the Administration's fiscal package.

However, the individual taxpayer may not be so complacent. He sees the deficit this year running at the same rate as the nation's economic growth. He cannot be blamed if he felt therefore that the growth was mortgaged by the deficit.

William Clay Ford, the largest stockholder in the Ford Motor Company, is better known as the owner of the Detroit National Football League's Lions. Announcing support of Senator Eugene J. McCarthy for President, Ford assessed his chances of election by saying, "I'll take McCarthy and ten points." That's better than the going odds.

Every four years, it has become traditional for the United Nations to postpone its opening so that no important vote is taken until after the American election. This year will be no exception. Foreign government representatives are canvassing the membership in behalf of a late opening instead of the scheduled Sept. 19 start. The delay would be 60 days, well beyond the election.

The Paris Talks Continue

Why Are the Liberals Silent on Czech Threat?

WASHINGTON — Paradoxes are numerous these days, but none is more conspicuous than the absolute silence about Czechoslovakia which is being maintained by virtually all the groups, organizations, college professors, liberals and others in America who zealously expound the doctrine that people have a right to determine their own form of government.

No such silence prevailed when Rhodesia, for example, tried to solve its internal problems with respect to racial relations. In fact, the United States has joined with other members of the United Nations in imposing almost total sanctions on trade with Rhodesia.

But here is Czechoslovakia threatened by military intervention by the Soviet government if something in line with Moscow's style communism is not adopted. Yet no voices are raised anywhere in Europe or in this country even to express sympathy with the Democratic elements in Czechoslovakia which are trying to modify their form of government. Meanwhile, the Soviets are making military threats and are actually mobilized troops on the border of Czechoslovakia to coerce the latter into acceptance of Moscow's dictatorial policies.

The Czech leaders are not trying to abolish Communism, but seeking to modify it so that it will be more Democratic. They already are permitting considerable freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of the press. The Soviet government, however, apparently feels it has the right to dictate to the leaders in Prague what they may or may not do in domestic policies.

Members of the 11-man Communist body ruling Czechoslovakia are conferring with top Soviet leaders who have come from Moscow to a meeting on Czech territory near the Soviet border. Upon the outcome of this conference depends whether the Soviet Union will intervene militarily to force the present government to come to terms or will establish a new regime that will adhere to the kind of Communism which the Soviets apply throughout the areas they control. Moscow is being supported by Poland, East Germany and Bulgaria—over which it maintains an iron hand—and to a lesser extent by Hungary, which is still occupied by Soviet troops.

The Kremlin leaders are demanding of Czech officials that they turn back toward the Soviet kind of Communism—including a resumption of press censorship and the suppression of all non-Communist political activities. Even more, the Czechs are being coerced into maintaining their alliance with the Communist bloc nations and are being warned about getting too friendly with West Germany or other non-Communist countries. The threat of Soviet military intervention is constant.

The crisis is bound to affect the future of the satellite states in Eastern Europe. Yugoslavia under Tito long ago broke away from Soviet domination, but does have friendly relations with Moscow. Rumania, too, has in recent years asserted more and more independence.

It is understandable that the American government would, for diplomatic reasons, choose to be silent. Washington has kept a hands-off policy in the Czechoslovakia controversy because of a belief that nothing should be done that would give Moscow a chance to blame Western governments for what is happening in Czechoslovakia.

When the United States goes to the assistance of a country which is trying to determine its own form of government—such as South Vietnam—"liberals" denounce this as "aggression." Yet they remain silent as the Soviets seek to deny even to "liberal" Communists the right to set up their own system of government within Czechoslovakia. The mobilization of Soviet military forces is plainly a threat of aggression against Czechoslovakia, but none of the Communist parties—in France, Italy or this country—is willing to recognize it.

Certainly there is nothing to prevent private organizations and some of the articulate professors and scholars in America and Western Europe from condemning publicly in most vehement terms the Soviet intervention in the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia. But silence seems to be the rule.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The tragedy of the decade is the decline and fall of the British Empire. It was more powerful than Rome. The English were peculiarly gifted in the administration of colonies. In recent years, both empire and Winston Churchill have gone, while the pound sterling has skidded.

Queen Victoria, in pale granite, sits regally before Buckingham Palace. Her Imperial Majesty would not approve. The story of the triumph of this doughty little woman gathering commonwealths and colonies from the floor of the world and sweeping them into her dustpan. She and her ministers infused them with the iron of the mother country.

The sun sets on the Union Jack. The empire builders are no more. Victoria, Disraeli, Kitchener, Nelson. The preservers of the empire have left the scene. Haig, Jellicoe, Churchill, Montgomery, Wavell, Cunningham, Grey, Lloyd George. What is left is a population of 55,000,000 in the United Kingdom and a tradition of valiant fighting men who often lost battles but never forgot how to die.

I take a train out of Charing Cross and the billowing green of the midlands waves in groundswells. Reading and Oxford are as they always were. In Blackpool, ruddy faces radiate excitement at the beach, the side shows. Southampton seems broad and empty without one of the Queens coming up sedately at four knots with the tiered tugs snapping at the flanks. Queen Mary has been sold to the Americans and Queen Elizabeth is heading to a similar fate.

So has London Bridge, which will be taken down girder by girder and stone by stone. You can sit on a stony hill above Scapa Flow and dream of great vessels of war like Royal Oak and Renown and George V and Ark Royal and Exeter, but the fleet anchorage is almost empty.

Two weeks ago the government announced that more aircraft carriers and cruisers are consigned to the shipbreaker, John Brown at Clydebank.

Lord Nelson stands atop a tall column in Trafalgar Square ignoring pigeons. We walk the Strand at night and the pretty girls with the antique eyes stand in the shadows, waiting. There are pubs for young men who hold hands and giggle.

Does anyone remember Beatty leading those battle cruisers in a dash to head Hipper off at Jutland? The names mean nothing? How about Cunningham in the Mediterranean stalking the Italians until he drew them out of Taranto and massacred the fastest destroyers ever built?

Would you take my word for it that smooth-skinned boys at Ypres 50 years ago wrote their names in red blood on black soil? They were beaten at Dieppe and Dunkerque and went home to regroup and come back to the Continent to win. They helped to save France and give her back her honor, but France said that England wasn't worthy to be a member of the Common Market.

No one in England asks pity. These are the days of dusk. I listened to a doctor in the National Health Service tell me how many prescriptions he writes for heroin. Drug addiction is legal in England. The chemist will give a junkie a fix for a few shillings.

The young migrate to Canada and Australia. The dark skins pour in from Kenya and the newspapers have ads which read: "No Coloured need apply." The pound sterling, once worth $5, limps on economic crutches. The government no longer commands; it entreats. Rhodesia secedes, and the British lion totters to his feet for a final roar.

The nation is taxed beyond endurance, but the little gardens are as neat as ever. After supper, millions of Britons are out front, raking and mulching and exchanging polite lies with neighbors. Once there were colonies great and small, mandates and protectorates: India, Malaya, Kenya, Egypt, Palestine, Burma and—tiny Malta has become an independent nation of the Commonwealth.

There is still the peerage, of course. The people hang onto their traditions as a frightened child holds onto a security blanket. The institution which commands universal respect is the royal family. The people who stand around the tall black fence at Buckingham are not Americans. The majority are Englishmen. They are willing to wait for hours for a glimpse of the Queen, and the opportunity to doff their bowlers to her.

At night, the people lounge in pubs or play darts. Or sit at home watching the "telly." They cannot hear the empire falling about them. They do not even see the billowing dust...

Drew Pearson Says FBI Reports Underground Black Nationalist Movement

WASHINGTON — An alarming confidential report has been prepared by the FBI on the underground black nationalist movement in the United States.

It may explain the sudden outbreak of violence in Cleveland, a city under a Negro mayor, Carl Stokes, which has been making great progress toward racial understanding but where a handful of black nationalists began shooting police last week merely because they were towing away a parked car.

It definitely explains some of the extremist moves by negroes in Washington.

Finally it gives a key to the tremendous upsurge in the popularity of George Wallace of Alabama, who represents a latent American fascism whose answer to Negro violence is White violence.

What the FBI has found in Washington is that the black militants have worked out a secret plan to take over the nation's capital. The militants argue that Negroes are now in the majority and that given home rule they can take over the city.

At present Washington is governed by a Negro mayor, Walter Washington, an able executive who is supported by a city council, half Negro, half White. Mayor Washington, however, is considered much too moderate by the black militants. They have worked out the following secret strategy to take over the capital, neighborhood by neighborhood.

Secret Strategy

First they will try to persuade the moderates to become militant, and if they fail, then bury them with frustration and harassment. When the moderates hold meetings, the strategy is to break up the meetings or be so unreasonable that the moderates will have to disassociate themselves from the meetings.

This was the explanation of the recent meeting in the African Methodist Episcopal Church to discuss neighborhood control of police where the black militants demanded that all whites leave. The whites present had been strong supporters of Negro progress. When they left, moderate Negroes walked out with them in protest.

By PHILIP MEYER

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, July 27 — The Republicans have chosen one of their most attractive new faces for the important job of arousing the enthusiasm of the delegates and setting the tone for their National Convention.

Daniel Jackson Evans, Governor of Washington, is the temporary convention chairman, whose job is to make the keynote speech. This is the speech which inveighs against the Democrats, recites Republican achievements and brings forth the memory of great leaders of the past. It presents the party as it would most like to be seen by the rest of the nation.

For this image-making chore, 43-year-old Evans is well suited. Besides having mastered the art of looking and sounding good on television, he represents the new breed of problem-solving Republican officeholders.

One of the characteristics of this group is that they are not ideologists. In Washington this has meant a continuing fight between Evans and right-wing Republicans.

"The people these days are problem-oriented, not philosophy oriented," he said in 1966, the year he was elected Governor.

If they have any philosophy, it is probably pragmatism. And if they have any crystal-clear goal, it would be to solve the problems of society and the economy and of government, in a logical, factual manner.

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) U.S. officials have decided, for now at any rate, that absolute silence will pay off in Czechoslovakia.

Unless plans change, Washington will not follow Britain's lead in publicly protesting Moscow's Czech imperialism.

Nor will the U.S. ambassador bring up the Czech matter at the United Nations.

This strategy of silence depends on Communist impatient blunders. It worked in Indonesia at the time of the aborted Red coup there. U.S. strategists believe it will work in Prague. They think the Soviet Union has walked into a trap from which it will be difficult or impossible to escape, no matter what course Moscow follows.

The "obey-Russia" faction within Czechoslovakia is discredited because of arrogant Stokely Carmichael sat quietly in a back row of the meeting. He had been one of the chief architects of the new secret strategy. Another was Chuck Stone, former assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. Both militant and moderate Negroes are burnt up over the double standard of ethical conduct in Congress, whereby Powell, a Negro, was expelled, and Rep. Mendell Rivers of South Carolina, who has had inexcusable bouts with alcohol and has used government airplanes almost at will, remains a power in the white establishment.

This has caused far more resentment in the black world than congressional leaders realize and appears to moderate to be a legitimate case against Congress.

Stokely Lies Low

Carmichael, who helped devise the secret strategy to take over Washington, neighborhood by neighborhood, has been laying low following his subversive statements in foreign countries. He has been careful not to say anything publicly which would cause his arrest.

His operations, however, have been very carefully followed by the Justice Department, including some of his talks with the late Dr. Martin Luther King who finally persuaded Carmichael to stay out of the poor people's march.

Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, also anti-Communist, seems more susceptible to Carmichael's persuasion than King. Shortly before the start of the poor people's march, he told the New York Times: "I love Stokely. He's a wonderful guy. I may disagree with individuals like him on strategy, but not on goals. All I know is that we will remain nonviolent."

Carmichael's real goal, however, is the overthrow of the United States government. He spelled this out last Aug. 18 in Hanoi at an Afro-American rally attended largely by North Vietnamese. "We are not reformists," he said. "We do not seek to reform. We do not wish to be part of the U.S. government, of its system. We are revolutionaries. We seek to change the imperialist system of the United States. We will be satisfied with nothing less. "We are comrades," he told the North Vietnamese, "because we seek to redeem humanity, because we seek to stop the greatest destroyer of humanity—the United States. When we succeed, and we will succeed, our blood, our lives would have been a little price to pay."

Probably Carmichael did not know that his words were picked up by powerful U.S. monitors. What he does know, however, is that his words in Hanoi cannot be used to prosecute him in the United States because the Justice Department can get no witnesses from Communist countries.

Back in the United States, Stokely is being very careful not to repeat these remarks. However, he has been very active in promoting quiet moves by which the black militants will gradually take over Washington.

Larry O'Brien

Larry O'Brien, former campaign manager for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, will become the campaign manager for Vice President Hubert Humphrey, thereby linking together the Kennedy and Humphrey forces.

An announcement of the O'Brien appointment is expected this week.

O'Brien was one of the early Massachusetts workers for the late John F. Kennedy and later became a member of the White House staff, sometimes called the "Irish mafia."

He remained on under President Johnson and was promoted by Johnson to be Postmaster General. Though relations between the President and members of the old Kennedy entourage were not cordial, O'Brien was a notable exception.

O'Brien acceptance of campaign manager for Bobby Kennedy was considered something of a coup d'état for the Kennedy forces. However, it was known that O'Brien left the cabinet on good terms with Vice President Humphrey. They had two intimate talks before O'Brien made the final decision.

His return to Humphrey to pilot his campaign will be taken as an indication of Kennedy-Humphrey unity.

Gov. Evans Is Well Suited As GOP Keynote Speaker

This get-things-done approach may stem from his professional background as a civil engineer. Evans worked in structural design for the city of Seattle and then became assistant manager of the Mountain-Pacific Chapter of Associated General Contractors before he entered government through the state legislative route in 1956.

He rose to House Republican floor leader and then, in 1963, began a year-long campaign for the governorship. A survey showed that he started in last place among a field of six. But he won the 1964 primary by beating a conservative by more than 100,000 votes.

In the general election, Evans bucked the Anti-Goldwater tide—he gave Barry Goldwater perfunctory endorsement and then ignored him—and whipped the incumbent Democratic governor by nearly 150,000 votes.

The incumbent, Albert D. Rosellini, had served two four-year terms and was bucking a no-third-term tradition in the State. But Evans' youth, energy and straightforward approach also got some of the credit.

His fight with the party's right wing began almost immediately. In the fall of 1965, Evans helped push a resolution denouncing the John Birch Society through the Republican State Committee. In the 1966 primary elections, he campaigned against the right-wingers and thinned their ranks in state and party posts.

Counting on Soviet Blunders

cronism, corruption and inefficiency.

This "Russian" group has, over a period of years, built up the distrust of major segments of Czech society—industrialists, farmers, students and labor.

The Soviet military has alienated the Czech army and air force. Moscow's bureaucracy has antagonized younger, efficient sections of the Czech bureaucracy.

All this gives the Russians very little room for maneuver.

Moscow and the U.S. State Department know the current Czech action is more than a move for a little more flexibility within the Communist system. (But the Czechs are expected to remain Communist and Russian allies.)

Whatever they may say, the Czechs are driving for a radical shift in their position in the Warsaw Pact. They want a treaty aimed more at the protection of Czechoslovakia rather than one tailored, as is the Warsaw Pact, solely to the interests of the Soviet Union.

The Czechs also aim for a more independent economic policy. Again, their purpose is to eliminate those Russo-Czech economic business arrangements which bleed Czechoslovakia to Russia's benefit.

Czechs, including the present leadership, are fed up with Moscow's foreign adventures. They are not happy, for one, over the aid they have been required to give Egypt and other Arab countries in the current Soviet-sponsored Middle East crisis.

Present thinking among U.S. policy makers is that anything this country might do in the Czech-Russian confrontation would help get Moscow off its limb. It could turn the affair from what it is, a Soviet bullying of Czechoslovakia, into a Moscow-Washington fight.

Pre-Convention Trial Heats

Nixon Has Overtaken Humphrey, McCarthy

PRINCETON, N.J., July 30 — Richard Nixon has overtaken both Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy in pre-convention test election races just completed. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Nixon's chief rival for the Republican nomination, runs about even against both Democrats.

The latest findings represent an improvement for Nixon from an early July survey, when the former Vice President ran 5 percentage points behind Humphrey and 3 points behind McCarthy. Nixon has now pulled ahead of Humphrey by 2 points and McCarthy by 5.

Rockefeller's standing has changed little over the past 3 weeks. In the earlier survey he tied Humphrey, as he does today. The New York Governor is virtually even with McCarthy today. In the earlier test, he ran two points behind the Minnesota Senator. Nixon's gains against both Humphrey and McCarthy in the first three weeks of July have come about primarily in the East and Far West. Nixon has also made gains among young adults, Democrats, independents and among registered voters in the lower socio-economic levels.

Wallace Support Holding Steady

Support for third party candidate George Wallace has remained constant over these three weeks, after a period of steady growth. Against Nixon and Humphrey and against Nixon and McCarthy, Wallace draws 16 per cent of the national vote. In races against Rockefeller, he wins a somewhat greater share of the vote.

The survey question: "Suppose the presidential election were being held TODAY. If Richard Nixon (Nelson Rockefeller) were the Republican candidate and Eugene McCarthy (Hubert Humphrey) were the Democratic candidate, and George Wallace of Alabama were the candidate of a third party, which would you like to see win?"

Here are the results of each of the latest trial heats and the trend. Interviewing dates are given in the column to the left.

THE LAST AMERICAN

by Don Oakley and John Lane

Marcus Garvey—
black is beautiful.

19 Harlem Renaissance

Yet I do marvel at this curious thing,
To make a poet black and bid him sing!
—Countee Cullen

Harlem was the fountainhead of a new Negro artistic vitality that seemed to explode in the 1920s. Writers and composers of first-rank talent poured forth books, poems, plays, music in such a burst of creativity that it was called the 'Harlem Renaissance.' More accurately, it was a Negro renaissance, for its influence inspired talented Negroes in other cities.

In literature, there were James Weldon Johnson, Claude McKay, Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen, Jean Toomer.

In music, songwriters like Aubrey Lyles, Eubie Blake, Noble Sissle, Irving Miller

Thomas "Fats" Waller, Duke Ellington.

Performers: Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Josephine Baker, Florence Mills, Ethel Waters, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, Paul Robeson, Richard B. Harrison.

The Negro was in vogue. White society flocked to Harlem's nightclubs and theaters and celebrity salons, such as those held by Negro heiress A'Lelia Walker. Others, like Carl Van Vechten and H. L. Mencken, came to observe and write about the problem of being a Negro in America. White artists, like Eugene O'Neill ("All God's Chillun Got Wings") and Marc Connelly ("Green Pastures"), took up Negro themes.

Another phenomenon of the '20s was called Marcus Garvey, a Jamaican immigrant who founded the first Negro mass movement. Black was best, he preached, and "whiteballed" undesirable members in his universal Negro Improvement Association.

Garvey was the original black nationalist and urged a Back-to-Africa movement. Proclaiming himself "Provisional President of Africa," he created a colorful court of Dukes and Duchesses and Knights of the Nile. Most of his followers, however, were swayed more by his championship of Negroism than by any desire to go "back" to Africa.

Garvey was opposed by the more conservative Negro leaders and was eventually convicted of mail fraud arising out of his many enterprises. He was deported in 1927.

The black "renaissance" continued on into the 1930s, '40s and '50s and continues today. But something else happened in the fabulous 1920s that left a mark on the nation's soul—the stock market crash, from whose effects the last-hired, first-fired Negro was to suffer more than any other American.

Relief Operation for Biafra

By BRUCE OUDES.

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service NIA MEY, Niger. — Nigerian officials have disclosed a dramatic plan to bring relief supplies to starving Biafran civilians immediately, despite the failure of the two sides during talks here to agree on a "Mercy Corridor" plan.

It would be a unilateral step by the Nigerians to show their good faith toward suffering Ibo civilians and to try to convince them that Federal Nigeria is not out to commit genocide as Biafran propaganda has charged from the outset of the war.

The political ramifications of the plan are considerable. It would be a clear attempt to plant seeds of doubt in the minds of the Biafran civilians about the wisdom of Lt. Col. Oluwegwu Ojukwu's decision to continue the secession in the face of military defeat and mass death and starvation.

The deceptively simple plan would involve trucking massive amounts of relief supplies overland to the front under the supervision of International Relief Agencies — the Red Cross and others. They would be stockpiled at a predetermined point and Federal Nigerian troops would withdraw leaving the supplies behind.

International relief workers on the Biafran side would accompany the advancing rebel forces and would then supervise distribution of the food and medicine to see that as much of it as possible goes to civilians most in need.

The fact that the supplies would be under International relief agency supervision all the while they are passing through Nigerian territory would be used to answer Biafran government propaganda charges that the food would be poisoned.

The plan has not been announced officially, but one senior Nigerian delegate said after the preliminary talks closed here Friday that he thought a massive relief operation for Biafra might be in operation before the start of the new round of talks in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Aug. 5.

Although the Nigerian delegates would say nothing directly that might damage the fragile "spirit of Niamey" that is now providing a dialog between the two sides through the organization of African unity, the Nigerians gave the strong impression that they consider Biafra's playing for political advantage with the lives of its civilians.

"This would clearly put the ball in their court on a take-it-or-leave-it basis" one reliable source said. "If they still reject the food, the Ojukwu's reservoir of world sympathy would drain fast."

The plan would be a victory for the doves in the Nigerian government who see its humanitarian and psychological advantages.

The Princess and Her Phone

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The telephone company says that in every working day about 84,000 residents of Washington lift the receiver and dial the wrong number. This generates irritation and anger. People scream at one another. There is excessive profanity, headaches, challenges to duels, upset stomachs and apoplexy.

There is a small and serene minority which remains calm and I am a member of it. For most of my wrong-number rings come from the same person, and I refer to her as The Princess because I am sure that is the type of telephone she uses. About three times a week — once it happened twice in the same day — my phone rings and a breathless, teen-age, female voice comes over the wire. Our dialogue never varies:

The Princess: "May I speak to Sharon please."

Me: "I'm afraid you have the wrong number."

The Princess: "Oh!" (A long reflective pause during which she doubtless is pondering the irritations of this age of automation) "I'm sorry, I truly am."

Click.

It is possible that deep inside the wire jungle of the telephone company there is a wayward bolt, nut or screw that diverts The Princess' calls to me? Impossible, says the phone company. Psychologists say it is a human failure and the principal reasons for wrong numbers are a state of acute depression, intoxication, or an exhilarating condition of excitement.

Has News

Is The Princess depressed? Never. Is she intoxicated? Cast no such slur on her fair name. Is she excited? Ah, now we are approaching the heart of the matter. The Princess has momentous news which she wants to communicate immediately to Sharon. So her voice becomes breathless, her hands tremble and instead of getting Sharon she gets — alas, me.

Every girl spends seven years as a teen-ager, so as the father of two daughters I am a veteran of 14 years service. I can tell you with great certainty about the calls between The Princess and Sharon.

The Princess gets herself in a reclining position with her feet higher than her head. She dials what she believes to be Sharon's number and then tucks the telephone under the left part of her chin and supports it with her shoulder. This is essential because both hands must be free to cope with the bottle of cola on her left and the tuna fish sandwich on her right.

On the occasions when the Princess gets Sharon instead of me she plunges immediately into a discussion of momentous matters: A new record by the Jefferson Airplane. Groovy. There is a rumor the curfew on the class dance may be extended from midnight to 12:30 a.m. Has Sharon seen the new movie magazine with the cool pictures of Ann-Margret and Wayne Newton? What's the decision about cutting Sharon's hair? Mom refused to allow The Princess to lift the hemline on the new dress more than two inches above the knee. Square. What did Johnny Shaw say to Sharon when he waked out of geometry class with her yesterday?

Talk, Talk, Talk

The elapsed time for the conversation can be anywhere from an hour to two hours and a half.

And what of Sharon? Lovely name Sharon. It comes like the velvet chime of a twilight bell straight out of the soaring poetry of the Songs of Solomon: "I am the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valleys . . . For, lo, the winter is past; the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come."

Does Sharon ever phone The Princess or is it strictly a one-way communications setup. Horrible thought: Is Sharon under some stern parental discipline which limits or eliminates her outgoing calls?

Questions without answers have plagued me ever since The Princess and Sharon came into my life. Sometimes I dream that I have a rendezvous with them at a soda fountain where I pick up the tab for an unlimited number of banana splits no matter how prohibitive the cost. I hope the dream comes true because I want to assure The Princess and Sharon that their calls are no bother to me.

Giant Dallas Skyscraper Stands Taller at Night

DALLAS (UPI)—During daylight, the concrete and glass LTV Tower in downtown Dallas is much like other skyscrapers.

But when night falls, the building abruptly becomes noticeable to Dallasites all over the city. It can tell Dallas where to go—or who is in town—or what civic fund is currently collecting money.

Big letters of light, 65 feet tall, proclaim the building's message to the world.

DeWitt Fair, building manager, said the letters are formed by 40-watt fluorescent lights four feet long at the top of each window between the curtains and the window glass.

Fair said the building's signpost operates entirely upon request although it avoids commercial, religious and political messages.

Bias Allowed

But no one says the building or perhaps the people who decide what will go on its sides in lights have to be unbiased.

So, when Dallas Bryn Adams High School was in the state football finals, the building proclaimed:

"GO BA." For United Fund, it was "Give UF." For the Texas State Fair, which is dominated by a giant "Big Tex," the message was an outline of Big Tex.

Although the messages on the sides of the building are simple by necessity because of space limitations, there is nothing very simple about how they get there.

Fair described the process:

"We generally ask the person making the request, 'How would you like to present it?' or 'What would you like to say?'"

Then the desired message must be translated into something that will physically fit on the side of the building. That is sometimes difficult when working with letters that must be a minimum of five stories tall.

Use Model

"I have a template that I devised which is an 8-by-11 piece of paper with the windows shown on it," Fair said. There are 750 lights of each side.

He draws the design on the template, notes the floor and window numbers needed to complete the design and heads for the master console on the 33rd floor to turn them on.

"The cost is less than minimal," Fair said. The system was expensive to install, but the upkeep and power costs are low. He estimated the maintenance cost was between $5 and $10 per night.

The lights draw little power and seldom, if ever, are all 1,500 turned on at once, Fair said.

"This time of the year, my requests are not as heavy," he said. "Starting about Labor Day until about Memorial Day, I suppose we have something in the neighborhood of 200 to 250 requests."

New Type Defense For GIs in Korea

WITH U.S. 7TH DIVISION, Korea (AP) — Soldiers of the U.S. 7th Division are carrying out with picks, shovels, airhammers and bulldozers a new concept of defense against a repeat of the 1950 Communist invasion of South Korea.

Until fairly recently, most faith in defense against another invasion was placed on a series of fortifications strung along the 151-mile-wide Korean demilitarized zone, massive U.S. aerial retaliation and the hoped-for ability of the Korean army and the U.S. 2nd and 7th divisions to contain the Communists along the Imjin River near the DMZ.

No one has ever officially admitted it, but if North Koreans cracked the defensive line and came streaming down the 20-mile-wide corridor that is the classic invasion route to the South, the allies would probably have to fall back and dig in on the south bank of the Han River.

As one military observer understated it: "This is not particularly appealing to the Koreans as Seoul is on the north bank."

A good portion of the capital's four million citizens remember 1950 when the Communists overran the "Special City" as they call it and came close to conquering all South Korea.

MD Benefit

Sunrise Avenue neighborhood children flock to backyard carnival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Iannotti. The event which featured a variety of entertainment was for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy. Marie Iannotti was ringmaster, assisted by John Iannotti, Linda Turco, Karen and Ricky Lowe, Debbie, Diane and Benny Gulnick, Kurt and Kevin Glaser, David Lown, Mike Augustine, Gerard Perry and Gene Felice. Among the features at the neighborhood benefit were dart game, What's Your Number, tin target, spoon walk, book stall and Canadian Woodsmen. A mariette show was the highlight of the afternoon. Homemade refreshments were served and it was reported a social and financial success. All proceeds of the carnival which was arranged by the children for a second performance, will go to the Muscular Dystrophy association for research and treatment of the disease. Need 1,246 Signatures On School Budget Petition

A petition is being circulated throughout the Ontario Central School District which, when completed, will be submitted to the Board of Education requesting that a school budget be resubmitted to the voters of the district.

The request is for a budget containing additional appropriations sufficient to provide the services included in the budget dated June 3, 1968. This takes into consideration that some items cut from the budget when the contingency budget was invoked, such as the football program and the yearbook, cannot be reinstated, and certain supplies will have gone up in cost by the time they can be ordered under a new budget.

According to law 1,246 signatures are needed on the petition.

Representative members of the Ontario Citizens Committee in the various areas of the district, who may be contacted by all who have not yet signed the petition, include: Pauline Schlosser, Phoenixia; Jane Ross, Big Indian, Oliveria; Rose Sheehan and Marian Umhey, Mt. Tremper; Mrs. Donald Lattioff, Boiceville; Robert A. Dornon, Ashokan; Vivian Moscowitz, Eugene Marynowski, Mrs. Paul Williams and Mrs. Jules Viglielmo, of Woodstock; Gerald Kreissberg, Len Waters, and Mrs. Gifford Morey, of Maverick Park; Mrs. George Dahlgren of Hurley Ridge; Robert Nussbaum and Hope Duffy of West Hurley; Mrs. Peter Weider, and Mrs. William Fisher of Glenford; and Mrs. John Metzger of Morgan Hill Road.

Many other members of the committee also have petitions. It is not necessary to sign in your own residential area.

A meeting of the Ontario Citizens Committee is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 8 p.m. at the Overlook Methodist Church on the Bearsville Road in Woodstock. It is hoped that all petitions can be reviewed at that time.

One-Act Plays In Final Week

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be the last performances at the Little Theater on Tinker Street, of Performing Arts of Woodstock's double bill of "Charles, the Child Beautiful," by Danny Klein, and "The Beholder," by Kit Jones, directed by Robert Burgos.

An outrageously funny film of "Charles" played by Ralph Santinelli, his mother, by Pearl Blackman, and father by Larry Shufelt, shows the family out for a joyous picnic beside a lake when Charles was a baby.

The film, photographed by Mike Sullivan, and directed by Robert Burgos, was shot on location at Group 212.

The film is a prologue to the play, "Charles." In the play we meet Charles as a young man, but to his adoring mother, still a baby. However, father comes home just in time to deal with a critical moment in the family unity.

In the second play, "The Beholder," a lonely girl, beautifully portrayed by Isabelle Laikala, attempts, through self-hypnosis and the belief in ESP, to will her ideal imaginary man to come to her. A bitter, despairing man, hauntingly played by Dean Schambach, knocks on her door one evening.

The Little Theater adjoins the Woodstock Guild of Craftsman, just off the Village Green. Curtain is at 8:30.

Minister Returns

The Rev. James W. Cook has returned with his family from a vacation in Maine and Virginia and will conduct the worship service at the Overlook Methodist Church at 10 a.m. on Aug. 4. The guest soloists will be Dr. and Mrs. Harold Snyder, a.m.

Airpaks Use Demonstrated For Firemen

An explanation of the workings of the Scott Airpak was given members of the Woodstock Fire Department, meeting in quarterly session at the Zena firehouse Monday evening.

William Nichols of Hyde Park presented the demonstration of the breathing device, pointed out the latest features including a warning bell which rings when the supply of air is almost exhausted, and cautioned the firemen against over-confidence when wearing the device.

Scott Airpaks are now standard equipment of the four Woodstock companies.

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson's report to the department listed 52 fire calls for the year to date, an increase over the last two years. He also spoke concerning the use of fire equipment in riots, stating that the apparatus was not to be used in riot disorders except to respond to a fire and that in case of attack upon firemen, the men and equipment were to return to stations.

The matter of special jackets for members of the Woodstock Fire Department was discussed, with a committee appointed to determine costs and the four companies to consider the matter at their individual meetings. The possibility of a fire school on "Small Company Operations" was approved, with the chief to determine if this school would be available from the state authorities during the fall season.

A committee is scheduled for selection from each company for the purpose of proposing a slate of top line officers for the department. It will report at the next quarterly meeting to be held in Woodstock village on Oct. 28.

Love

"Love" will be the subject of the lesson sermon to be given Sunday at the First Church, Christ Scientist, Woodstock. Services will be held at 11 a.m.

Christ Church Fair, Cafeteria

Christ Lutheran Church Fair and cafeteria will take place Thursday beginning at noon in Woodstock.

Features of the fair will be booths with such items as aprons, woven rugs, Christmas ornaments, scarf hats, pillows, food, plants, furniture, dishes and toys.

Hot dogs and drinks will be on sale throughout the afternoon.

The cafeteria will start at 5 p.m. with a menu consisting of ham, turkey, meat loaf, salads, beans rolls, desserts and beverages.

Take out orders will be available if containers are supplied.

Elder Trindle Preaching at Dutch Church

The morning worship at Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, Sunday, Aug. 4, 11 a.m. will be conducted by Elder Joseph W. Trindle.

Born to a missionary family in China, he received his education on the West Coast earning three degrees in engineering, physics and a bachelor of divinity degree from Fuller Seminary.

Prior to coming to Woodstock he served in the mission field for ten years in Morocco as an associate of his wife, Dr. Margaret Trindle, pediatrician, and doing Mission Evangelism there. He served as a consulting engineer, and as a teacher in Ulster County Community College, a Bible Teacher in the Woodstock Church, an Elder, and a supply preacher at Woodstock and in numerous churches of the area. This Sunday he will occupy his home church pulpit in the church where he helped to spark the present building enterprise as a leader in the canvass team.

Dutch Church Fair, Food Sale Aug. 17

The Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church fair and food sale, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Monroe Longendyke, will be held on the church grounds on Saturday, Aug. 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Among the articles to be featured on the new table this year will be note paper, hand-painted by a local artist.

Other table displays will include books, china, glass, attic antiques, jewelry, plants and flowers, hats, pocketbooks, sweaters, blouses, art items and frames, baked goods, food, beverages and a fish pond for the kiddies.

Portrait sketches will be done throughout the day by Mrs. Maxine Wingate.

Home style lunches will be available during the day.

Hadassah Party

The Woodstock Group of Hadassah will hold its annual card and game party and sale, Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 2 p.m. on the lawn of Mrs. S. B. Newman, 16 Millstream Road in Woodstock.

For further information contact Mrs. J. J. Miller.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Mrs. Orlando, Jaycee of The Month

Mrs. Frank Oriando was awarded the Jaycee of the Month certificate for her chairmanship of the July project held at the home of Mrs. Ralph C. Aldres.

Mrs. Ernest Braun attended the meeting as a guest and Mrs. James Priest was welcomed into membership.

The proposed budget was voted upon and passed insuring new projects to aid in helping the community.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 27 at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Edna Morrison, beauty counselor, speaking on the subject of skin care.

Any Jaycee wife interested in attending is asked to contact Jeanette Orlando for information.

Church Fair

The annual fair and roast beef dinner at the Blue Mountain Reformed Church will be Wednesday, Aug. 7.

The fair begins at 2 p.m. with dinner being served at 5, 6 and 7 p.m.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Floyd W. Myer.

Picnic, Swim, Trip to Cavern

The summer camp program of the Reformed Church of Saugerties will sponsor a picnic-swim to the James Baird State Park, Tuesday, Aug. 6. Cars will leave the church at 9:30 a.m. and will return by 4 p.m.

Thursday, Aug. 8, there will be a trip to the Secret Caverns near Cobleskill. The group will leave at 9:30 a.m. and return by 3:30 p.m.

Applications are being accepted for the Day Nursery School, which will begin its third year this September.

Dartball League Annual Meeting

The annual meeting and election of officers of Saugerties Dartball League will be held Monday, Aug. 5 at 8 p.m. in Centerville Methodist Church Hall, Route 212.

All teams that wish to renew their franchise to play in the fall and new teams that would like to secure a franchise should be represented and prepared to pay the annual dues.

Planning of the schedule, rule revisions and election of officers will be the main order of business, according to vice president Virgil Finger.

New OEO Leader in New York

Jack M. Sable, a former resident of Kingston and present Director of the New York State Office of Economic Opportunity, has been elected chairman of the State Economic Opportunity Office Directors Association at the annual National Conference of the group held in Washington recently.

Sable was appointed Director of the State Office of Economic Opportunity by Governor Rockefeller in 1967. In April of this year, the Governor appointed him Chairman of the Inter-departmental Committee on Migration Labor.

The Directors Association of the State Economic Opportunity Office was established under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. The major functions of the Association are to mobilize and coordinate the efforts of the state units in furthering economic opportunity; providing technical assistance to communities in developing; and conducting and administering community action programs.

Sable was born in Kingston and attended Yeshiva University where he received his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees. He served in the U. S. Air Force during the Korean conflict, and is a major in the Air Force Reserve. He lives with his wife and family in the Bronx.

OK $1,521,138

For Catskill's Sewage Works

Governor Rockefeller announced today approval of a $1,521,138 Pure Water construction grant application by the Village of Catskill for sewage treatment works that will abate pollution of the Hudson River. Pure Water program grants are provided under the direction of the State Department of Health.

"This project," Governor Rockefeller said, "will consist of sewage treatment facilities, pump stations and interceptor sewers to service the Village of Catskill. The plant is designed for a population of 7,000 by the year 1977. At the present time, untreated sewage is being discharged into Catskill Creek, a tributary of the Hudson River."

The estimated total eligible cost of this project is $2,578,200. The State grant represents 59 per cent of the eligible cost. This includes the 30 per cent State grant and an additional $747,678 which represents State prefinancing all but one per cent of the Federal share of 30 per cent. Because of inadequate Congressional appropriations for water pollution control, the Federal grant will be only $2,772.

An application for the Federal grant is being forwarded to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

Design engineer is Robert J. Ganley of Albany.

Youth Center Discussion at Marblatown

"It's about time we did something for the teenagers of Marblatown. There's nothing for them to do here, nothing to hold them, and as soon as they're old enough, they leave."

That's how one member of a group calling itself the Citizens of Marblatown put it when he spoke of the need for a local youth center. "Now we're at least going to try to do something about the lack."

In order to find out the community's feelings, according to Sidney Reiss, organizer of the group, an open meeting has been called for Friday, Aug. 2 at 7:30 p. m. It will be held in the library of the Village of Marblatown.

Both parents and teenagers are urged to attend.

"We're thinking now of a central clubhouse or nerve center with a number of specific activity branches in various communities," says Reiss. "These might range through anything from a skating rink to a canoe-club shop. We will figure out just where we're going to call this meeting on Friday."

Datebook of Queen Elizabeth Very Complete

By MARGARET SAVILLE

LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth's datebook reads like no one else's anywhere.

Buckingham Palace statistics show she can expect in an average year to attend about 70 functions in different parts of Britain and make one overseas trip.

She gives nearly 300 royal audiences, including a once weekly session with the prime minister whenever parliament is in session. Foreign ambassadors, government ministers, armed service chiefs, bishops and principals of charitable organizations account for most of the rest.

In any one year she is apt to hold 16 meetings of the Privy Council, through which she exercises many of her powers and obtains advice.

At the palace she holds an average of 13 investitures to award accolades to new knights and other recipients of honors. At each of them she stands for more than two hours.

Again at the palace she holds formal lunch and dinner parties, and also entertains royal visitors at tea or cocktails.

On 11 occasions she will sit in one of the state rooms to pose for a photographer, an artist painting her portrait or a sculptor modeling her head.

She goes to nine movie

In addition, Elizabeth has to deal with official and private correspondence daily and read and approve numerous state papers. She spends at least two hours at her desk, seven days a week.

Sometimes she economizes on her precious time by studying documents under the dryer as she gets her weekly hair do and manicure in her palace dressing room. She has twice-monthly dress fittings for new clothes. Before an overseas tour, she usually devotes two entire days to wardrobe fittings.

Most mornings at the palace, the queen sees her housekeeper and her steward—he would be called the butler anywhere else—to deal with domestic matters and staff problems.

ROYAL LEO — When the British lion roars these days, even if he does so less frequently and less loudly than in days of yore, at least five members of the present royal family can claim, "He roars for me." The eldest of the royal Leos is the Queen Mother Elizabeth who celebrates her 68th birthday August 4. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Texas Coffee House Relaxation for GIs

By LEE JONES

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Malcolm K., Sophia Loren, Marilyn Monroe, and Albert Einstein looked down from bigger than life photoposters as a young GI in fatigues put a Peter, Paul and Mary record on the turntable.

A few feet away from the stereo's blaring speaker two Ft. Hood GIs in civilian clothes played a war game—chess.

Overseeing the scene was Josh Gould, who runs the Oleo Strut, a coffee house near the end of Avenue D, a garish, Army town type of street, lined with pawn shops, pinball joints, military uniform shops and small loan companies. The Oleo Strut—the name belongs to a shock absorber on a helicopter's landing gear—is a project of the Summer of Support, an effort to put the "New Left" peace movement in personal touch with enlisted men in seven major Army posts. The coffee house opened a little more than a month ago.

One of Largest

Ft. Hood is one of the Army's largest posts, both in land areas and in number of troops—35,000 men in uniform.

It is about three miles west of Killeen. Many of its men are either bound for or just returning from Vietnam.

Two volunteers work with Gould in the Oleo Strut and say they pay their living expenses out of what the coffee house takes in.

One identified himself as Jay Lockard, 21, a Radcliffe College coed from New Jersey. She is tall, brown eyed with short black hair.

The other is a frail, blond youth, about 19, whose forelock keeps falling over his face. He is from New York. He doesn't want his name used.

Both came down just for the summer but now are thinking about staying on.

"There has been a problem of not many people in the peace movement understanding GIs. A lot even regard him as an enemy. But most of the guys in the Army see themselves as victims, not as enemies of peace," Jay said.

Gould, 23, says the purpose of the coffee house is to give soldiers a place where they can relax in the "with it" atmosphere many of them were used to before they came in the service.

No liquor is sold, and drugs are forbidden.

An ex-soldier three years in Special Services, from San Antonio, Gould claims no effort is made to convert soldiers to opposing the Vietnam war. During one weekday evening, none of the people who run the Oleo Strut was overheard starting a conversation about the war.

Yellow Walls

The walls of the Oleo Strut are light yellow. It has about 20 tables with orange plastic cloths over them, and an odd assortment of chairs. Numerous posters—psychedelic, art nouveau, giant blow-ups of celebrity photos—cover the walls. From a bar up front coffee, cider, soft drinks, cheese cake, ice cream, pie and donuts are sold. A rack full of records sits next to the stereo turntable for customers to play. The discs lean heavily toward the new rock groups, folk singers and protest songs.

Lettuce, celery, cantaloupes, cotton and alfalfa are the chief crops of California's Imperial Valley.

We care

a pledge from the management of A&P

What we are about to say is not new. Matter of fact, it's over 100 years old.

A&P IS DEDICATED TO BRINGING THE MOST GOOD FOOD, TO THE MOST PEOPLE, FOR THE LEAST AMOUNT OF MONEY.

That is the basis on which our company has grown and prospered over the years.

We think it's important during this period of time to reiterate that pledge.

We want there to be no doubt in your mind about our policy with respect to food costs.

We want you to know we are concerned.

We want you to know we're doing our level best.

We want you to know that above all, "We Care... About You."

Wants Gun Control Laws As Tribute to Sen. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Passage of meaningful gun control laws was urged Tuesday as a memorial to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., spoke at a memorial session in the Senate where several members said that pursuit of Kennedy's goals would be the best way to remember him.

Kennedy was assassinated in Los Angeles eight weeks ago. While many senators paid tribute to him the day he died, it is a Senate tradition to hold a formal session for eulogies.

None of the Kennedy family was present. The late senator's brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, has not appeared on the floor since Robert Kennedy died June 6.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said in his speech that "people will remember Robert Francis Kennedy when there is an end of Vietnam."

And Mansfield said, "People will remember Robert Francis Kennedy when the children of this land play together and grow together and then work and live together in a new national unity forged of an equal decency and dignity for all."

Javits said Kennedy's chief concern was for the plight of those "who are oppressed rather than uplifted by the society of which we are all a part."

Javits said Kennedy "endured personal torture" at the sight of starving children in the south and "he literally shook with passionate indignation that this could happen here."

"The greatest memorial we can have," the New York senator said, would be to work toward Kennedy's goals of revamping the welfare laws, helping the poor work their way out of the slums, and enacting "meaningful gun control laws."

Kent Ends Visit

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — Landscape artist Rockwell Kent has ended a 10-day visit to Newfoundland, where he was exiled 53 years ago, and says he may return again.

Mrs. Kent, speaking for her 86-year-old husband, whose hearing has deteriorated because of a stroke, said Tuesday that "my husband found a house for rent."

Kent, who lives in Ausable Forks, N.Y., was invited to Newfoundland by Premier Joseph Smallwood after Smallwood read of Kent's deportation in 1915 as a suspected German spy.

Possible Arson

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Police say they are investigating the possibility of arson in three fires that have broken out recently at the Climate Control Division of the Singer Co.

Officials said Tuesday that an undetermined amount of damage has resulted from the fires, two July 24 and the third early Tuesday. There were no injuries reported in any of the fires.

21st Marine Ball Set for November

Commandant Raymond Ma-lecki of the Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, has announced that plans are being formulated for the 21st annual Marine ball to be held Nov. 9 at the Walnut Grove on Field Court.

The affair will feature a top grade floor show from New York City and dancing and the usual fun and frolic that takes place at each ball.

The ball also honors the birthday of the United States Marine Corps which organized 193 years ago at a meeting of a group of patriotic men held at Tun Tavern in Philadelphia. Their first assignment was aboard the ships of what then constituted the U. S. Navy and they primarily were snipers attaching themselves to the rigging to fire down enemy ships.

Since then the U. S. Marines have been an integral part of the history of this country, and the contributions made by the organization are recorded in the progress of the Republic.

Gilbert E. Gray is ball chairman. Joseph Sullivan is in charge of program journal; Frank Rafoldi will be ticket chairman. Other committee assignments will be forthcoming.

An annual feature of the Marine Ball is the announcement of the Ulster County Marine of the Year. Each year a man is chosen from the ranks of the Detachment who has proven by several years service that he is worthy of this designation.

The Detachment will also honor two citizens of the Ulster County area for particular service to the community and the Marine Corps League, and citations will be awarded to these recipients.

The ball committee is contemplating a change in the format of the Marine Ball. In previous years, the ball consisted of a floor show, dancing and beverages. The committee is considering the possibility of including a dinner, to be followed by the usual ball program. This of course would require a considerable increase in ticket price, but serious consideration is being given the dinner idea. Opinions are respectfully solicited from Marine Ball patrons as to how they feel about the dinner idea. A final decision will be made soon and proper announcement made.

The first Marine Ball was held in January, 1947, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. In the intervening time, each year, except one, this affair has been held. Over these years it has grown in public acceptance and has become known as one of the "fun" affairs of each season.

Proceeds of the Marine Ball are used for operation of Ulster Detachment and also to support the Marine scholarship awards. Each year three Ulster County high school graduates receive a monetary award to assist them in furthering their education.

Ticket sales and program journal ads will be solicited by telephone and personal contact.

AWOL Army Private Dies In Thruway Accident

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP) — A young Army private, being held as AWOL from Ft. Mead, Md., was killed Tuesday in the collision of an Army staff car, a truck and two other automobiles on the State Thruway near here.

The victim was identified as Michael Spine, 20, of Frankfurt, who was being transported from Griffiss Air Force Base in Rome to Albany by two military policemen.

Seven other persons were injured in the crash.

The accident occurred about three miles west of the Amsterdam interchange. State Police said, and all vehicles were traveling in the eastbound lane.

Injured in the crash were the two military policemen, army Sgt. William Holland, 36, and Army Spec. 4, Anthony Cavalieri, 22, both from the 213th Military Police Detachment, Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn; David Brittain, 42, and his wife Barbara, 42, both of Ripon, Wis.; Charles B. Davies, 51, and his wife, Mildred, 51, of Syracuse, and James Lynch, 50, of Albany, the driver of the truck.

Urban League Will Elect Time Inc. Head

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — James A. Linen, president of Time, Inc., today was in line for election as head of the National Urban League at its 58th annual conference.

An Urban League spokesman said Tuesday night Linen's election was a "foregone conclusion" and "but a formality."

Linen would succeed Lindsley F. Kimball of New York, retired executive of the Rockefeller Foundation. Kimball has served the Urban League as president since 1964.

Stanley Marcus, millionaire owner of the Neiman - Marcus specialty store in Dallas, told 2,000 delegates Tuesday Negroes should take advantage of massive efforts by government, business and industry to provide jobs.

Employers now have a "new sense of responsibility," said Marcus. They are offering new job opportunities that are not being filled, he said, because of a "believability gap" between job counselors and job seekers.

Sterling Tucker of Washington, D.C., Urban League member for 22 years, has been named to spearhead a key "new thrust" aimed at making ghettos better places to live.

Tucker will head the newly created Urban League field services department to speed action in relieving ghetto conditions, fighting white racism and involving middle-class black people more deeply in the struggle to move Negroes from ghetto society to higher levels.

Killed in Crash

WILLSBORO, N.Y. (AP) — Merrill E. Smith, 40, of Lake George, was killed Tuesday when his pickup truck crashed into a bridge abutment in this town south of Plattsburgh, State Police said.

'Dormant' Volcano Erupts, 45 Dead, Many Flee Homes

ARENAL, Costa Rica (UPI) — U.S. Air Force planes rushed blankets and medical supplies today to thousands of refugees forced from their homes by the eruption of the volcano Mt. Arenal, dormant for 600 years until Monday.

The national guard counted 45 persons dead and 112 from 32 families missing in the destruction wrought by the volcano.

President Jose Joaquin Trejos declared a state of emergency and asked the legislature to set aside $3 million for emergency relief.

U.S. Air Force transports were bringing blankets, cots, tents and first aid kits for thousands of refugees in nearby Tilaran. American helicopters helped rescue them.

The 5,092-foot volcano spewed ashes 30,000 feet into the night sky and some landed as far as 60 miles away, blanketing the countryside.

Charged in Murder

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A 43-year-old man has been charged with murder in the death of Thomas Manous, 63, who was found in a downtown rooming house Tuesday with his throat slashed.

Police said they had arrested LeRoy Foster of Albany in connection with the slaying.

Foster also was being questioned in connection with another apparent killing, police said.

The second victim, identified by State Police as Alfonse T. Hillsman, 42, of Albany, was found Tuesday with his throat slashed in a grassy field near a Roman Catholic church in suburban Glenmont.

Puerto Nuevo's 8,447 residents on the mountainside absorbed the brunt of the first eruption and the town was abandoned, partially buried by the river of lava and rain of boulders spewn from the crater.

In 1951, there were tremors from Arenal, but no eruption. In recent years, children from Puerto Nuevo had slept in its crater, overgrown with scrub brush and grass.

Refugees streaming into Tilaran said rocks, some a yard in diameter, tumbled from the crater following the first explosion Monday morning. The river of lava then came creeping down the mountain.

On foot and by truck, thousands of Costa Ricans came streaming into the lowlands, their belongings hastily packed on their backs. Government relief supplies rolled in from San Jose.

Complete damage estimates were impossible. No one can tell when Arenal will cool down.

Favors Meetings At Different Sites

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank Harkin told The Freeman recently that informal meetings of the town board in pre-designated places in the hamlets should prove to be "a most effective way of letting the people know what the board is doing," and also of "learning what the people want."

Harkin established the plan when he realized that many older Wawarsing residents were unable to attend regular meetings of the board but who, nevertheless, were "vitaly interested in town affairs."

The first-term Republican Supervisor declared that board members "find the plan a valuable guide in assessing the needs of the people."

It is also a method for "hearing gripes" and comments that might otherwise have escaped official attention.

"It is a very elementary thing, but sometimes the simple things can be the most important," Harkin said.

Harkin explained that the size of the township requires a "full time supervisor," and that, although existing statutes do not force him to, he spends a full five-day week on the job.

"The town has 165.6 miles of roads, 85,000 acres of property (containing 132.9 square miles of land area within its boundaries), and 10 political subdivisions with a population of over 12,000-5,000 in the village (Ellenville) and 7,000 outside the village," the supervisor declared.

One item currently up for board consideration is the need for a town park, and Harkin would like to see the councilmen commit themselves to purchasing Camp Sunrise, or Sunrise Manor as it is sometimes called.

He points out that the $65,000 purchase price would be much less than the approximately $100,000 needed to develop the 218 acre Van Gorder property in the Greenfield area.

The Van Gorder site has already received the state's approval, through the Palisades Interstate Parks Commission.

Harkin said, the Sunrise property is already developed.

Coming up before the town board at its regular Aug. 1 meeting is the Wawarsing lighting district proposal. Petitions being circulated throughout the proposed district, located, generally, along Route 209 in the Hamlet of Wawarsing along with certain side roads, would have the town contracting for lighting of streets, avenues, highways and public places within the district.

The town board under Harkin has requested a meeting between attorney Benjamin Lonstein, representing the Hotel Owners' Association, and town attorney Joseph Friedman on the matter of a municipal airport.

The supervisor said that a state-funded survey could be set up in search of an airport.

Have Insurance With Insurance Investment

Q — In 1964 I put $10,000 into Insurance Securities Trust Fund. Now after 4 years my investment shows a $3,500 paper loss. My broker says not to worry because insurance stocks have been in a slump. Would you advise me to take this loss and get into something else? — B.N.

A — I'm inclined to go along with your broker and not take the big loss confronting you at the present time. There is a distinctly better investment attitude developing toward insurance stocks in general and I believe you should wait to see how this change may possibly affect your fund's portfolio.

I also note that some corporate problems have developed in the management company which distributes your fund's shares. Earnings declined sharply for 9 months ended in March. It is not uncommon for such problems to temporarily affect share values.

However, I have repeatedly stated in the column that any investment in the insurance industry should be undertaken as a long-term commitment, perhaps up to 10 years, to get the most out of it. The entire industry has been in the doldrums for about four years. Reports have recently come to me that redemptions are going down and sales are going up in three leading insurance funds. So I hope that your investment will likewise take a turn for the better and I would exercise the patience to hold it for another year if you can afford to do so.

Q — My investment club holds a number of shares of Columbia Broadcasting System. What dividends were paid during 1967 and when? — H.L.

A — A quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share was paid on these dates during 1967: March 10, June 9, Sept. 8 and Dec. 8. A 2 per cent stock dividend was distributed Dec. 20. The corresponding ex-dividend dates — in case these might concern you — were Feb. 20, May 23, Aug. 21 and Nov. 20 for both the final cash payment and stock distribution.

Fulbright Is Victor Against Three Foes

By ED SHEARER
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won re-nomination in Arkansas' primaries Tuesday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to wrest the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

With 2,548 of 2,659 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701 and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

His opponents accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman of giving aid and comfort to the enemy because of his outspoken opposition to U.S. involvement in the war.

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong." He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Bernard, father of five, farms and operates a dry cleaning business. His only public service came as a city alderman.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, as expected, easily won renomination over Sidney C. Roberts of Little Rock, an unemployed salesman making his first political race.

Rockefeller, the state's first GOP chief executive since Reconstruction, indicated that Bernard would have the all-out backing of his organization. The drive to give the state its first Republican senator in 100 years follows by two years Rockefeller's own triumph which helped Rep. John Paul Hammond become the first Arkansas Republican congressman in a century.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman led a six-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will face a runoff Aug. 13 against either Ted Boswell of Bryant or Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Conway.

Boswell, at 35 the youngest candidate and a strong advocate to revamp the 94-year-old state constitution, and Mrs. Johnson, the first woman to seek the governorship in Arkansas, appeared headed for a down-to-the-wire battle for the No. 2 spot. Mrs. Johnson is Jim Johnson's wife.

Bill Alexander of Osceola, an attorney, led the field in the 1st Congressional District Democratic primary but also faced a runoff.

Violence Hits More Cities

A fire station on the north side of Kalamazoo, Mich., was stoned Tuesday as young Negroes broke windows for the second straight night.

At Jackson, Mich., a group of 15 to 20 Negro youths entered a meeting of the city commission Tuesday night and threw eggs, one hitting a policeman.

Most of the other cities which experienced racial violence this week were quiet.

At Jackson, the city commission was meeting when a group of young Negroes entered demanding to be heard. Mayor Morris Townsend asked the leader of the group his name. The youth would not give it and Townsend said:

"If you can't give me the name on your birth certificate, I don't have to listen."

The youths threw eggs, one splattering a policeman. A window was broken before the commission adjourned, the meeting and cleared the room. There were no arrests.

Only scattered incidents were reported Tuesday in Gary, Ind., where several hundred persons were arrested in weekend violence.

Peoria, Ill., where 11 policemen and a newsman were injured by shotgun blasts early Tuesday, reported no new incidents. Curfews were in effect overnight in both cities.

At Gary, Mayor Richard G. Hatcher imposed a curfew for the third straight night for persons under 20. Two were arrested for violation of the 11 p.m. to dawn curfew.

About 235 persons—most of them youths—were arrested after violence began early Sunday with the arrest of two youths on a rape charge. Six were wounded by gunfire in the earlier trouble.

Gary's police force was ordered back on 12-hour shifts for a time Tuesday night after a fire bomb caused slight damage at a lumber yard and a few windows were broken.

At Least One Dead, 400 Hurt As Mexico City Riots Flare

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City was a battle ground again Tuesday as mobs of young people ran wild through the city, fighting police, wrecking city buses and throwing rocks and bottles.

At least one person was dead, more than 400 were injured and at least 1,100 persons had been arrested since antigovernment rioting began last Friday.

Officials claimed the riots were Communist inspired and said they were the worst Mexico's capital has experienced in 20 years.

Tuesday night club-wielding students braved a heavy rain and hijacked four city buses after forcing terrified passengers to flee. Then they ran the vehicles into the sides of buildings.

Earlier, Army troops fired volleys of shots into the air and dispersed the students. The troops were withdrawn, but the mobs returned, marching from the old university section, and seized the buses near the city's central square.

Riot squads swinging long batons dispersed the crowd, but at least 3,000 of the youths gathered half a mile away near a teacher's college. Their leaders used bugle calls and walkie-talkies to control them. They swarmed over buses and a trolley car, smashing windows and running the vehicles onto the sidewalks.

At one point all four intersections around the park in front of the school were blocked by the wrecked buses.

sped to the scene. The students fled and the police were again withdrawn.

The violence mainly involved prep school students from 14 to 18 years of age. The disorders began last Friday with a pro-Castro demonstration honoring the anniversary of the Cuban prime minister's 26th of July Movement. Students charges of police and troop brutality turned their backs to the teachings of God.

A small group made their way to Western New York where they wrote their history on the golden tablets and buried them.

The story on the tablets was published by Smith in 1829.

Huge loudspeakers carried the voices of the players in the pageant, entitled "America's Witnesses for Christ," to the audience who sat on benches in the amphitheater, lounged on their own lawn chairs or sat in their cars.

The performances run through Saturday night.

Two elders of the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the church in Salt Lake City, Utah, were in attendance Tuesday. They were Richard L. Evans, who since 1930 has written and directed the weekly nationwide radio broadcasts of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, and Mark E. Petersen, president of Mormon Missions in Great Britain and South Africa.

12,500 Watch Mormon Pageant

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP) — The Book of Mormon came to life here Tuesday when 450 members of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints presented the second performance of the 31st annual Hill Cumorah Pageant to 12,500 spectators.

The pageant is played in an amphitheater near the spot where, in 1827, the Mormons say the angel Moroni directed young Joseph Smith to some buried golden tablets. It tells in drama and music the story that Smith translated from those tablets.

The Mormons believe a group of people migrated from Palestine to Central and South America about 600 B.C. and built a great Christian empire.

King Lamoni was an ancient pagan who accepted Christianity and raised the culture to new heights, they say, but the empire crumbled when the people

Economic Integration in L-A Stumbles

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Efforts to achieve economic integration in Latin America have run into the stumbling block of economic nationalism. Where once there were ambitious plans to march forward steadily towards a common market on the European model, now there is pessimism and skepticism about the way ahead.

Most in trouble is the Latin American Free Trade Association (LAFTA), whose members are in extraordinary conference in Montevideo, Uruguay, trying to break a deadlock that has put it more than six months behind a programmed schedule. Diplomats are skeptical that it can be done.

Members of LAFTA are Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela.

Those 11 countries contain more than 90 per cent of the population of Latin America—more than 200 million people.

According to the Montevideo Treaty of 1960, which established the organization, they were supposed to free 25 per cent of the trade between them from customs duties every three years.

The first 25 per cent was achieved in 1964. But more than two months of negotiations failed to produce agreement on the products to be included in the second 25 per cent which was supposed to be achieved by the end of 1967. Members were forced to call the present extraordinary meeting.

Its prospects are no brighter. Last December the negotiations broke down over wheat and oil. Freeing those two commodities would achieve the 50 per cent goal. But Mexico, with support from Argentina and Brazil, objected to oil, and Bolivia objected to wheat. The object, of course, was to protect national producers.

Dr. John F. Park has been appointed chairman of the Humanities Division at Ulster County Community College, president George B. Erbstein announced today.

Dr. Park, who presently is serving as director of the summer session, will succeed Joseph Keefe, who resigned as chairman so he can devote more time to writing and working toward his doctorate degree. Keefe will continue at the college as an associate professor of English.

Dr. Park, a member of the original UCCC faculty, is an Associate Professor of Music and is coordinator of music. He also has served as conductor of the College Chorus, and as chairman of the Faculty Organization.

Before joining the UCCC faculty in 1963, Dr. Park had previous teaching experience at Columbia University, the University of Florida, the University of Georgia and Virginia Intermont College.

Dr. Park attended Furman University, and received his bachelor's and master's degree from the University of North Carolina. He received his doctorate degree from Columbia University and has done additional graduate study at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

The new chairman is the co-author of a music textbook and is the editor and arranger of several published musical compositions. He is organist and choirmaster at Temple Emmanuel in Kingston.

A native of Greenville, S. C., Dr. Park has been a resident of Kingston for the last five years. He is an officer of the local college chapter of the American Association of University Professors and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, Phi Delta Kappa and numerous professional associations.

College Adds New Courses

A new catalog presently is being distributed by Ulster County Community College to schools and libraries in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

The catalog lists 14 two-year programs, including the new nursing program that UCCC will start this fall.

The other degree programs are liberal arts, science or mathematics, engineering science, mechanical technology, electrical technology, industrial technology, medical laboratory technology, accounting, business administration, executive secretarial studies, retail business management, community service assistant, and recreation supervision.

The catalog also lists five one-year diploma programs. They are business office skills technology, commercial typist, legal typist, medical typist and drafting. Listed in the catalog are 270 courses, an increase of 16 over the 254 courses listed in the previous catalog put out by the college.

Save a second. Spoil a life.

Car theft is often the first offense that later turns a boy into a full-time criminal. A lot of the fault is yours. You make car theft so easy. (Last year 76% of stolen cars were left unlocked; nearly half also had ignition keys in them.) Quite a temptation. You realize how great this temptation is when you know that 64% of people arrested for car theft are under 18. When you carelessly walk away from your unlocked car, you may be avoiding a 10-second job, but starting someone on a 10-year sentence.

SHORELINERS DRUM, BUGLE CORPS

Nutmeg State Bandsmen Set For Aug. 10 Pow Wow Here

The Indians have announced that the Shoreliners Drum and Bugle Corps of Milford, Conn., will make their first appearance in Kingston when they pit themselves against six of the Northeast's top corps, at the fourth annual Pow Wow of Junior Champions. This international championship contest will be held at Dietz Stadium at 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10, and promises to be one of the most colorful events of the area. The host corps, the Troop 12, and the Kingston Indians, will appear in exhibition.

The 1968 version of the Shoreliners presents a show best described as enjoyment. Precision marching and maneuvering is combined with a new musical repertoire that will please the most critical audience.

Since their organization in 1959 this corps has climbed steadily, compiling an enviable record that includes the 1967 Connecticut American Legion State Championship and the Greater New York Circuit Story medley, Hands Across the Championship. In their first at Sea, Flight of the Wild Goose, tempt at a national champion Comedian's Gallop, Mas Que ship, in 1967, the corps placed Nada, and Going Out of My 11th out of some 60 competing Head. Instructing staff consists corps. The Shoreliners have of Joseph Genero on horns, been the subject of a feature Jack Lester on drums, and drill article in "Law and Order" by Bob Daniels.

Friendship Wanes

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—Public displays of friendship between South Africa and Rhodesia which surged through both countries after Rhodesia's seizure of independence in November 1965 are on the wane. The newsletter of the Rhodesian National Friends of South Africa says the organization notes a fade-out of enthusiasm and doubts whether it will get the necessary monetary support for the next financial year.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 31, 1968

Rondout Group Aids Activities at Cornell

By JON POWERS

Despite pre-season plans to exclude Cornell Park from the Recreation Department's summer program, the attendance there, while substantially less than some of the larger and better equipped playgrounds in the city, has thus far warranted the last minute decision that kept the park in operation for the summer.

Cornell is located adjacent to Spring Street, off Broadway, in the downtown section of the city. The park was not originally intended to be included in this summer's recreation program, primarily because of low attendance last year. But, because Cornell is the only place in that area where youngsters can gather together and participate in an organized and supervised program of outdoor games and activities, the decision to close the park was cancelled.

Although it had been suggested that the youngsters attend the programs in either Hasbrouck or Block Parks, the trip from the downtown Broadway area to either of the two parks would have been too far and exhausting for many of the younger children. The fact that the park has remained open to the youngsters of the area has, in itself, been instrumental in keeping many of the children off the streets during the daytime hours.

Two Factors

Cornell's decline in attendance can be attributed to two main factors. The first is the absence of a substantial amount of equipment available to the youngsters at the park. Cornell's five-acre tract contains a small pavilion able to accommodate a maximum of twenty persons, a wading pool, horse-shoe pits, and swings. The wading pool is, of course, the most popular fixture at the park. The youngsters divide their time between the pool and the pavilion, where they participate in arts and crafts projects, quiet games, reading hours, puppet shows, etc. There are, however, no extensive sporting facilities (such as tennis or basketball courts).

Cornell does, however, receive the same attention as the other six parks in the city. The counselors are provided with arts and crafts materials, and the youngsters are able to participate in each of the citywide tournaments and field days that are held throughout the summer. In addition, they take weekly excursions and field trips to areas of interest in and around the city.

The second factor that has contributed to Cornell's decreased attendance is one that has, nevertheless, proven to be beneficial to the youngsters in the area. Cornell, as well as Hasbrouck Park, is participating in a recreational program sponsored by the Rondout Action Group which is held on weekday mornings. The group, operated by 41 volunteers from three area churches—St. Mary, St. Ursula, and the Trinity Methodist Church—has organized a morning program of games and activities similar to the programs offered at the other parks in the city.

The advantage of the Rondout Group's program is that the youngsters are afforded more intensified individual attention. The 41 volunteers are doing what five counselors from the two parks were required to do before the program was put into effect.

One of Three Churches

The youngsters gather at the recreational facilities of one of the three churches every morning and remain until the early afternoon. They take part in quiet games and arts and crafts sessions under the direction and supervision of the volunteers. When the morning session has ended, they can return to Cornell for additional supervised activities.

Because the Rondout Group program is better organized and supervised than Cornell's own program, many children prefer to attend the morning session rather than spend that time at the park. In addition, after a morning of intensified activity, many children are reluctant to participate in the some events during the warmer afternoon hours.

The Recreation Department is the first to applaud the efforts of the Rondout Community Group. Many officials feel that if more citizens and community groups took an interest in the activities of the city's youngsters, the recreation program would flourish tremendously.

The Recreation Department has made plans for supplying Cornell and the other city parks with additional equipment. Over $6,000 worth of swings, slides, and merry-go-rounds have been ordered and are expected to be installed in the near future. Most of the equipment is described as "ultra-modern" and if it proves to be a hit with the youngsters, more may be ordered in the future.

The new equipment, in addition to the regular facilities and materials supplied by the Recreation Department, are just a part of the overall program that the city has instituted in order to provide the youngsters of Kingston with a worthwhile summer program of constructive fun. The success of this year will determine whether or not next summer will be even more successful.

Art Projects

Cornell counselors Sharon Kennedy and Stan Henderson assist youngsters in making foam rubber hats during an afternoon arts and crafts session under the pavilion at the downtown park. In addition to taking part in creative project, the children play in the wading pool during the hot afternoon hours, and take weekly excursions to Kingston Point Beach and local sites of interest. Last week, 32 children from Cornell accompanied over 150 youngsters from the other city parks on a field trip to the Bronx Zoo. During the morning hours, many of the children participate in the Rondout Action Group's summer program of quiet games, reading activities, and arts and crafts projects. The program, sponsored by three churches in the downtown area, consists of 41 volunteer workers who direct the youngsters in their activities. By next week, the Recreation Department is expected to install some newly purchased "ultra modern" playground equipment, including "saddle-mates" and "space platforms," at Cornell. With the new equipment, the Recreation Department hopes to stimulate new interest in the park's facilities. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Facing Famine

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — More than 200 African families in drought-stricken southwest Rhodesia are facing famine. Tswana-speaking tribesmen in the Mpoengs Reserve near the Botswana border are reported worst hit.

About 20 families have qualified for government famine relief so far. The drought caused failure of the vital corn crop.

Isaac, modeling; Richard Cyr, programs; Lois Buchan, pageant secretary; Francello, Ralph Lachmann, Robert Nacarato, Bud Turek and Schnell, staging; William Hayes, set execution, and Inga Hayes, set design.

Orientation sessions are being held in all parts of the county in preparation for the first rehearsal Sept. 4. Applications of eligible single young ladies in the 17 to 28 age bracket are still being accepted. Mrs. Vivian Schultz entries coordinator may be contacted at Vivian's Specialty Shop, Saugerties, by phone or in person.

Closing date for nomination is expected to be Aug. 3.

O'Dwyer Repeats: Cannot Support HHH

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Paul O'Dwyer, Democratic senatorial nominee, wrapped up a Western New York campaign trek here Tuesday by re-affirming his refusal to support vice president Hubert H. Humphrey if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination.

O'Dwyer, a former New York City councilman who hopes to upset Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits in the Nov. 5 election, said he had been assured support by Joseph F. Crangle, Erie County Democratic Chairman, and Frank E. Sedita, Buffalo's Democratic mayor.

He said speculation on a possible Humphrey-Sen. Eugene McCarthy ticket was wasted effort because "That would be like mixing oil and water. I can't conceive of Sen. McCarthy taking second place on a ticket with Mr. Humphrey."

O'Dwyer, a strong supporter of the Minnesota senator's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, won an upset victory in the June 18 primary to get the Democratic nod for the senatorial contest.

He visited several smaller Western New York cities between Sunday and Tuesday, and told a group of Buffalo labor leaders that he was sure McCarthy would win the Democratic presidential contest in Chicago this month.

He said Humphrey's campaign "has not gotten off the ground," while the McCarthy contingent continued to amass grass roots support across the country.

O'Dwyer said many of New York State's uncommitted Democratic National Convention delegates would throw their support to McCarthy by the time the convention opens Aug. 26.

12th Armored Division Elects Saehloff President

Freeman advertising man, Robert H. Saehloff of 28 Dietz Court, was elected president of the 12th Armored Division Association, one of the largest of its type in existence, boasting memberships in all 50 states at the organization's 2nd annual reunion held July 25-27 at the Sheraton Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa. Saehloff, the association's 16th president, just completed two terms as 1st vice president in charge of membership which reached an unprecedented high total during his tenure.

Officers elected to serve with Saehloff include Victor Challen, first vice president; David Golden, second vice president; Jack Miller, third vice president; and Nicholas J. Hardony, treasurer. Leonard P. Dooley and Frank Nestico were elected as directors. Harold Hendricks was reappointed executive secretary.

ROBERT H. SAEHLLOFF

Saehloff, in his address to the approximately 400 in attendance at the annual dinner dance, thanked the members for their cooperation in aiding his membership drive promotions of the past year and outlined plans for the coming year.

Reunion Chairman Bernard McCann announced that the Philadelphia reunion had emerged as one of the best attended and most successful of those held so far. He stated that the groups who toured the Schmidt's Brewery and the historical section of the city offered praise to the committee in charge.

It was voted by the members to hold the 23rd annual reunion in 1969 at Cleveland, Ohio.

The 12th Armored Division Association was founded Sept. 15, 1945 at Heldenheim, Germany. A reunion has been held each year since the first gathering at New York City in 1947. According to Saehloff, a charter member of the association, former members of the division may obtain additional information concerning association membership and the division's monthly "Helicat News" by contacting him or writing to Harold J. Hendricks, executive secretary, Box 13, Skokie, Ill. 60076.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Erichsen of Highland accompanied Saehloff to the Philadelphia reunion.

Negro History Series To Be Offered Locally

Ulster County Community College has added a new course, the History of the Negro in America, which will be offered for the first time this fall. George B. Erbsstein, president, announced.

Dr. Erbsstein said the college will offer this course Thursday nights this fall at Kingston High School, starting Sept. 12, to make it more available for residents of the community. "The faculty added this new course at the college," said Dr. Erbsstein, "because they felt the importance and relevancy for people of all ages and segments of the community to understand the many contributions of the Negro in United States history."

The course will cover the role played by the American Negro in the history of the United States from the colonial period to the present. Emphasis will be on the influence of slavery, segregation and racism on political, economic and social developments in American history.

This history course carries three college credits, but mature adults not interested in credit will be permitted to audit the course.

$4.6 Billion Shave Listed For Projects

Ellenville and Rosendale's share of the water projects money incorporated in the Public Works Appropriation Bill of $4.6 billion was announced today.

The senate has sent the White House a compromise bill which is $300 million below the administration's budget request.

The approximate figure for North Ellenville is $679,000; South Ellenville, $427,000 and Rosendale, $970,000.

The measure, approved by a voice vote of the House last week, would provide $1.2 billion for water projects to be built by Army engineers and $273 million for the Interior Department's Reclamation Bureau for power and irrigation projects.

Port Ewen

There will be a dog show at Ross Park in Port Ewen sponsored by the Ken-L-Ration Dog Food Company. The show will be held Aug. 2 at 10:30 a. m. Entry blanks will be available at the park.

On July 25 Ross Park held its annual Doll Show. Among the first and second prize winners were: Biggest Doll, Debbie Miller and Susie Mould; Smallest Doll, Janey Atkins and Susie Mould; Cutest Baby Doll, Lare Carol and Debbie Carlson; Prettiest Doll, Lori Provenzano and Gail Terwilliger; Funniest Doll, Salvatore Cuti and Pat and Carol Lee Rucker; Most Original Doll, Kristy Emerson and Terry Carlson; Best Dressed Teenage Doll, Jeanette Davis and Patti VanLoan; Bride Doll, Roxanne Pecora and Lori Shlightner; Most Unusual Doll, Nancy Griggs and Janey Atkins; and Best of Show, Judy Leon.

Nab AWOL Marine

STEEL ACCORD — United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel receives congratulations from all sides after the USW accepted a new three-year contract Tuesday. Package is estimated at 90-cents an hour to end the threat of a nationwide steel strike. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

'Our Biggest Contract Ever' Claim Happy Steelworkers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers Union (USW) won its biggest contract ever from the basic steel industry and many of its members soon will be receiving one of the top provisions—increased unemployment pay.

Agreement on the contract, valued at $1.5 billion over its three-year duration, was reached Tuesday and ended the threat of a nationwide strike at midnight tonight by 400,000 union men employed in basic steel.

But the industry plans a 33 per cent cutback in operations from Aug. 1 through at least the remainder of the year. Accordingly, there will be layoffs, although not necessarily at the same rate.

The threat of a strike was the earliest this year in the can, aluminum, copper and auto lever the union used in achieving the settlement. It also is the cause of the pending cutback. Consumers, stockpiling for up to a year in the event there was a work stoppage, now must use up their backlog and steel shipments are expected to fall from nine million to six million tons per month.

Six Per Cent Hike

The agreement provides pay raises, improved vacation, pensions, insurance and hospitalization coverage, and higher supplemental unemployment benefits.

Its cost is set at about 90 cents per hour or about 6 per cent, equal to contracts negotiated in the previous high, also including wages and fringe benefits, was 47.7 cents per hour negotiated in the contract that expires tonight.

An industry source estimated the contract would cost the 11 major basic steel producers about a half billion dollars a year. Costs for an additional 150,000 steelworkers in allied companies would be about $561 million over the three years. Contracts for these workers usually follow the pattern set by "big steel."

Basic steel workers now earn an average hourly rate of $3.71. Under the new agreement there will be a general 20 cents an hour increase immediately, 12 cents the second year and 12 cents the third year.

Increase Varies

With increased increments between job classifications, the companies say, the hike will range from 44 cents an hour in the lowest classification to 73 cents in the highest.

USW President I. W. Abel and U.S. Steel Vice President R. Conrad Cooper, the top two negotiators, sat side by side at a news conference Tuesday night and expressed satisfaction with the contract.

"It's a fine thing that a settlement has been reached in these negotiations without a strike at a critical time in our history," Cooper said.

Abel said he agreed with Cooper that "neither of us are totally and completely happy with the results," but he termed it a "very good" settlement.

In addition to a hike in wages, the new contract calls for an increase from $37.50 per week to $52.50 per week in the supplemental unemployment benefits while drawing state assistance and an increase from $60 per week to $80 per week when state aid ends.

Man Is Charged With Murder

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The body of Alfonso T. Hillman, 42, was discovered in the nearby town of Bethlehem, state police said. He also died of throat stab wounds.

Foster was arrested after the bodies of the two men were found Tuesday.

Industry Probing the Seas

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is plunging into the science of oceanography in hopes of reaping profits from the wealth of resources in and beneath the seas.

The hidden treasures include oil, minerals and food.

"Just as the seas are the last great area for physical exploration on the planet, they are also the last great area for economic expansion," says Dr. Charles F. Jones, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

The big brokerage firm Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith includes oceanography in its list of five emerging industries. The others are medical technology, nuclear energy, learning aids and pollution control.

The federal government spearheaded research into the realm of oceanography. The oceanographic activities of 22 federal agencies may involve an expenditure of $500 million next year.

"Three hundred of the nation's 500 largest corporations have ocean science programs of their own," reports Oilways, a publication of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

But Samuel A. Jordan, manager of Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s Underseas Division, cautions against thinking that a harvest of wealth from the oceans is just around the corner.

"In the immediate future the outlook is uncertain," he says. "But we want to be ready. For the long haul you can be optimistic. Ten or 15 years from now there probably will be production from deep oil wells and the more sophisticated food areas."

Current manufacturing activity in the oceanographic field is mainly confined to submersible vessels, research instruments and equipment to enable man to operate at great depths.

In its projection of oceanography's future as a commercial undertaking, Merrill Lynch says scientists believe the greatest riches of the ocean, which cover 71 per cent of the earth's surface, lie on the continental shelves surrounding the land masses.

So far, industry's biggest and most profitable oceanographic venture has been offshore production of oil and gas. Offshore wells provide 16 per cent of the petroleum produced in the Western world and are expected to account for 40 per cent 10 years from now.

Companies now are extracting sulphur, manganese, salt and bromine from the seas. In the future they may be able to remove from deep-water manganese nodules not only manganese but rich deposits of nickel, copper and cobalt.

Many companies are optimistic about the possibilities. Frank Compton, who heads the Ocean Division of North American Rockwell Corp., a manufacturer of aircraft, missiles and electronics products, predicts that within 10 years underwater business will account for 20 to 25 per cent of his company's business.

Army Defends Irradiated Canned Bacon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army insists that irradiated canned bacon is safe for human consumption despite the Food and Drug Administration's decision to stop the military services from feeding it to the troops.

Col. Edward L. Johnson of the Army's food-irradiation laboratories at Natick, Mass., said in a telephone interview that animal tests of the bacon were made prior to the Army's petition to feed it to some troops, and the tests showed "no evidence of any adverse effects from the irradiation." "There seems to be a difference of opinion in interpreting the data from the tests," said Johnson. "We're hoping to resolve this."

Johnson made the comments on published reports, confirmed by an FDA scientist, that:

1. The FDA has turned down a new Army petition to begin serving irradiated ham to soldiers.

2. The FDA has taken a second look at its 1966 approval of irradiated bacon, and ordered it out of the mess halls pending further study.

Adverse Effects

The FDA contends there is evidence that irradiated bacon can cause adverse effects on the reproductive process in rats.

Daniel Banes, an associate FDA commissioner for science, said in an interview the animal tests were sponsored by the Army before it petitioned his Agency for approval, but he said the FDA obtained full details on the tests only a few months ago.

Banes said the Army originally stated "that there were no indications that radiation caused adverse effects" in animals fed irradiated bacon.

He also said that when the Army—in 1966 and 1967—began to petition for an okay on irradiated ham, it submitted some raw data on use of irradiated bacon in animals to support its contention that irradiated ham was safe.

But, Banes said, the animal data on the bacon raised questions in the minds of FDA scientists, and they asked for further details. It was after these additional details were furnished that the FDA concluded the data showed a reproductive process hazard to rats, he said.

Banes said the FDA scientists concluded the data showed a 25 per cent reduction in the number of live-born offspring of rats fed irradiated bacon; and a similar reduction in the number of offspring surviving the weaning period.

"We have had second thoughts on the original bacon petition approval," he said, "and the FDA is taking action to rescind it."

Col. Johnson said that after the FDA's original approval, the Army procured only a single consignment of irradiated bacon in December 1966—approximately 30,000 pounds—and that this "was all fed within a month—half to army troops and half used for testing purposes." He said the bacon had never been supplied "for general use."

More Tests Planned

He said the Army, in the wake of questions raised by the FDA both on irradiated ham and bacon, plans additional tests.

With regard to the ham tests, he quoted Dr. Edward S. Josephson, associate director of the Army's Natick laboratories, as saying:

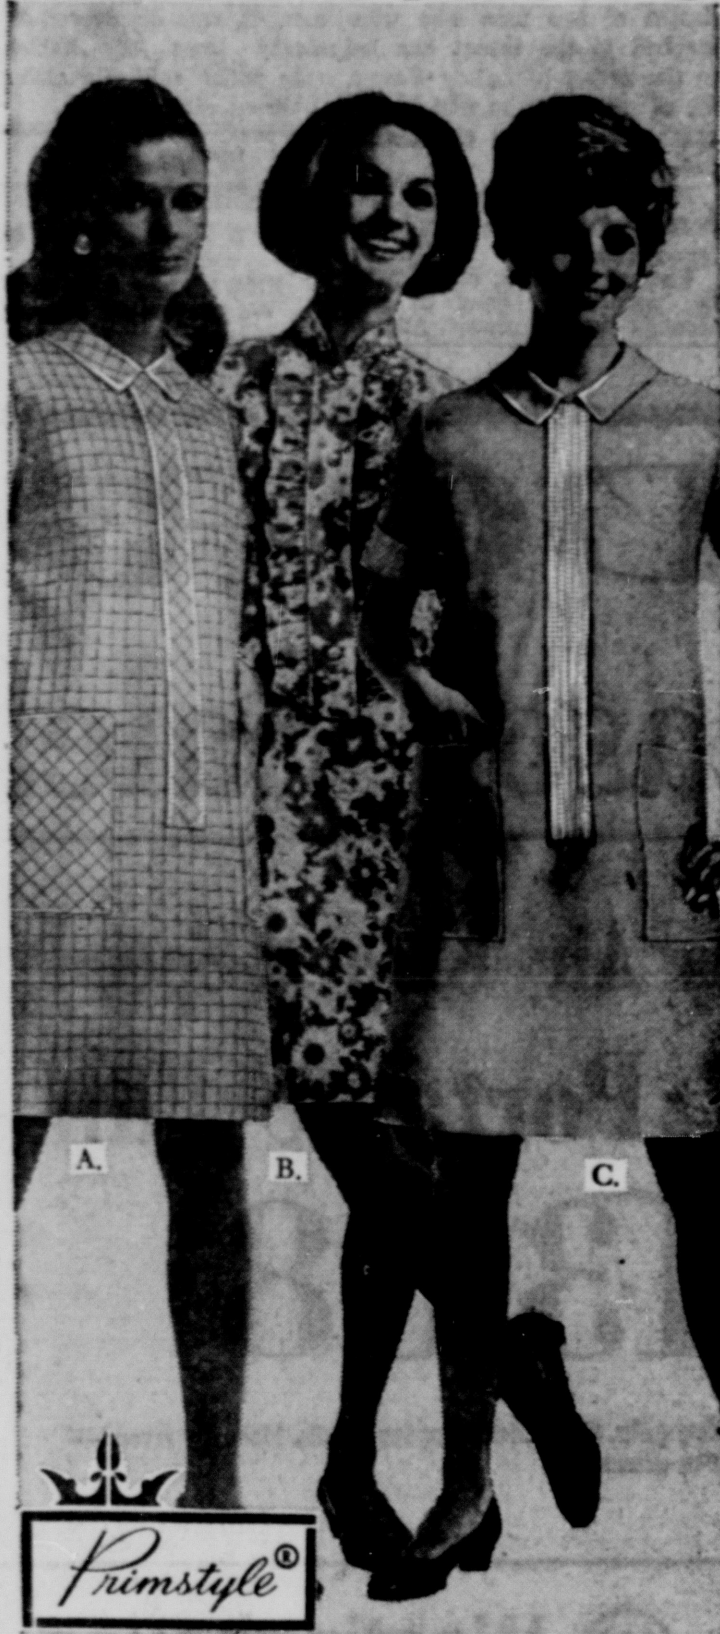

"The really significant question raised by FDA has to do with the data provided on reproductive process. In order to show the safety of irradiated ham, the Army will conduct new animal feeding studies which will over four generations of weaned rats and take two years. Approval of the experimental design will be obtained in advance, and we'll conduct periodic reviews with FDA."

Banes had said in testimony prepared for the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee that the Army's petition for approval of irradiated ham had revealed "deficiencies in design and execution of experiments."

Storage Search In Ice Caves

The Brooklyn Union Gas Company has reportedly brought in several large pieces of equipment in its continued test borings near the Ice Caves mountain on Village of Ellenville property.

According to Ellenville Mayor Eugene Glusker, the village is paid for the use of its property and the gas company will pay royalties on whatever they take out of the mountains surrounding the village.

"It is basically a storage search," said Glusker, with the utilities people looking for a certain cubic capacity in an underground cavern.

The ice caves themselves are protected by a village-company contract entered into "about a year ago," declared the mayor.

Glusker also said that, should the utilities company discover gas, they will, of course, use it. An informed source in Ellenville, said the company was drilling in the Cragmoor area with seven pieces of equipment supplemented by four more pieces on Saturday—"eleven in all."

Mills - Groppuso Nuptials Told

Miss Catherine M. Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mills of 154 West Pierpont Street, Kingston, became the bride of Michael Stephan Groppuso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Groppuso, Paris Road, Clinton, on Saturday, July 20, at the Holy Name of Jesus Church, Kingston.

The Rev. John G. Russell officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wayne Cushman, organist, accompanied Nadine Wionoski who sang traditional wedding selections. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with accents of peau d'ange lace on the bodice, sleeves, and skirt. The detachable train was chapel length and a headpiece of seed pearls and aurora crystals secured her silk illusion veil.

Miss Ann Ryerson of Port Ewen, served as maid of honor. She wore an empire style gown of bon bon pink chiffon with a cowl collar and waistband of matching satin. A double crown of nylon braid and seed pearls held her waterfall tulle veil.

Attendants were Miss Suzanne Reilly of Sawkill, and Miss Barbara Zupa of Ulster Park. Their pale aquamarine gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant.

Maryann Mills, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an A-line gown of aqua chiffon which featured a butterfly bow and long streamers at the back waistline. She wore a crown of tiny flowers in her hair.

Jeff Groppuso, brother of the bridegroom, of Clinton, was best man. Ushers were Edward Mills, brother of the bride, of Kingston; and Carl Zanchoski of Clinton. Gary Groppuso, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

After the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held at the Twaalfskill Country Club, Kingston.

The bride selected a mint green A-line dress with matching accessories for her wedding trip.

Mrs. Groppuso is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a hair stylist in Long Island. Her husband is also a graduate of Kingston High School.

Hudela Sisters Marry Kingston Men At Double Wedding in St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, was the setting for a double wedding Sunday, July 21, when sisters, Miss Theresa Ann and Miss Denise Margaret Hudela, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bronislaw Hudela, 198 Washington Avenue, this city, exchanged nuptial vows with Andrew John Savage and Thomas R. Gardner, respectively. Savage is the son of Mrs. Andrew Savage of 12 Mountain View Avenue, Kingston, and the late Andrew Savage. Gardner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gardner of Hillside Terrace, this city.

The Rev. James J. LeBar officiated at the ceremony. James Sweeney, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums and baby's breath decorated the altar. The sisters were given in marriage by their father, Mrs. Savage wore a silk and worsted empire styled bodice over an A-line skirt. The jacket was accented with a ruffled portrait neckline. Mrs. Gardner wore an A-line outfit of white ribbed cotton styled with tulle sleeves, a high collar and trimmed in Venice lace. Both brides wore lace mantillas and carried nosegay bouquets of baby white and pink roses.

The sisters served as attendants for each other.

Best men were Charles Gaffney Jr. of 204 Pearl Street, this city; and Paul C. Gardner of Gardiner.

Ushers were Michael Hudela, brother of the bride; Timothy O'Reilly, both of Kingston; William Murphy of Massachusetts; and Robert Dittus, 42 Clifton Avenue, Kingston.

After the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the brides' parents.

Mrs. Savage is a graduate of St. Ursula Academy and completed two years at Trinity College in Burlington, Vt. Mrs. Gardner, also an alumna of St. Ursula Academy, received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Trinity College.

Savage was graduated from Mt. Assumption Preparatory School in Plattsburgh and is attending Fordham University in New York. Gardner, an alumnus of Kingston High School and Marist College, received fellowships for graduate study in chemistry at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and Catholic University.

Mr. and Mrs. Savage will reside at The Grand Concourse, Bronx and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will live in New Paltz.

MRS. ROBERT EARL WEST JR.

Miss Rose Mary Berardi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Santo Berardi of 100 Glen Street, Kingston, became the bride of Robert Earl West Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert West, West Camp, on Sunday, July 21, at St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edward Farrelly officiated at the double ring ceremony. Theodore Riccobono, organist, accompanied Richard Scherer who sang traditional wedding selections. Basket arrangements of white gladioli and pampas decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a high neckline, long tapered sleeves, and a fitted bodice. The gown featured iridescent sequins around the neckline and a detachable chapel train. A stylized headpiece of lace and cut crystals held her bouffant veil and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Diana Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, of West Camp, served as honor attendant. She wore a cage silhouette orchid gown of lace with a matching Dior bow headpiece and chapel veil. She carried a cascade of white carnations with a bow to match her gown.

Attendants were the Misses Lana Boughton, Lillian Raff, Cheryl Davide, Denise Mitchell, all cousins of the bride, of Kingston; and Holly Smith, cousin of the bride, of New Camp.

The couple will reside in West Camp. The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and was employed by Ferroxcube Corporation of America in Mt. Marion. Her husband is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed by Rotron Manufacturing Company.

Norwalk, Conn. — Save the Children Federation has announced four new sponsorship programs for underprivileged children in the Southern Appalachian Mountains of the United States, the Dominican Republic, Honduras and Baja California, Mexico.

In the Appalachian Mountains child - family - community self help sponsorships are being administered by the Federation in the form of interest - free loans that will enable the proud mountain people there to help themselves. Funds given to families through sponsorship will be used to help them improve their economic situation by investing in a self - help project that will raise their annual income.

In addition to the funds which give the family a chance to achieve a decent standard of living, the sponsorships also provide the encouragement of the sponsor's personal concern.

Sponsors are encouraged to exchange letters with sponsored children and they will also receive an annual progress report from SCF field workers. The Federation has worked in the Appalachian area for more than 35 years. It knows from experience that the people do not want "hand - outs" but that they do need some financial backing and advice and encouragement for self - help projects. Families of sponsored children select a variety of self - help projects. Some have purchased a cow or two in order to offer dairy products and eventually calves for sale; others are engaged in the raising and selling of pigs; some families are raising potatoes and other crops for sale and still others engage in handicraft turning out such items as Christmas wreaths, quilts, and furniture pieces that will be for sale in community centers and other outlets.

In announcing its sponsorships for Honduras, Federation officials stated, that the people are interested in education but educational opportunity is limited. The national literacy average is 50 percent. In order to help the populace educate its young, the Federation is appealing for sponsorships that will go in the form of grants to the children for educational purposes plus an interest - free self - help loan to communities in which the children live in order that the community as a whole can establish an income - producing project.

The firsts sponsorships in the neighboring country of Mexico will be in the State of Baja California directly across the U.S. border and will be concentrated around the communities of Tecate and Ensenada. Sponsorships will be in the form of grants to the sponsored child and the community in which the child lives. Tecate and Ensenada have already selected the self - help projects that they will undertake as a result of sponsorship funds. Tecate plans to complete a town library with its funds. The residents of Ensenada have voted to build sanitary facilities in the school attended by most of the sponsored children. In both towns the parents will volunteer their labor for the projects and funds will be used for necessary materials. In addition, the parents sponsored children in Ensenada have pledged 72 bags of cement for use in work on the school house.

The sponsorship plan for the Dominican Republic will work along the same lines as that for the Southern Appalachian Mountains. Through sponsorship of their children families will be granted interest - free loans to start a self - help project that will add to their annual incomes. The Dominican Republic is currently engaged in large scale community development programs through community development. The National Office of Community Development hopes that through children and their families, the people of the various villages will be encouraged not only to improve their own individual situations but be spurred on to engage in community development work as well.

Sponsors of children in Honduras and the Dominican Republic will also be encouraged to correspond with the children they sponsor and they will receive reports from the Federation as to the families' progress.

Persons wishing to join in any of the Federation's new sponsorship plans should write: Save the Children Federation, Boston Post Road, Norwalk, Connecticut 06852.

MUD SPOTS

To get rid of mud spots, first let the mud dry. Then brush out most of it and soak in cold water. Then launder. If stain remains, use denatured alcohol.

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW EDGE of 32 Webster Street, Kingston, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a party at the VFW Hall, Delaware Avenue, this city, on Sunday, July 28, given by their children, Mrs. James Jaffer, Dale and Wayne Edge. Married July 31, 1943, the couple have one grandson, Patrick James Jaffer. Their attendants, Mrs. Salvatore Ambrose and Albert Hendricks, were in attendance at the party. Mr. Edge is employed by IBM and his wife works at Kingston Telephone Answering Service. (Freeman photo by Haines).

The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

The everyday problems of people have been going on since history began. Wives are convinced that husbands can never find anything. "It's on the second shelf next to the refrigerator," they say. Fifteen minutes later the husband returns and says the object is not where she said it was. She sighs, gets up off the sofa where she has lain down to read the paper, goes to the shelf, and there the object is. "Oh," says the husband, "I didn't know you meant there."

Husbands, of course, think their wives are ignorant of machinery, beginning with a hammer and screwdriver. Wives say nothing about the times they have quietly fixed the screen door or tightened the hinge on the bathroom cabinet or even put up a modest shelf over the sink. Little children complain that big children run away from them. "They won't let us play their games." Big children say little children don't know how to play the particular game. "They don't understand." When a grown-up suggests that they play house, father, mother, and children, they say house is boring. As indeed it often is.

Such family crises, small as they are, occur every day. Sometimes the familiar is expressed with freshness and force. A New York boy of 10 wants to form a Children's Organization for Peace and Brotherhood, members of which would be eight to 12 years old. His name is Stephen Antonakas; he likes soccer and football, rock and coin collections, and Peanuts, the comic strip. Yet his dream is not only of brotherhood but of brotherhood helped along by the power of children to combine and express their desires. "Children," Stephen said, "could change America if their feelings got widespread."

Stephen picked the age group of eight to 12 because after that you are a teen-ager and "you often hear about teen-agers taking dope and mugging people." "I think we could get people to realize what's been happening. Children are just not recognized as people. They are not allowed to take part in anything that's happening just because we're young." "When you're young, you don't really understand how people can kill each other. When you get older you get spoiled."

It is sad to relate that so far Stephen has been able to convert only one friend to his point of view. One hopes there will be more. Stephen's opinions are well worth consideration. Although his aspirations are unusual for a child, his situation is only too common. Of course children are not treated as people. "You wouldn't understand." How often we have said it.

If instead of including this cliché with all the other family clichés, we could think of the age group eight to 12 as containing innocence and charity and wisdom, if we could believe with Stephen that these are the years before people get spoiled and hence important years, it is just possible that Stephen's current Children's Crusade might lead us back to the sanity we often seem to have lost.

Politics Still a Man's Game States Political Scientist

Women are not becoming more influential in politics, but actually are losing influence, according to political scientist Martin Gruberg of Wisconsin State University. The reason for this, Gruberg asserts, is that both men and women — especially women — believe more than ever that "woman's place is in the home."

Writing in his new book, Women in American Politics, published this month (April) by Academia Press, Oshkosh, Wis., Gruberg said that American women do not actually have the "unseen power" that many people believe they have, in politics or in any other area. Rather, they are a majority group that is treated like a minority. Women are discriminated against in every field where they try to compete with men, especially in politics, where virtually every woman who has achieved high political office has succeeded because of her close association with a successful male politician.

The fact is that a great many people in America would not vote for a woman for any office, if a male candidate is also on the ballot. Gruberg said. Americans do not really have much confidence in their women, stereotyping them as emotional, illogical, and lacking in seriousness. Politics is still considered to be "man's work," and women are still valued more for their ornamental appeal than for their brains or efficiency.

Gruberg's assessment of the female political role is not entirely pessimistic, however. He believes that women represent a huge reservoir of untapped talent and brainpower, that is now so badly needed that America can no longer afford to act as though it does not exist. In the future, Gruberg predicts, women will continue to demand equality of opportunity, and eventually will get it.

Gruberg's book, Women in American Politics, is not only an evaluation of women's voting behavior and political achievements, but is a sourcebook of reference facts relating to a great many individual women who have been politically influential at national, state and local levels. The book also presents an evaluation of the work of many different women's organizations, and discusses some aspects of women's political status and achievements in other countries.

Are You Nudging Middle Age Yet?

By GAY PAULEY

UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — "Forty-two in daylight, thirty-five in lamplight, and twenty-five or what you will in a blonde wig and the spotlight."

Dorothy Sawyers put the problem of a woman's added years in her "In The Teeth of the Evidence" in 1940.

I fell to thinking of Miss Sawyers' comments on what a bright light can do to show up the years. A dim one to dim them, as I observed reluctantly another milestone—a birthday. Birthdays seem to arrive faster these days. They are fine when you can hardly wait to grow up, are traumatic experiences after you are grown and moving toward the middle years.

One comfort is that middle age is being pushed farther and farther into the fore as man's life span increases. Small comfort, though as you see the lines today that weren't there last year.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
This cute idea was given to me by a young newlywed. When hanging crisscross curtains, pull up the top ruffle of the curtain next to the window so that it stands up at the TOP of the window and looks just like a top double-ruffle! It adds so much to the window.

Mrs. J. Bukemose
Now that's what I call real hunky-dory, and you're an absolute angel pie for passing it on.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I put a coat or two of asphalt roofing paint on the inside bottom and lower sides of my garbage and trash cans and let it dry thoroughly to prevent rusting. Frank Gullette

Yes, you're nudging middle age if you look at those lines and say, "oh, they're a sign of character. They come from living."

You're nudging middle age if you examine the mirror the gray strands and console yourself that it's a face-softening look.

You're nudging middle age when:
You resolve to get the weight back to your "fightin'" trim of the college years and start by deliberately buying a couple of dresses two sizes too small.

When you decide black is a difficult color to wear.
You wish that relatives and friends would forget cards and gifts and if there's a cake you insist that it have only one candle on it.

You get a physical and insist on an electrocardiogram.

You remember Major Bowes, the Sons of the Pioneers and Shep Fields and his Rippling Rhythm.

You don't chase dirt as ferociously around the house.

You go out and buy a whole new set of highly touted face creams.

Have more trouble reading the numbers on the buses and subways.

Wedding Announced

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Lisbeth Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Tucker of Gardiner, to Edward S. Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Tucker of Wallkill, in Rockville, Md.

The bride wore a street length dress of cotton-satin fashioned with an empire waist, long sleeves and a stand-away collar.

Upon their return from their wedding trip to Virginia, the couple was honored at a small reception for the family and friends given by the bride-

groom's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Terwilliger of Wallkill.

The bride is a graduate of New Paltz Central High School, attended the State University College at New Paltz and was graduated from Grace Downs Airline and Secretarial School in New York City. She was employed by Dr. Martin Rubin, New Paltz.

Her husband is a graduate of Wallkill Central High School and is employed by the New York Communications Co., Inc. of Poughkeepsie.

Mohaupt-McKinney Wedding Announced

Miss Sally Lee Mohaupt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Mohaupt of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, became the bride of Bruce Evan McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. McKinney of New Paltz, on Saturday, July 20, at St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Cuyahoga Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of embroidered Swiss organdy and a Dior bow held her cathedral length veil. She carried white roses and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Paul Harris of Encino, Calif., served as matron of honor for her sister. Attendants were Miss Linda McKinney, sister of the bridegroom of New Paltz; Mrs. Charles F. Mohaupt of Columbus, Ohio; Miss Carol Bayer of Cuyahoga Falls; and Miss Elayne Moline of Los Angeles, Calif.

T. Craig McKinney of New Paltz, served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Scott Yeager, Michael Stillman, both of New Paltz; Charles F. Mohaupt of Columbus, Ohio, brother of the bride; and Melvin Damski of Roslyn, Long Island.

After the wedding a reception for 200 guests was held at the Stan Hywet Carriage House, Akron.

The bride is a graduate of the College of Medicine, Ohio State University, and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

McKinney is a graduate of Colgate University, a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and employed in his father's publishing company, The Hudson Valley Newspapers, Highland.

After a trip to Cape Hatteras, the couple will reside in Highland.

Miss Debra Steeger Makes Dean's List

Named to the Dean's List at State University at Oneonta was Miss Debra Steeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steeger of Port Ewen.

Miss Steeger is majoring in Secondary Education.

TOBACCO STAINS

To remove tobacco stains, use rubbing alcohol. Apply with a washcloth or a piece of cotton. Rub stain. Before trying this, make sure that alcohol will not harm the fabric.

TRY TINTING

When white nylon or dacron turns yellow, try a tint. After wearing white nighties and slips for some time, tint them. Turquoise and peach turn out very well.

Hip Room, Bar on Crashers Some of Changes for GOP

By GEORGE J. MARDER

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The last week's bagel. The Republi- delegates will have more hip room, the demonstrations will be less synthetic and race track

These are a few of the changes Republicans are making so they can conduct their national convention here Aug. 5-8 "with the highest degree of decorum and dignity."

That was the goal of a convention reform committee established two years ago, after former President Dwight D. Eisenhower complained about the chaotic way in which political conventions were run. Eisenhower said there must be a better way to nominate a president and a vice president and decide on a statement of party principles.

He had in mind running conventions something like a special session of Congress, with the delegates sitting in a chamber, insulated from outside influence and interferences, and making their decisions after quiet and due deliberation.

Some Modification

However, the reforms adopted don't go quite that far.

Delegates will find their seats are wider, padded and have arm rests; there will be less milling on the floor; fewer distractions on the platform; hopefully shorter but more genuine demonstrations for "the man who..."

And that will be about all the changes.

The GOP reform committee was in favor of a limited amount of dignity, heretofore a relatively unfamiliar ingredient at political conventions. But it said that if "stripped of its glitter," a national convention "could well be incredibly uninteresting and dull."

So the committee sought a balance of glamour and decorum. But its recommendations went through a period of attrition in which some of the most drastic were abandoned or modified.

As a result, the gregarious delegates, of whom there are many, will not deliberate in ivory tower splendor even though there is a rule banning all but delegates from the section of the hall reserved for them.

Fewer Aides

There will be 1,000 honorary assistant sergeants of arms, 500 fewer than in 1964, in the hall. But instead of milling around to grab any empty seat, they will be assigned what convention arrangers call "observed view" seats.

Some of those seats will be behind the big television camera stand in front of the speaker's rostrum. The reform committee wanted that stand eliminated. The networks complained this would hurt their broadcasts of the convention. The stand remains.

As in the past, newsmen will be given passes to interview delegates on the floor. The reform committee had wanted delegates to talk to newsmen only off the floor. Reporters complained that interviews arranged under such cumbersome restrictions would be as stale as a ban on outside demonstrators. To see to it that convention tickets are not used over and over to bring in outsiders, different colored passes will be used for each day and stubs will be removed when presented. Anyone leaving the hall temporarily will have an indelible stamp placed on his hand, a system used at race tracks and dance halls to keep out free-loaders. A whole ticket, stub and all, and the indelible stamp, which can be seen only under an ultra-violet light, will be required for readmittance.

Freeman Pictorial Review of Servicemen

JOHN BARRIS

CHARLES SCULLY

THOMAS THOMPSON

TAKING COMMAND — Dr. Richard J. Messina (R) of Barclay Heights, Saugerties, is shown accepting the command of Naval Reserve Research Company 3-14 in Poughkeepsie from outgoing commander, Captain William W. Lang, Commander Messina, a dentist, was the company's executive officer for two years prior to his appointment as commander.

DANNY LYNCH

JAMES MALLOY

THOMAS TIERNEY

From Kingston to Vietnam, Ulster County's servicemen are stationed all over the world. They experience much the same trials, rewards, that other servicemen do. This week The Freeman presents a pictorial review of some of our area servicemen.

Army Sp/6 JOHN BARRIS is completing a tour in Vietnam with the 173rd Airborne Division, one of America's top fighting forces. While in Vietnam for the past 11 months, Barris was promoted twice. His wife and family live on Hill Street in Saugerties. He will be discharged from Ft. Lewis, Wash., on Aug. 24.

CHARLES SCULLY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scully of Sawkill recently joined the Navy and is now undergoing basic training at Great Lakes, Ill.

Home on leave is Marine Private THOMAS THOMPSON, the husband of the former Marion Schiskie of 7 St. James Court. Thompson is presently stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., awaiting entrance to Marine Corps Officer Candidate School at Quantico, Va. Prior to enlisting in the Marines, Thompson graduated from the State University College at New Paltz. The couple now reside in Moline, Ill.

Another youth headed for school is Private TARQUIN Y. WOODS, 19, of Kingston, who is enrolled in the Army Signal Corps School at Monmouth, N. J. Woods was a student at Kingston High School.

Two Air Force men have completed basic training. They are Airman DANNY LYNCH, son of Mrs. Joyce A. Browne of Minnewaska Trail, Gardiner, and Airman JAMES MALLOY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. Molloy of RD 1, Wallkill. Both will be going to Lowery, Colo., for training as aviation specialists. Malloy is a 1965 graduate of Wallkill Central High School while Lynch earned his diploma at Philip Schuyler High School in Albany last year.

THOMAS TIERNEY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. L. CREGO, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Crego of Lincoln Park Place and husband of the former Bonnie Clark of 29 Harwich Street, received his commission as an ensign at Newport, R. I.

Another promotion recorded this week was that of Army

John Duffy

Construction Apprentice John J. Duffy, USN, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Duffy of Route 2, Kingston, is serving with U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 121 at Gulfport, Miss. As a member of the battalion he is currently undergoing technical and military training in preparation for a deployment to South Vietnam.

BILLIE WINCHELL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Winchell of 210 Harwich Street, was wounded in Vietnam and is now in a hospital in Japan. No details are available on the extent of his injuries.

Guy Amato

Marine Private First Class Guy J. Amato, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Amato of Kerhonkson, is serving with a unit of the Force Logistic Command at Camp Brooks, Vietnam. As a member of the command, he is helping to provide logistic support to 80,000 Marines and Allied forces in the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam.

HOWARD CREGO

THOMAS FILOCCO

WALTER BUSCHNAGEL

Phillip Damms

Construction Apprentice Phillip Damms, USN, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Damms Sr. of Eight Oak Street, Ellenville, is serving with U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 121 at Gulfport, Miss. As a member of the battalion he is currently undergoing technical and military training in preparation for a deployment to South Vietnam.

John Linder

Equipment Operator Third Class John W. Linder, USN, 19, son of Mrs. Marjorie Jackson of Samsonville Road, Kerhonkson, is serving with U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 121 at Gulfport, Miss. As a member of the battalion he is currently undergoing technical and military training in preparation for a deployment to South Vietnam.

Bertram Van Demark Army PFC Bertram Van Demark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Van Demark of High Falls, recently graduated from mechanics school at Fort Dix, N. J. He was subsequently transferred to Fort Carson, Colo. where he shot sharpshooter with the M-14 and expert with the M-16. He is now in Vietnam.

Thomas Celuch

Navy Seaman Recruit Thomas F. Celuch, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Celuch of 23 Court Avenue, was selected honorman in his company after completing basic training at Great Lakes, Ill. Celuch is a graduate of the State University College at New Paltz. After a 14-day leave he will report to Beachmaster Training Unit No. 2 in Little Creek, Va.

"Give me 3 reasons why Coca-Cola comes in 'Money-Back' bottles."

To save you money."

What more can we say? A little. Like... "Money-Back" bottles really do save you money because all you're paying for is the delicious Coca-Cola that's inside. And when you've enjoyed all the delicious Coca-Cola in all of the bottles, just trot 'em back to where you shop for Coke and get your money back. Or trade 'em in on more Coke.

It'll save you money. It'll save you money. It'll save you money.

In Saugerties Area

Ninety Pct. Nix Gun Registration

Ninety per cent of the Saugerties area residents who replied to a recent questionnaire mailed out by Saugerties Area Sportsmen's Clubs are opposed to the registration of firearms.

The SASC, in its first report on the poll, said 70 of the 77 persons who answered were against gun registration. Five favored it and two gave qualified answers.

One person suggested registration "only in large cities" and the other said "pistols only."

Sixty nine of those who replied believed that stricter law enforcement of present laws would be a better solution to the gun dilemma. Six didn't think so.

Seventy four thought gun registration could lead to confiscation, three did not.

Sixty six thought the question of gun controls should be submitted to the electorate on Nov. 8. Eight disagreed, three others did not answer the question.

Sixty one believed gun registration would lead to confiscation.

Seventy four of the 77 believed a person should be allowed to own a gun. Sixty four of those quizzed owned more than one gun. Eleven thought gun registration should be a matter for the federal government; 27 said the states should handle it; 23 said both and 16 did not answer.

Of the 77 answering, all were United States citizens, 68 males and 8 females. One did not specify sex.

The committee has voted to send registered letters to all political candidates, asking them to publicly state their position on gun registration.

More answers to the questionnaire will be revealed at the group's next meeting on Aug. 18 at the clubhouse of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club.

Seniors Laurels To Dr. Moseley runnersup at The Twaalfskill Club.

Dr. Robert F. Moseley carded a net 81-17-64 to win the 1968 Seniors championship by a one-stroke margin over three.

Five Braves Join Him

Thomas Likely to Get HVRL All-Star Nod

Ron Thomas, Kingston Braves top pitcher with a 5-1 record, most likely will get the starters nod for the North in Saturday's North-South, Hudson Valley Rookie League All-Star game, set for 8 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

Thomas, who was supposed to hurl last night when the Braves demolished the Florida Comets, 17-0, on Bob Speirs' two-hitter at Dietz, will probably work tonight when the Braves host the New Windsor Rockets.

Thomas heads a list of six Braves chosen for duty in that Saturday All-Star clash, and Braves' coach Paul Giannuzzi, who will be an assistant in that contest to Dom Petruzzi of the Newburgh Atoms, says he'll have Thomas ready, providing he doesn't have to use the big right-hander in Friday's game against those same Comets.

Joining Thomas are Pete Watzka and Chick Boice in the infield, Ron Valle and Jerry Hawkins on the picket line and Glen Davis behind the plate.

ers; Dave Bliss, Missiles; Jim Jennings, Comets; Vince Roberto, Rockets; Dennis Coakley, Rockets.

In tonight's game, Frank McGowan is slated to go against the Rockets' Dennis Robinson. The Braves' pilot, however, may use Thomas if McGowan runs into any sort of trouble.

In last night's destruction job, the Braves pounded the Comets for 16 hits, including a double and a triple by Speirs, a double by Mike Patrick, a two-bagger by Bernie Schaeffer and a pair of doubles by Boice.

Speirs, 3-1, gave up singles to Larry Scheuermann and Art Dross in hurling the Braves 12th win.

Evens Standing

Silver Grill evened its Ellenville Softball League record at 6-6 last night, handing winless Eddie's Country Fair a 5-1 loss.

The Grill got two runs in the first inning and breezed home from there. John Pepper, who had a double two innings later, led off and was hit by losing pitcher Corky Van Vliet's pitch. He stole second and scored on Tom McCoey's double. Bill McCoey then hunted safely, sending Tom down to third, from where he tallied on Charlie Scott's groundout.

Silver Grill stands fourth in the five team loop, that shows a mad scramble for the top spot. Tonight's clash, pitting league leader, Schrade Walden (8-3) against third place, Wright's Service Station (7-4), could throw the lead into a three-way deadlock should Wright's win. In second place is Hotel Shanley with an 8-4 charting. A Wright's victory would give them all 8-4 marks.

MONTICELLO — The Rupe Parker, the sixth race on last night's Grand Circuit card at Monticello Raceway, a $17,480 test for two-year-old pacing colts and geldings, was taken in track and stakes record time by world champion Laverne Hanover. Trainer-driver Billy Haughton guided the undefeated and fantastic brown colt home three-parts of a length over Hammerin' Hank in 2:01.1, scoring Laverne's 11th straight triumph.

Going off the 1-9 favorite, the shortest possible odds on the board, Laverne, the only fresh man to ever race a mile under two minutes on a half-mile track, came the final quarter in a blazing :29.4, whacking a second and two-fifths off the track standard for two-year-olds, set two seasons ago at 2:02.3 by Romulus Hanover. Haughton, who didn't think the race would go as fast as it did, felt that Laverne loafed somewhat coming home and that the colt, by Tar Heel, out of Lavish Hanover by Adois, could have gone faster if pushed.

Laverne, one of a three-horse Haughton entry in the field of 11, let Hammerin' Hank (3), George Sholy driving, go the first quarter in a blistering :29.4.

Adour (7), with Jim Arthur driving, went outside and passed Hank for the lead at the half, which went in 1:01.1.

Carp, in the nearly 100 years they have been in American waters, have become a casebook example of the hazards involved in importing and stocking species of wildlife not native to the area.

In Europe and Asia, carp is one of the staple food fish. It was assumed they would be equally popular in the United States, according to State Conservation Department fish biologists.

Instead of becoming an asset in many waters, they instead developed into a prolific pest. This is especially so in our Hudson river and all of the reservoirs of the New York City water supply.

One of the biggest offenders, we believe, are the fishermen who, using live bait out of tackle shops, upon completing a day's fish, will dispose of their surplus bait with the remark: "It will make food for the ones we didn't catch." This is true to a degree, but what about those tiny carp that may be in the bait bucket? Some will survive and with their rapid growth will soon become abundant in some of our finest trout, bass and pike waters.

IT IS NOT UNCOMMON, early in the morning or early evening, to see carp as "big as your boat" (using a fisherman's term) churning in the coves of the Ashokan, making the water oily and turning up vegetation upon which many ducks feed. In their search for food, the carp disrupt spawning beds and eat eggs of the other fish and, in general, raise havoc with young fish fry.

We have found that many reclaimed ponds which prohibit the use of bait fish of any kind are already becoming infested with carp despite the efforts of the Conservation Department. It would be well for those who fish Echo Lake, near the Mead Mountain house, to be sure and destroy all bait fish, if they must be used, and not dispose of them in this fine brook trout lake, either dead or alive.

Much of the carp problem can be eliminated by increased fishing pressure on this species. We are told they make an excellent TV snack if, after cooking on a board, you discard the carp and eat the board.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW that rabbits and hares are not one and the same animal. Rabbits are born blind, naked and in a covered nest. Hares are born with eyes open, fully furred, in above ground depressions and generally move away from the birth point within the first 24 hours.

Although once eliminated from the state, about 20,000 turkeys are harvested annually by New York state hunters. And the future looks are even better, as new, promising ranges are being stocked with trapped and transferred birds.

We may add that, if you are planning a holiday turkey, via the gun, be sure and consult the game warden in the area you are to hunt, since there are only a few open counties where taking is legal. Some of the few in nearby Happy Hollow have been taken and proved to be mighty high-priced holiday feasting for the "city-slicker," who doesn't know a turkey from a buck deer.

A FEW SHORT TAKES:

Frank Hornbeck of Ellenville sends a note about a trout bonanza at his favorite spot—Indian River at Indian Lake. Using his son Billie's hand tied flies, he bagged limits on three successive days. With the river low, and despite the warm weather, the fish were most cooperative. "I never saw so many trout in one river," said Frank. Sure hope they stay there for our September vacation.

Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club members preparing for their annual clambake Sunday, Aug. 18. Chairman Vic Locke reports a brisk ticket sale and if you plan to attend, get your reservations in early. The number of seats is strictly limited.

Dr. Hamilton Boyd takes time out from his busy schedule, Aug. 15 for a trip to the north country, hunting for Dall sheep and big, brown bear. Also intends to accommodate some of those big fish which are just waiting for some good Kingston bait.

OLD RIP SEZ: Wouldn't it be a nice gesture, if you hunt woodchucks, to first ask the land owner's permission and make sure you know what you're shooting at.

Are copycats as good as Tiger Paws?

We made a terrible mistake in putting red circles on our Tiger Paws.TM
It made Tiger Paws so easy to imitate. And it made it easy for some dealers who sell these copycats to palm them off as Tiger Paws. Who do they think they're fooling? You.
And they'll continue to fool you until you discover that your "Tiger Paws" aren't living up to their reputation.
How could they? Copycats only look like Tiger Paws.
Friends, be warned:
Tiger Paws are made only by Uniroyal. And sold only by Uniroyal dealers.
And anybody who tells you different, isn't your friend.

By BOB THOMAS

HONOLULU (AP) — "I'm the guy those boots were made for walking on," cracks Tommy Sands, and the night club audience shares his rueful humor.

Most of the nightly visitors to the Outrigger Hotel ballroom understand the significance of the remark. Singer Sands is the exhusband of Nancy Sinatra, who achieved success of her own with the man-taunting "These Boots Are Made for Walking" ("and one of these days these boots are going to walk all over you.") During his new night club act, Sands refers to his marriage and to onetime associates Dean Martin and Sammy Davis but avoids mention of his former father-in-law, Frank Sinatra.

Light Touch

It's all done with a light touch, and the Waikiki audiences applaud Sands' patter and his professional way with a song. What they don't realize is the underlying drama of the singer's return to show business.

Sands himself talks little about the past, and particularly about Hollywood, where he found little happiness. He is more concerned about the future—and Hawaii.

"Ever since I first came here in 1957, I felt this was the place where I wanted to be," he remarked as he sat bare-chested in his dressing room after his first show of the evening. "Ever time I returned here, I realized that the people were warm and genuine. And so in May of last year, I gave up everything to come here and live.

"Throughout my career, the thing that gave me the most satisfaction was writing. I wrote songs and I sold them, but I also wrote poetry and movie scripts which I didn't sell. I realized that if I was to get anywhere with my writing, I would need to educate myself—I never even graduated from high school. So I got myself a tutor and I earned my high school diploma. Then in September I will enroll at the University of Hawaii in an English course, and I intend to stick with it until I get my master's degree."

Has Defied Formula

This is a curious turn in Sands' career, but then, his career has defied formula. New York-born, he started singing at 6, left high school to go on the road and six months later starred on television in a play, "The Singing Idol." A movie version followed, and Tommy Sands became one of the bright young singers of the post-Presley period.

His marriage to Nancy Sinatra helped his fame. But Sands was disturbed by whispers that his career had been aided by his famous father-in-law.

After the divorce, Sands seemed to drop out of sight. His transfer from the hurly burly of Hollywood to the relaxed atmosphere of Hawaii appears to have made him a happy man.

Searchers Seek Missing Teacher

DUBOIS, N.Y. (AP) —

Searchers struggled up 13,758-foot Gannett Peak, Wyoming's highest mountain, Tuesday in an attempt to find a Buffalo, N.Y., schoolteacher who left here July 14 to scale the mountain and never returned.

Albert Scibetta, 28, told the owners of his Dubois motel he would climb the peak and be back within five days. Deputy Sheriff George Johnson of Dubois said.

The searchers located his automobile Monday at Trail Lake Camp, the jumping off point for climbing the mountain.

In Buffalo, Scibetta's mother, Mrs. Thomas Scibetta, said her son was a skilled climber who had ascended Switzerland's famous Matterhorn and accompanied expeditions to Alaska's rugged glacier country.

His sister Carol, a senior at Buffalo State College, said, "I know he'll come out of this all right." She said her brother made a 6,500 mile journey across the United States on a motor scooter five years ago and climbed the walls of the Grand Canyon in 120-degree heat during the trip.

"He said it was like scaling the walls of the world's largest steam bath," she said.

Mobilize Reservists
MANILA (UPI) — The Philippine armed forces announced Tuesday night it would begin immediately a "paper mobilization" of the nation's one million military reservists.

Brig. Gen. Ruben Maglaya, Philippine army commander, said it had nothing to do with the nation's dispute with Malaysia over the territory of Sabah but was a requirement of the new defense budget which says the armed forces must speed up development of a "citizens army" composed of reservists.

Use for Rate

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The jaffkine Institute has evolved a plan for the eradication of rats, which eat away 10 per cent of India's foodgrains.

It launched an advertising campaign pointing out the fact that rat products can now be sold commercially. Rat meat is best for pets like cats and dogs. Rat skin is very useful for wristwatch straps, kid gloves and ladies' purses.

Four Upstaters Are Drowned

A Lake Erie boating accident took the lives of a father and son, and two 15-year-old Niagara Falls boys died in the Niagara River Tuesday in separate incidents.

Carroll M. Goerke, 40, and his son Timothy, 7, of the Buffalo suburb of Lancaster, drowned when their 14-foot boat overturned while they were fishing in Lake Erie about 1½ miles off the village of Angola.

Walter M. Goerke of the Buffalo suburb of Clarence, Carroll's father and Timothy's grandfather, was rescued after he clung to the capsized motorboat for several minutes.

Paul Diehl, 15, drowned while swimming in the Little River section of the Niagara River above the falls. Minutes later, police said, another 15-year-old, Arthur Hagopian, was swept in to the lower Rapid while swimming in the pool below the falls.

They said neither boys' body was recovered.

The Goerkes lived at 5859 Broadway.

Diehl lived at 8105 Stephenson St., and Hagopian lived at 344 Memorial Parkway.

Burt Lancaster
The Swimmer
Suggested for Mature Audiences

"Chilling Commentary on the 'As do few movies, 'The hung-up man of our affluent Swimmer' stays in the memory society! The triumph, to be like an echo that never quite shared in major part by Burt disappears! Has the shape of Lancaster, who gives perhaps an open-ended hallucination, the best performance of his life in grim, disturbing and sometimes funny!"

Over Court Nominees

Claims More Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The opposition leader to President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations says his forces have doubled in recent weeks and have more than enough votes to keep the Senate from voting on the appointments.

"I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., Tuesday about the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice. Griffin said 40 senators now oppose the two.

He did not name the senators who he claims have increased the opposition strength from the original 19.

Claims 34 Votes

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against choking off the filibuster.

Griffin commented in a speech to the National Press Club while members of the Senate Judiciary Committee gathered in secret in the Senate's basement recording studio to view three films which one called "hardcore pornography" and another labeled "crude vulgarity."

The question of pornography has taken center stage in the drawn-out hassling over Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren. One Republican has charged on the Senate floor that Fortas' votes on obscenity have helped "destroy community morals" in the United States.

Recess on Friday

Congress recesses Friday for the two national political conventions, returning in September. There appears to be no chance for action on the nominations until then, although committee Chairman James O.

Eastland, D-Miss., called a meeting today to consider the Fortas appointment.

The committee has put off any action on Thornberry's nomination until after the Senate confirms or denies Fortas.

President Johnson has accepted Warren's retirement effective upon selection of a qualified successor, meaning one that has been approved by the Senate.

Warren says he will stay on if Fortas, an associate justice since 1965, is rejected.

One of the three films viewed in the small basement room was "0.7."

Peters New President At Kingston Hospital

Wilbur R. Peters of Hurley, was named president of the Board at Kingston Hospital. A Freeman story yesterday listed the appointments, but the headline in the early copies of the paper listed the men as named to the Board of Trustees, according to a recent announcement from the hospital.

Jane Russell, Waterfield Split

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former film glamour girl Jane Russell has divorced her ex-football star husband, Bob Waterfield, ending a 25-year marriage.

Miss Russell, 47, testified in divorce court Tuesday that her husband was cold and indifferent. He had filed a cross-complaint charging her with habitual intemperance.

Miss Russell was given custody of her adopted children, Thomas, 18, and Tracy, 17. Waterfield won custody of their third adopted child, Robert, 12.

Miss Russell received a $110,000 house in Newport Beach and Waterfield, 48, received the $55,000 family home in Sherman Oaks.

Miss Russell continues to receive $900 a week under her contract with Howard Hughes, who launched her movie career by starring her in "Outlaw."

"Outlaw" premiered in 1943. That year Miss Russell married Waterfield, the star quarterback of UCLA's vaunted football team.

Keep It Small
NEW DELHI (AP) — The federal Housing Ministry plans to build cottage type bungalows for ministers and senior officials, housing minister Jagannath Rao said.

He said the original scheme of building multistoried buildings did not find favor with ministers because of a fear that they "would lose their identity."

Study Abroad
NEW DELHI (AP) — Nearly 20,000 Indians are abroad engaged in study, research or training in science. More than half of them are in the United States.

An official survey showed 90 per cent of Indians studying abroad are concentrated in three countries—the United States, Britain and West Germany.

Dear Abby

Better Wait Than Be Sorry

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and Chuck is 23. We've been married going on five years and we have three children and another on the way. We were so much in love we could hardly wait to get married, but a lot of things have changed all that. We have never had a place of our own since we've been married. We have lived with my folks or Charlie's, mainly because Charlie can't seem to hold a job, so I have to work, and we need someone to look after the kids.

On top of that, Charlie still runs with the guys he ran with before we were married, and he just doesn't seem to want to settle down to married life. We have separated twice on that account and I can see it coming again. If it weren't for the kids, I'd leave him sure. I just might anyway. Have you advice for a girl who messed up her life as badly as I?

DEAR OLD: There is not much advice for a young woman in your position but your experience could serve as a warning signal for lots of 17 and 18-year-olds who are "so much in love" they can hardly wait to get married. You are still young enough, however, to make a better life for yourself, so if leaving Charlie is in the cards, don't wait another five years.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do with a husband like mine? Last night I served fresh raspberry pie, which has always been one of my specialties. And all of a sudden my husband, whom I shall call "Dr. Jekyll," turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for raspberry pie as it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth. Then he said he never could understand why I've been showing it down his throat for 28 years!

Abby, I always thought my husband liked raspberry pie. I felt so hurt I cried myself to sleep. Was I wrong, or was he?

RASPBERRY FIGHT
DEAR FIGHT: If a man doesn't care for something his wife serves him, he shouldn't wait for 28 years to tell her about it. Tell Mr. Hyde you're no mind reader, and serve him baby food.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband wasn't feeling well so he went to a doctor. The doctor checked him over and told him he needed an operation. My husband never went back to that doctor, and he never had the operation. Today he says he never felt better in his life. How can you account for this?

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Either your husband didn't need the operation in the first place, or he still needs it. If you love him, get him to a doctor for another checkup. If he's lost confidence in the first one, let him try another.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST FOR THE RECORD" IN BOSTON: Yes, I write all my own answers. A ghost writer hasn't a ghost of a chance with me.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOKLET "WHAT TEEN AGERS WANT TO KNOW" SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069.

(Hear DEAR ABBY Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 A.M., WKNY, 1490)

Bridge

Expert Errors Are Identical

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Today's hand, played in the recent bridge Olympiad, shows that even the best players in the world make mistakes.

The bidding and entire play went the same way at both tables. The first trick saw the heart jack covered by the queen, king and ace. The ace of trumps was cashed at trick two to guard against the possibility of West holding all four trumps. When East followed, the winning line of play would be to lead a club toward dummy. West's best play would be to duck, whereupon the 10 should be played from dummy. South would cash dummy's queen of trumps and his own king before leading another club.

West best play would be to take the ace of clubs and throw South in dummy with another club, whereupon South would lead a diamond from dummy and finesse either the queen or 10. It wouldn't matter. West would be on lead and have to play away from his remaining diamond honor or lead a club to give South a ruff and discard.

Both declarers made the mistake of leading a spade to the queen at trick three and taking the double diamond finesse at trick four. Each West player was on lead with the jack and showed that their defense was up to world's championship form. Each led his jack of trumps.

Each South was in his own hand and could do no better than to lead a club to dummy's 10. This left the declarers in dummy at the wrong time. The best they could make was to try the finesse of the diamond queen. West had the second defensive trick with the king and it was a simple matter to take the third trick with the club ace and let East make his 10 of hearts in the cool of the evening.

FROM 10,000 MILES AWAY IN MADAGASCAR COMES HIS LOOK-ALIKE, THE LEMUR OF THE MONKEY CLAN.

Today's Word

By ROBERT FYNNE and ERNEST PETERSAK

TWO THINGS IN LIFE YOU CAN'T AVOID - ineluctable (in-luk-tuh-b'l)

unavoidable

The high school senior was told by his uncle, a man of great education, that it was almost an ineluctable law of human nature for all young men to love foolishly. Realizing that a meeting with his worst political enemy would be ineluctable if he attended the dance, the mayor decided he would stay home that evening. The outspoken cynic proclaimed that two things in life were ineluctable—taxes and death.

Rick Du Brow

Battle Royal for Mondays

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In the past television season, CBS-TV's Monday night lineup demolished the opposition and earned the network ratings supremacy.

The lineup consisted of "Gunsmoke," the Lucille Ball and Andy Griffith series, "Family Affair," and the Carol Burnett show.

In the coming season, however, a battle royal is shaping up for Monday night ratings supremacy—and the outcome may determine which network scores best in the overall statistical competition.

CBS-TV's chief challenge will come from NBC-TV, which lost out last season with "The Monkees." "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." gave way at midseason to "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," and the other three series simply won't be back in the fall.

Office Cat

Child (to Santa Clause) — If your workshop is at the North Pole, how come everything I got last year was made in Japan?

When all else fails, read the instructions.

Mr. Black (to a friend) — One of our youngsters was hanging his head as if in silent prayer after the rest of the family had finished saying grace at the table.

When our other children noticed her brother sitting with his head bowed she remarked: Little Amy — He's praying for second helpings now.

A neurotic is, according to Uncle Buckle, a fellow with both feet planted firmly in mid-air.

Small girl showing bathroom scales to playmate: Little Ellen — All I know is you stand on it and it makes you angry.

Of course — everyone knows that you can't take it with you but it's a keen satisfaction to know you've got it when you'll need it.

Ep — A woman can be mighty sweet when she wants. Cy — True, and the more she wants the sweeter she can be.

For Christmas the kids want something that'll separate the men from the toys.

She wept brokenheartedly — not so much because he no longer lived — but because he didn't know how to live while he was alive.

WHY WE SAY

THE REAL MCCOY

FROM BOXING: This expression alludes to a boxer in the 1890s known as "Kid McCoy." So many people imitated McCoy's style that boxing enthusiasts became angry and would raise the cry that they wanted "the real McCoy," and not just an imitator.

Laugh-In Successful

"Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In," however, will indeed be back, and it has been a phenomenal success against the potent CBS-TV Monday pairing of "Gunsmoke" and "The Lucy Show."

Furthermore, NBC-TV will follow "Laugh-In" with its new Monday night movie series—the third weekly motion picture for the network, which also shows feature films on Tuesdays and Saturdays.

In addition, NBC-TV will precede "Laugh-In" with the long-running Barbara Eden series, "I Dream of Jeannie"—a long run in television meaning anything you can still remember the title of.

So NBC-TV will go with three shows on Monday nights against CBS-TV's five. And many eyes are on CBS-TV to see whether Griffith's retirement from his series, plus the scheduling of a replacement show, will hurt the network's lineup.

The new series, starring Ken Berry, is called "Mayberry

R.F.D." and is similar in tone to the Griffith show, and in fact is set in the same southern locale.

Added Attractions

ABC-TV doesn't figure, at this point, to give real ratings competition to CBS-TV and NBC-TV on Mondays, but it will drain off some of the audience with the following lineup:

"The Avengers," "Peyton Place," "The Outcasts" (a new hour western with white and Negro stars) and "The Big Valley."

Lucille Ball, however, may find herself a little more pressed in the ratings than usual. "Laugh-In" has done so well against her that there was talk of moving her series. Now she will also face the competition of "Peyton Place."

Miss Ball, however, usually manages to meet every challenge. She always seems to have another ace up her sleeve. In the coming season, for instance, her son and daughter will join her as regulars on her series.

Risky, All-Out Try

For Nixon on First

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's top strategists now favor a risky, all-out attempt to win the Republican presidential nomination on the first ballot when the GOP convention votes one week from today.

The former vice president will make the final decision himself early next week on whether to attempt to grab off the nomination at the first chance or play it cool for a second ballot opportunity.

He will lean heavily in this decision on the advice of his campaign manager, John N. Mitchell, Richard Kleindienst, Robert Ellsworth, R. J. Haldeman, and Herbert G. Klein, his press director. They make up the inner circle of Nixon's advisers.

There are some out-sized political risks involved in a blitz attempt. Failure conceivably could cost Nixon the nomination.

The tactical move would involve riding roughshod over favorite son candidates who might be more amenable to supporting

Nixon after they have had a moment of glory on national television with formal nomination for the nation's highest office.

Beyond this, however, lies the political desire of these heads of state delegations to claim they supplied the necessary votes for the nomination of the party's standard bearer when he needed them.

A first-ballot victory would subject Nixon to charges that "bosses" had chosen the nominee without free consideration by the delegates of whether he was the man most likely to win in November.

The arguments against this put forth by the Nixon advisers were simple: No contender bows to protocol if the nomination is within his grasp. Nixon won all of the GOP primaries and thus is the popular choice of a majority of delegates.

Backers of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller indicated they hope Nixon puts all of his chips on the line at the start.

William E. Miller, former party national chairman and the 1964 nominee for vice president, said the Governor's camp is ready to combat alternate strategy moves by Nixon.

"As we see it," Miller said in an interview, "Nixon has only two courses open. He can go for the nomination on the first ballot or he can sit tight and let the favorite sons have their votes and then try it on the second ballot."

"If he doesn't break apart the favorite son vote on the first roll call, then he's in trouble. If he decides to wait until the second ballot then he will be in trouble because I don't think the favorite sons are going with him. If it gets by the second ballot, Rockefeller is going to be the nominee."

Both sides agreed privately that the key individuals involved in this tug of war are Govs. Ronald Reagan of California, George Romney of Michigan, James A. Rhodes of Ohio and Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland.

Miller spoke hopefully of Rockefeller's chances of convincing the delegates he was the nominee they needed to win in November.

Miller said a poll taken by the Rockefeller group showed that as head of the ticket the New York governor would pull marginally through in congressional races in New Jersey, Ohio, North Dakota, Kentucky, Michigan and Rhode Island who would lose if Nixon were the nominee.

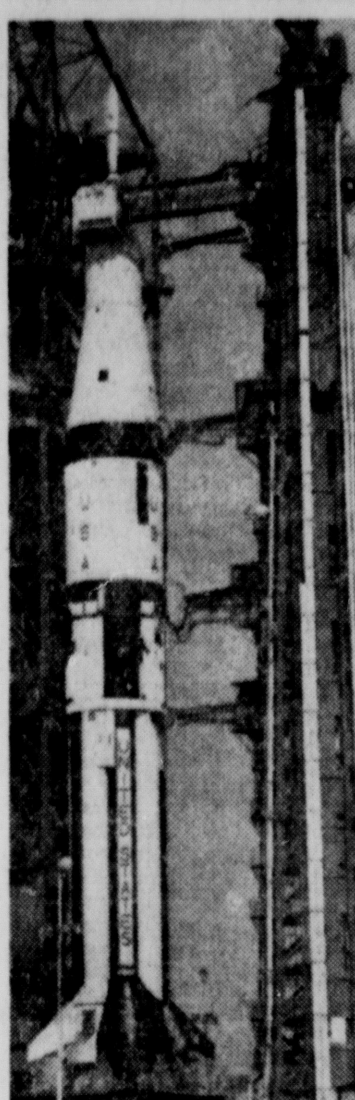

"These congressional contests are going to have impact on delegations from these states," Miller said. "These people want a local winner."

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City came to town to testify before the convention's platform committee. He proclaimed on arrival that he doesn't want to be anybody's runningmate.

In sharp contrast, Gov. Claude V. Kirk Jr. of Florida, who has come out for Rockefeller, told a reporter: "I'd even run on Harold Stassen's ticket."

Stassen, a perennial candidate for any available office, told a news conference he was confident he would emerge as the compromise presidential nominee.

Lindsay, who has been mentioned as a possible choice by Nixon for second place on the ticket because of the mayor's appeal to Negro and low income voters, was more emphatic than usual in saying that he doesn't want to be considered for the job.

Hubert Jabs Administration

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today jabbed at both the Johnson administration and Congress in charging not enough has been done to combat hunger in the nation.

Humphrey, returning from a four-day campaign swing in California in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the nation needs "a strong president."

Humphrey's remarks were prepared for a National Association of Counties meeting.

He said neither Congress nor the administration—specifically the Department of Agriculture—had done enough to combat hunger in the United States.

"It is immoral to allow some babies to suffer from malnutrition while others in our population are concerned about the dangers of overeating," said Humphrey, and he added:

"Let me be perfectly candid—neither Congress nor the United States Department of Agriculture have made an adequate response to the severe problems of hunger and malnutrition we know exist in America."

Humphrey said there was no reason for anyone to be hungry in an land of "unequalled wealth and agriculture productivity."

The Humphrey campaign hopes to get a refueling of dollars at a $500-a-place dinner to night in Washington.

Humphrey and his aides have acknowledged campaign money problems. Humphrey said Tuesday that the pinch had forced a cancellation, at least temporarily, of some advertising.

However, Humphrey is known to be watching over the money raising machinery himself and expects the situation to be eased if not remedied once the conventions are over. In addition, aides hope that tonight's affair will bring in as much as $1.5 million.

Ray's Hall Plan: B'way East Land

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Kingston Common Council will receive two resolutions concerning a new city hall Downtown—one to buy the land from the Urban Renewal Agency, the other to hire an architect.

A Tentative $25,000

The price of the 3.25 acres north of Meadow Street along Broadway has been tentatively set by the Urban Renewal Agency at $25,000. The resolution calls for the city to contract for the land with the actual outlay of cash expected after the first of the year.

The other resolution asks for the hiring of Albert E. Milliken, Kingston architect, whose fee for designing the $1,093,000 city hall has been set at $65,000.

The resolutions are jointly sponsored by the City Hall Committee with Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) as its chairman and the Finance, Ways and Means Committee with Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward) as its chairman.

It appears Epstein's committee will approve the resolutions for a floor vote but there is serious doubt whether Mancuso's committee will give its approval.

Opposed to Both

Chairman Mancuso said today he is opposed to both resolutions and was supported by a fellow committee member, John Naccarato (R-Third Ward).

Mancuso wants the whole city hall issue given to the public for a referendum. "An issue of this magnitude and with the amount of money involved should not be left in the hands of 13 aldermen. The people should vote on it," Mancuso told The Freeman today.

Mancuso said the taxpayers of the city were overburdened now and would probably not approve of another major expenditure by the city government. "I don't think 13 men should obligate 29,000 people to an expenditure as large as this," Mancuso said.

Naccarato concurred with Mancuso, stating, "With the way city finances are now, I can't see going into any major projects, with the taxpayers' money."

In addition, Naccarato was opposed to building a city hall Downtown, which he termed "a blight area." Said Naccarato, "Urban Renewal is at a standstill. Just take a ride Downtown and look. It's the same all over the country. We could wind up stuck down there."

Will Refuse to Sign

Naccarato said he would refuse to sign the committee report that would bring it out for a floor vote. If Mancuso also refuses to sign, the resolution would remain in committee unless the rest of the Council votes to relieve the committee of its duties, a seldom used maneuver, especially on major issues.

It has been estimated that a million dollar bond issue would have to be floated for the new hall over a 30-year period. The cost on the tax rate has been pegged at about one dollar per thousand by officials at city hall.

There has been extensive preliminary work on the city hall project including soil tests, site studies and the drawing up of plans. These plans were presented to the Council last month by Milliken.

City Engineer Thomas Wickman told The Freeman today that soil tests were taken to a depth of 40 feet. No rock was hit which led Milliken to design a building which takes into account the generally weak base of the Downtown area.

Before Milliken was hired for his study Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan had estimated the city needed 19,000 square feet of space for a new hall at a cost, including parking, of $500,000. Milliken's figures were well above Garraghan's.

Milliken put the city's space requirements for an expected population of 40,000, at 36,813 square feet. The cost was pegged at $1,093,951 to which would be added the cost of the land ($25,000), cost of paying for 120 cars ($16,000) and the architect's fee ($65,000).

Renovation: $1,459,601

The cost of renovating the old building at 408 Broadway was estimated by Milliken to be $1,459,601.

The city, by building the city hall Downtown, would virtually wipe out its Urban Renewal debt for Broadway East, which is almost $900,000. The city received a credit of $500,000 for the John F. Kennedy School and could expect another $250,000 from the city hall. Municipalities are allowed credits of up to 25 per cent on each building project against their over-all urban renewal dollar obligation.

If the Council approves both resolutions Tuesday night construction would probably not begin until next spring and estimates are that it would take about a year to complete.

Reagan and Lindsay:

Contrasting Plank Views

By LEWIS GULICK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Two Republican stars—Ronald Reagan and John V. Lindsay—descended on GOP platform writers today with contrasting calls for 1968 party planks.

For the California governor, whose hat is in the presidential ring at least as his state's favorite son candidate, the accent lay on firm defense against communism abroad and sound finances and law and order at home.

Arthur S. Flemming, speaking for the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, urged the platform workers Tuesday to make a "vigorous and convincing endorsement" of the sweeping recommendations of the National Commission on Civil Disorders for action to wipe out poverty in the seething slums.

...the Congress has been unwilling to move with a sense of urgency in this direction" said Flemming, who is president of the University of Oregon and a former secretary of health, education, and welfare.

"In fact, in such areas as employment, education and welfare, the movement has been in the opposite direction. This is an unsatisfactory response to the eruptions in our cities..."

Dr. Flemming, a native of Kingston, is the son of the late Surgeon General and Mrs. Harry H. Flemming of the city.

"About one issue there should be no confusion," Reagan said. "Prevent the expansion of communist power. It is time to tell friend and foe alike: we are in Vietnam because it is in our national interest to be there."

And "here at home," he said, "we must recover the will necessary to make our streets safe, our cities free from violence and our campus centers for learning rather than for outrage and insurrection."

Stress on Reforms
For the New York mayor, who says he's for New York

not himself as president, the stress was on reforms to cure city ills and poverty at home and on flexible diplomacy abroad.

"We can begin by writing a vigorous platform that affirms the humane and financial commitment described by the Riot Commission: a commitment that this (Johnson) administration has scorned," he said.

"It is time to make good the promise of American democracy to all citizens."

On Vietnam, Lindsay said "the Republican party should assume forthright leadership of the cause of ending this unwanted war on the other side of the world."

And U.S. diplomacy, he said, should recognize that in a changing world, relations with Russians and Chinese are not "fixed forever in an unalterable pattern."

Reagan and Lindsay spoke in separate, prepared statements as the Republican Platform

Committee neared the end of open hearings on the party's policy document for this campaign year.

On Thursday the group plans to start closed plank-writing sessions amid indications that despite some disputes here and jabbed at both the Johnson administration and Congress in charging not enough has been done to combat hunger. Stories on Page 40.

there, the drafters can agree on a platform acceptable to any of the candidates.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, a key Rockefeller backer on the committee, said "obviously if they turn back to the 19th century in the platform there will be a fight." But he did not think such a battle would develop.

Avoids Specifics

Reagan said he was not getting into specifics, which sometimes cause controversy. "I have intentionally today talked in some generalities because I believe our party should be bound by principles, not just details," he said.

Both Reagan and Lindsay—who were separated in their scheduled morning appearances by an intervening foreign policy witness, former Ambassador to Mexico Robert C. Hill—joined in stiff assaults on the Democrats.

Reagan accused the Johnson and Kennedy administrations of weakness in foreign affairs, of allowing U.S. military might to slip, of squandering of federal dollars and allowing riots and insurrection.

"These are not the hallmarks of a great society; but they are the heritage of the Democrat years," he said.

Cong Flushed Like Quail

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

SAIGON (UPI) — American forces made their deepest drive of the war into the Mekong Delta Tuesday and with Vietnamese marines flushed out the Viet Cong "like quails and foxes," killing 93 of them, U.S. spokesmen said today.

U.S. Navy gunboats carried the 750 Vietnamese into battle and provided firepower support as the Marines slogged through waist-deep mud into the Viet Cong hideout.

The Allied offensive into the canals and waterways of the Cai Lon River 100 miles southwest of Saigon "flushed (the Viet Cong) out like quails and foxes," Brig. Gen. Elbie Roberts said.

Far to the north, military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese were rebuilding their A Shau Valley supply stronghold to support an impending offensive in the northern war zone, where senior officials said 100,000 Communist soldiers are poised. U.S. B52s hit the valley Tuesday night and today in the first strikes there in three months.

Roberts, assistant commander of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division, said the 750 Vietnamese marines had to take the Viet Cong by surprise or lose them.

Meanwhile, at the 15th session of the Paris Vietnam talks, U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman accused North Vietnam of violating the 1962 Geneva agreement that guaranteed the sovereignty and neutrality of Laos.

Harriman, the U.S. chief negotiator, told newsmen that North Vietnam never kept the 1962 agreement for even one day.

He based his accusation on a white paper released last week by Laos Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Harriman also accused North Vietnam's Communist regime of depriving its people of freedom and ruling through "terror and butchery."

Settlement Sought

Czechs Hope to End Talks Today

CIERNA NAD TISOU, Czechoslovakia (UPI)—The three-day Czech-Soviet summit meeting ended today, and there were official indications the Czechs had won at least a period of grace from the Russians to continue their reform of Communism in Czechoslovakia.

CIERNA NAD TISOU, Czechoslovakia (UPI)—Czech Communist reformers want to wind up today their three-day-old crisis showdown with their former Soviet masters, party sources said.

But sources here and in Moscow said neither side wanted to break off the talks without a settlement to the split that has shaken Eastern Europe.

No official word of progress—or lack of it—has come out of the remodeled movie house where 16 Czechs led by First Secretary Alexander Dubcek and 13 Kremlin chiefs led by Soviet party First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev have been meeting since Monday.

The talks aimed at satisfying Soviet pressure for curtailing the Czech party reforms that the Russians fear is driving Czechoslovakia to capitalism and out of the East bloc military alliance. Failure to reach agreement could drive the Soviets into threatened armed intervention in this country, according to Moscow sources.

The Czech sources said Dubcek hoped for a windup late today.

They said he wants to go to

Bratislava to greet President Tito of Yugoslavia. Tito is coming in a show of support for the defiant Czechs.

The Russians have demanded the eight-month-old Czech Communist reform regime reimpose press censorship. They wanted Dubcek to fire aides the Russians regard as dangerously anti-soviet. They sought guarantees the Czechs will stick to the Soviet-dominated Warsaw Pact military alliance. Dubcek and his reformers came to this village on the Soviet border with vows of loyalty to Moscow but pledged to do nothing to spoil their popular reform program.

In Moscow, the Soviets announced that the anti-aircraft portion of their massive maneuvers—called in as a sort of big stick diplomacy during the talks with this little country—had ended.

Pontiff's Edict on the Pill-- Family Plans Impact Unlikely

By JACK R. MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pope Paul VI's birth control edict is not expected to have significant impact on the U.S. government's broad and costly family planning programs, say informed sources in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Many Desperate

Past experience has shown that most poor women, including Roman Catholics, are eager to obtain means of birth control, these sources say.

"Many are desperate to control the size of their families," said a well-placed source. "They otherwise have one baby every year, and that keeps them in poverty and it's bad for their health."

The source said that men, from the Pope down, "have always speculated on the moral and theological issues, but it's the women who bear the babies

—and they make the final decision."

HEW declined official comment on the Pope's encyclical released Monday forbidding Catholic women to use birth control pills or any other mechanical means of contraception.

No Figures Available

No figures are available on the number of Catholics among women eligible for family planning services under federally supported programs. But officials say Catholics probably comprise a distinct minority.

HEW officials point out, however, that there are sizeable concentrations of Catholics in low-income brackets; Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans.

Mrs. Katherine B. Gettlinger, HEW's deputy assistant secretary for population and family planning, noted in an interview that predominantly Catholic Puerto Rico has pioneered in family planning programs and they have been extremely popular. But, she said, "It's too early to tell how Catholic women will react to the Pope's statement."

Only Part Is Likely

The federal government provided about $28 million in birth control services last year.

President Johnson has asked for $56 million for the current fiscal year. Indications are that Congress will grant only part of the increase.

In another reaction to the Pope's pronouncement, 87 Roman Catholic theologians announced Tuesday in Washington that they were opposed to it and that they believe Catholic couples should use birth control techniques according to their own conscience.

"As Roman Catholic theologians, conscious of our duty and our limitations," they said, "we conclude that spouses may responsibly decide according to their conscience that artificial contraception in some circumstances is permissible and indeed necessary to preserve and foster the values and sacredness of marriage."

Sickler Ruled Sane to Stand Trial

Dutchess County Judge Joseph Giudice on Tuesday ruled in a decision that Gary Sickler of Poughkeepsie is sane enough to stand trial for the rape-murder of 22-year-old Kathleen Taylor of Wappingers Falls.

The decision followed a pre-trial hearing earlier, during which a psychiatrist reaffirmed his finding that the accused 29-year-old parolee from Green Haven prison was mentally able to understand the charges filed against him and to stand trial, when the August term of court opens on Monday.

last November and accused of slaying the woman, was handcuffed to a deputy sheriff throughout the recent hearing, although it was the usual custom to remove handcuffs from prisoners as they entered the courtroom. The guards also were permitted to wear sidearms, another break with tradition but approved by the court because of Sickler's two escapes from custody.

Judge Giudice said that Sickler's case would be called against him and to stand trial, when the August term of court opens on Monday.

Patrolman Resigns New Paltz Position

The resignation of a patrolman was accepted by the New Paltz village board this week, and another man was appointed in his place, and board members learned that the two million gallon storage tank, built to serve the village and the state university college, was completed.

In other board action, almost $100,000 was paid out on construction contracts, and a rally for Democratic presidential candidate Eugene McCarthy was approved.

It was village patrolman William Dietzel whose resignation was read at the meeting.

Dietzel, who had served on the village's law enforcement agency for "a little over a year," according to clerk Wilbur Fredenburgh, will leave active service Aug. 1.

Appointed in his place as provisional patrolman was John Litts.

Board members were awaiting the results of Litts' Civil Service examination, taken recently.

It was also learned that the water lines leading to the newly-completed storage tank were almost completed, with 50 to 60 feet more to go at the tanksite.

Monies paid out included $61,042.72 to the Chicago Bridge and Iron Co. of Chicago, Ill., for the stand pipe, and $38,610.12 to the Anthony Costanzi Corp. of Kingston for the new water line.

Seventy per cent of the combined $99,652.84 figure will be reimbursed by the state.

Board approval of the McCarthy rally gave the go-ahead to the New Paltz Concerned Democrats to stage what may be a torchlight parade for the Minnesota senator on the night of August 15, beginning at 8 p. m.

In a letter submitted to the board by CD President Ronald Steinberg, McCarthy supporters hope to have a Dixieland band "or some form of taped music," a speakers platform in the town and village hall parking lot on Plattekill Avenue; microphones and amplified speakers, and appropriate banners.

The parade plans call for marchers to move out of the parking lot to Oakwood Terrace, then north at Oakwood to Main Street, thence west on Main and out to Plattekill, returning to the parking lot.

The Steinberg letter said that some 200 people were expected to attend the rally.

Three Hour Drama on City Street

By WALTER S. CLARK

Chemical gas was used by Kingston police for about three hours Tuesday night, as they tried to force a 33-year-old man from his locked station wagon that blocked traffic during that period on Cedar Street.

A crowd of curious spectators numbering hundreds stood at vantage points as they watched a large detail of detectives and uniformed police officers.

It was shortly before 9 p. m. when calls were received at police headquarters reporting a station wagon was stopped in the middle of Cedar Street blocking traffic. A man with a shotgun held near his head was in the vehicle.

A large number of uniformed officers and detectives were dispatched to investigate. They reported the man, identified as Richard Minkler, 33, of Kingston had threatened to shoot himself.

An ambulance from Doctors Ambulance service with Gilbert Gray and Richard Mertine went to the area and stayed throughout the incident. Meanwhile, police and a local clergyman with friends of Minkler tried to persuade the man to open the door and leave the vehicle, but he refused.

A string of master keys was obtained from a local service station but none would fit the lock on Minkler's car. Police didn't want to break a window in the vehicle because of the threat that the shotgun might be discharged and someone would be harmed.

During the three hours, police opened the hood of the car, pulled the wires and sprayed several canisters of mace under the vehicle hoping to force Minkler from the car. Shortly before midnight, the Minkler opened the door of the car. The gun was taken by a detective and the man was escorted to police headquarters.

Later police took him to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Albany for examination and treatment.

Land Sinking

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A number of areas in the United States are, by geological standards, sinking rapidly.

7-Point Program for Peace Revealed by Candidate Dyson

By LYNN MULVANEY

Referring to the American involvement in Vietnam as "truly tragic," John Dyson, Democratic candidate for Congress revealed to a Kingston audience last night his seven-point plan toward peace. Dyson spoke to members of the press and public in the garden room of the Governor Clinton Hotel at an event which was originally scheduled as a debate between Dyson and his principal opponent Republican Hamilton Fish Jr.

As he has repeatedly, Dyson took the absent Fish to task for not entering into debate, for not taking stands on issues. Dyson quoted Fish as having said on April 5, that he has never been for withdrawal or escalation in Vietnam. "That's not a very specific place to stand," commented Dyson. The Millbrook publisher also answered Fish's request for a confrontation on the recent Farm Bureau issue, saying he would willingly appear before the Greene or Columbia County Farm Bureaus whenever a date can be arranged.

Dyson said he himself was not personally involved with Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's inquiry into Farm Bureau activity and that he did not agree with all the things Resnick claimed to have found questionable, although he agreed with some.

He also suggested that a congressional inquiry into all tax exempt organizations would be worthwhile. Concluding, Dyson said he does not intend to defend Resnick (for whom he once worked) or the administration on "a carte blanche basis."

Most Immediate Goal

The Democratic nominee prefaced his seven-point plan by remarking that uncontrollable events could alter the advisability of implementing some of the points, but, "our most important, immediate goal must be an international guaranteed negotiated settlement of a neutral and independent Vietnam."

He called for a "new and constructive approach to Vietnam and our entire foreign policy which will welcome diversity, assist peaceful change and recognize America's limited role in the world today."

FIRST, declared Dyson, "the United States should accept the reduced rate of infiltration from the North as evidence of restraint and halt the rest of the bombing of the North. If this occurred and the North Vietnamese still stalled in Paris, in the eyes of the world North Vietnam, not the United States would be prolonging the war."

SECOND, "Restore the demilitarized zone to its neutral status under supervision of the International Control Commission."

THIRD, "We should seek in Paris a partial or complete ceasefire between belligerents. Even if limited to certain areas like Saigon, a ceasefire could be the first real step toward peace. However, we should not agree to a freeze of forces in place, since there is no reason to believe that the forces of the National Liberation Front or North Vietnam will suddenly become immobile."

FOURTH, "Encourage direct talks between the South Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front, for the war will ultimately have to be settled by the Vietnamese."

FIFTH, "Repatriate troops if there is a proportional reduction of troops supervised by the International Control Commission and keyed to the evolution of the political settlement between South Vietnam and the National Liberation Front."

SIXTH, "Curtail the excessive use of search and destroy missions, which subject our soldiers to an inordinate danger of ambush and are of dubious success." Dyson noted that military efforts should be geared to protecting heavily populated areas, which, once secured, would be a base for agricultural and urban development programs.

SEVENTH, "Transfer the major responsibility of the war to the South Vietnamese Army, for the sooner we prepare the South Vietnamese to bear the burden of their own defense, the better."

Dyson said that beyond this immediate problem, "I deeply believe that the time has come for the U. S. to change some of our most fundamental assumptions and approaches to foreign policy."

"... Our most important foreign policy objective must be the creation of what President John F. Kennedy called a world 'safe for diversity.'"

Negligence Charge Levied In Nun's Death

A 75-year-old Greene County man was ordered held for grand jury action on Tuesday after his arrest by State Police on a charge of criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle resulting in the death of a 43-year-old Roman Catholic Dominican nun.

Sister Agnes Berry, victim of the fatal mishap which occurred on the Thruway six miles south of Albany on Monday, was the driver of a car involved in the fatality. Two other nuns, Sister Mary Purissima, 69, who is visiting in this country from Pakistan, and Sister Helen Theresa McKenna, 50, were injured in the mishap.

Arrested and held for grand jury action was Harry E. Dean, of 120 Broad Street, Catskill. He waived his right to a preliminary hearing and was committed to the Albany County jail pending grand jury investigation.

Authorities charged that Dean made an illegal U-turn in front of the other vehicle, causing the car driven by Sister Agnes Berry to go out of control, hit the divider and overturn.

Following his arrest, Dean was arraigned on the charge before Justice Edward Jones of Ravena.

The three nuns had visited at Villa St. Joseph in Barclay Heights sometime before they left for Albany.

College Aid String

Aid to higher education will be continued for two more years at least, but with a string on it. The House provided for mandatory denial of aid to college students who take part in a campus uprising in violation of lawful order, or are convicted of a crime as a result of participating in a campus uprising. A Senate-passed bill left it to college authorities to cut off such aid.

Some 3 million students have been helped to meet the costs of their college education through direct loans, guaranteed loans, grants and payments for campus work. Some have taken part in student uprisings that swept the campuses of the country earlier this year. If they value their schooling, the proposed cut-off of aid should have a salutary effect on many of the students who went along with the ring leaders but would think twice before jeopardizing their education for such a specious revolt.

The penalty was approved on a roll call by the House, which means that members were alarmed enough by the uprisings to be willing to be recorded against continued aid for the trouble makers. The Senate approved a 4-year $13.8 billion measure, but the economy bloc in the House reduced the bill to $5 billion for two years.

With the mandatory spending cut of $6 billion to meet, it is likely when the bill goes to conference that the lower figure will be approved. So should the penalty for joining in uprisings. The Federal government should not be in the business of subsidizing sabotage, whether of the educational or the governmental systems.

Spreading Welfare

When an arm of government in an election year makes a door-to-door canvass to find new clients for Social Security grants and Medicare allowances, it is natural to wonder if another objective may also be to drum up votes for the party in office. Especially as the order has gone out to reduce personnel to meet the economy program.

Anyway, a nationwide effort has just begun concentrated in the big cities of the country—where the voters are, it may be added—to find out how many people are entitled to Social Security and Medicare payments are not getting them. Youth Opportunity Corps workers are making the canvass in a suburb of Pittsburgh. The canvassers will continue through the month of August.

There are four broad areas in which the Social Security Administration makes payments—retirement benefits, survivors' benefits to dependents of deceased workers, disability benefits to individuals unable to work and certain of their dependents and Medicare for health and hospital care.

District officers state that this is not just another statistic gathering mission. It is just an effort to improve the system, and incidentally discover any who are overlooked. Of course, they deny any political objective is to be served.

Economic Growth

The Department of Commerce announcement that the seasonally adjusted annual rate of the gross national product has risen $19.6 billion to $850.8 billion in the second quarter of this year was only a shade lower than the first quarter record rise of $20.2 billion.

William H. Chartener, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs, discounted fears of economic overcooling as a result of higher taxes and cutbacks in federal spending. He foresaw no dip in the real GNP—the nation's total output of goods and services, corrected for price increases—over the next several quarters, just a slowing in the rate of growth.

Furthermore, Chartener said the April-June performance revealed no basic economic imbalances except for a federal deficit running at an annual rate of more than $20 billion, which should be brought under control by the passage of the Administration's fiscal package.

However, the individual taxpayer may not be so complacent. He sees the deficit this year running at the same rate as the nation's economic growth. He cannot be blamed if he felt therefore that the growth was mortgaged by the deficit.

William Clay Ford, the largest stockholder in the Ford Motor Company, is better known as the owner of the Detroit National Football League's Lions. Announcing support of Senator Eugene J. McCarthy for President, Ford assessed his chances of election by saying, "I'll take McCarthy and ten points." That's better than the going odds.

Every four years, it has become traditional for the United Nations to postpone its opening so that no important vote is taken until after the American election. This year will be no exception. Foreign government representatives are canvassing the membership in behalf of a late opening instead of the scheduled Sept. 19 start. The delay would be 60 days, well beyond the election.

The Paris Talks Continue

Why Are the Liberals Silent on Czech Threat?

WASHINGTON — Paradoxes are numerous these days, but none is more conspicuous than the absolute silence about Czechoslovakia which is being maintained by virtually all the groups, organizations, college professors, liberals and others in America who zealously expound the doctrine that people have a right to determine their own form of government.

No such silence prevailed when Rhodesia, for example, tried to solve its internal problems with respect to racial relations. In fact, the United States has joined with other members of the United Nations in imposing almost total sanctions on trade with Rhodesia.

But here is Czechoslovakia threatened by military intervention by the Soviet government if something in line with Moscow's style communism is not adopted. Yet no voices are raised anywhere in Europe or in this country even to express sympathy with the Democratic elements in Czechoslovakia which are trying to modify their form of government. Meanwhile, the Soviets are making military threats and have actually mobilized troops on the border of Czechoslovakia to coerce the latter into acceptance of Moscow's dictatorial policies.

The Czech leaders are not trying to abolish Communism, but seeking to modify it so that it will be more Democratic. They already are permitting considerable freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of the press. The Soviet government, however, apparently feels it has the right to dictate to the leaders in Prague what they may or may not do in domestic policies.

Members of the 11-man Communist body ruling Czechoslovakia are conferring with top Soviet leaders who have come from Moscow to a meeting on Czech territory near the Soviet border. Upon the outcome of this conference depends whether the Soviet Union will intervene militarily to force the present government to come to terms or will establish a new regime that will adhere to the kind of Communism which the Soviets apply throughout the areas they control. Moscow is being supported by Poland, East Germany and Bulgaria—over which it maintains an iron hand—and to a lesser extent by Hungary, which is still occupied by Soviet troops.

The Kremlin leaders are demanding of Czech officials that they turn back toward the Soviet kind of Communism—including a resumption of press censorship and the suppression of all non-Communist political activities. Even more, the Czechs are being coerced into maintaining their alliance with the Communist bloc nations and are being warned about getting too friendly with West Germany or other non-Communist countries. The threat of Soviet military intervention is constant.

The crisis is bound to affect the future of the satellite states in Eastern Europe. Yugoslavia under Tito long ago broke away from Soviet domination, but does have friendly relations with Moscow. Rumania, too, has in recent years asserted more and more independence.

It is understandable that the American government would, for diplomatic reasons, choose to be silent. Washington has kept a hands-off policy in the Czechoslovakia controversy because of a belief that nothing should be done that would give Moscow a chance to blame Western governments for what is happening in Czechoslovakia.

When the United States goes to the assistance of a country which is trying to determine its own form of government—such as South Vietnam—"liberals" denounce this as "aggression." Yet they remain silent as the Soviets seek to deny even to "liberals" Communists the right to set up their own system of government within Czechoslovakia. The mobilization of Soviet military forces is plainly a threat of aggression against Czechoslovakia, but none of the Communist parties—in France, Italy or this country—is willing to recognize it.

Certainly there is nothing to prevent private organizations and some of the articulate professors and scholars in America and Western Europe from condemning publicly in most vehement terms the Soviet intervention in the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia. But silence seems to be the rule.

Drew Pearson Says FBI Reports Underground Black Nationalist Movement

WASHINGTON — An alarming confidential report has been prepared by the FBI on the underground black nationalist movement in the United States.

It may explain the sudden outbreak of violence in Cleveland, a city under a Negro mayor, Carl Stokes, which has been making great progress toward racial understanding but where a handful of black nationalists began shooting police last week merely because they were towing away a parked car.

It definitely explains some of the extremist moves by negroes in Washington.

Finally it gives a key to the tremendous upsurge in the popularity of George Wallace of Alabama, who represents a latent American fascism whose answer to Negro violence is White violence.

What the FBI has found in Washington is that the black militants have worked out a secret plan to take over the nation's capital. The militants argue that Negroes are now in the majority and that given home rule they can take over the city.

At present Washington is governed by a Negro mayor, Walter Washington, an able executive, who is supported by a city council, half Negro, half White. Mayor Washington, however, is considered much too moderate by the black militants. They have worked out the following secret strategy to take over the capital, neighborhood by neighborhood.

Secret Strategy

First they will try to persuade the moderates to become militant, and if they fail, then bury them with frustration and harassment. When the moderates hold meetings, the strategy is to break up the meetings or be so unreasonable that the moderates will have to disassociate themselves from the meetings.

This was the explanation of the recent meeting in the African Methodist Episcopal Church to discuss neighborhood control of police where the black militants demanded that all whites leave. The whites present had been strong supporters of Negro progress. When they left, moderate Negroes walked out with them in protest.

Stokely Carmichael sat quietly in a back row of the meeting. He had been one of the chief architects of the new secret strategy. Another was Chuck Stone, former assistant to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. Both militant and moderate Negroes are burnt up over the double standard of ethical conduct in Congress, whereby Powell, a Negro, was expelled, and Rep. Mendell Rivers of South Carolina, who has had inexcusable bouts with alcohol and has used government airplanes almost at will, remains a power in the white establishment.

This has caused far more resentment in the black world than congressional leaders realize—and appears to moderates to be a legitimate case against Congress.

Stokely Lies Low

Carmichael, who helped devise the secret strategy to take over Washington, neighborhood by neighborhood, has been laying low following his subversive statements in foreign countries. He has been careful not to say anything publicly which would cause his arrest.

His operations, however, have been very carefully followed by the Justice Department, including some of his talks with the late Dr. Martin Luther King who finally persuaded Carmichael to stay out of the poor people's march.

Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, also anti-Communist, seems more susceptible to Carmichael's persuasion than King. Shortly before the start of the poor people's march, he told the New York Times: "I love Stokely. He's a wonderful guy. I may disagree with individuals like him on strategy, but not on goals. All I know is that we will remain nonviolent."

Carmichael's real goal, however, is the overthrow of the United States government. He spelled this out last Aug. 18 in Hanoi at an Afro-American rally attended largely by North Vietnamese. "We are not reformists," he said. "We do not seek to reform. We do not wish to be part of the U.S. government of its system. We are revolutionaries. We seek to change the imperialist system of the United States. We will be satisfied with nothing less. "We are comrades," he told the North Vietnamese, "because we seek to redeem humanity, because we seek to stop the greatest destroyer of humanity—the United States. When we succeed, and we will succeed, our blood, our lives would have been a little price to pay."

Probably Carmichael did not know that his words were picked up by powerful U.S. monitors. What he does know, however, is that his words in Hanoi cannot be used to prosecute him in the United States because the Justice Department can get no witnesses from Communist countries.

Back in the United States, Stokely is being very careful not to repeat these remarks. However, he has been very active in promoting quiet moves by which the black militants will gradually take over Washington.

Larry O'Brien

Larry O'Brien, former campaign manager for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, will become the campaign manager for Vice President Hubert Humphrey, thereby linking together the Kennedy and Humphrey forces.

An announcement of the O'Brien appointment is expected this week.

O'Brien was one of the early Massachusetts workers for the late John F. Kennedy and later became a member of the White House staff, sometimes called the "Irish mafia."

He remained on under President Johnson and was promoted by Johnson to be Postmaster General. Though relations between the President and members of the old Kennedy entourage were not cordial, O'Brien was a notable exception.

O'Brien acceptance of campaign manager for Bobby Kennedy was considered something of a coup d'etat for the Kennedy forces. However, it was known that O'Brien left the cabinet on good terms with Vice President Humphrey. They had two intimate talks before O'Brien made the final decision.

His return to Humphrey to pilot his campaign will be taken as an indication of Kennedy-Humphrey unity.

Gov. Evans Is Well Suited As GOP Keynote Speaker

By PHILIP MEYER

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, July 27 — The Republicans have chosen one of their most attractive new faces for the important job of arousing the enthusiasm of the delegates and setting the tone for their National Convention.

Daniel Jackson Evans, Governor of Washington, is the temporary convention chairman, whose job is to make the keynote speech. This is the speech which inveighs against the Democrats, recites Republican achievements and brings forth the memory of great leaders of the past. It presents the party as it would most like to be seen by the rest of the nation.

For this image-making chore, 43-year-old Evans is well suited. Besides having mastered the art of looking and sounding good on television, he represents the new breed of problem-solving Republican officeholders.

One of the characteristics of this group is that they are non-ideologists. In Washington this has meant a continuing fight between Evans and right-wing Republicans.

"The people these days are problem-oriented, not philosophy oriented," he said in 1966, the year he was elected Governor.

"If they have any philosophy, it is probably pragmatism. And if they have any crystal-clear goal, it would be to solve the problems of society and the economy and of government, in a logical, factual manner."

This get-things-done approach may stem from his professional background as a civil engineer. Evans worked in structural design for the city of Seattle and then became assistant manager of the Mountain-Pacific Chapter of Associated General Contractors before he entered government through the state legislative route in 1956.

He rose to House Republican floor leader and then, in 1963, began a year-long campaign for the governorship. A survey showed that he started in last place among a field of six. But he won the 1964 primary by beating a conservative by more than 100,000 votes.

In the general election, Evans bucked the Anti-Goldwater tide—he gave Barry Goldwater perfunctory endorsement and then ignored him—and whipped the incumbent Democratic governor by nearly 150,000 votes.

The incumbent, Albert D. Rosellini, had served two four-year terms and was bucking a no-third-term tradition in the State. But Evans' youth, energy and straightforward approach also got some of the credit.

His fight with the party's right wing began almost immediately. In the fall of 1965, Evans helped push a resolution denouncing the John Birch Society through the Republican State Committee. In the 1966 primary elections, he campaigned against the right-wingers and thinned their ranks in state and party posts.

Evans was born in Seattle. He got Bachelor's and Master's degrees in engineering at the University of Washington after serving in the Navy in World War II and then was recalled to active duty for the Korean War.

He married a Spokane girl and they have three sons, 2, 5, and 8.

This background, plus a good stage presence, make speculation about his political future an intriguing topic. Evans was mentioned as a possible Senate candidate to oppose Democrat Warren Magnuson, but then Magnuson helped land the superconic transport contract for Boeing Aircraft and the state needs him to keep up the fight for appropriations.

So Evans' Scenario calls for him to be re-elected to another four-year term as governor this fall. But he has been called a potential running mate by Richard Nixon and might make a good ticket-balancer.

Evans has been staying uncommitted and he used his designation as keynoter as the excuse. But last summer, he urged fellow Republicans to stay off the Nixon bandwagon, explaining that he was not convinced that "Nixon is the best we can get."

Though he has a reputation for stubbornness, he might change his mind. And his expected cry for practical solutions for national problems may make a good rallying point for the party's badly-needed unity.

Counting on Soviet Blunders

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) U.S. officials have decided, for now at any rate, that absolute silence will pay off in Czechoslovakia.

Unless plans change, Washington will not follow Britain's lead in publicly protesting Moscow's Czech imperialism.

Nor will the U.S. ambassador bring up the Czech matter at the United Nations.

This strategy of silence depends on Communist impatient blunders. It worked in Indonesia at the time of the aborted Red coup there. U.S. strategists believe it will work in Prague. They think the Soviet Union has walked into a trap from which it will be difficult or impossible to escape.

Whatever they may say, the Czechs are driving for a radical shift in their position in the Warsaw Pact. They want a treaty aimed more at the protection of Czechoslovakia rather than one tailored, as is the Warsaw Pact, solely to the interests of the Soviet Union.

This "Russian" group has, over a period of years, built up the distrust of major segments of Czech society—industrialists, farmers, students and labor.

The Soviet military has alienated the Czech army and air force. Moscow's bureaucracy has antagonized younger, efficient sections of the Czech bureaucracy.

All this gives the Russians very little room for maneuver.

Moscow and the U.S. State Department know the current Czech action is more than a move for a little more flexibility within the Communist system. (But the Czechs are expected to remain Communist and Russian allies.)

Whatever they may say, the Czechs are driving for a radical shift in their position in the Warsaw Pact. They want a treaty aimed more at the protection of Czechoslovakia rather than one tailored, as is the Warsaw Pact, solely to the interests of the Soviet Union.

The Czechs also aim for a more independent economic policy. Again, their purpose is to eliminate those Russo-Czech economic-business arrangements which bleed Czechoslovakia to Russia's benefit.

Czechs, including the present leadership, are fed up with being pawns in Moscow's foreign adventures. They are not happy, for one, over the aid they have been required to give Egypt and other Arab countries in the current Soviet-sponsored Middle East crisis.

Present thinking among U.S. policy makers is that anything this country might do in the Czech-Russian confrontation would help get Moscow off its limb. It could turn the affair from what it is, a Soviet bullying of Czechoslovakia, into a Moscow-Washington fight.

Pre-Convention Trial Heats

By GEORGE GALLUP

PRINCETON, N.J., July 30 — Richard Nixon has overtaken both Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Eugene McCarthy in pre-convention test election races just completed. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Nixon's chief rival for the Republican nomination, runs about even against both Democrats.

The latest findings represent an improvement for Nixon from an early July survey, when the former Vice President ran 5 percentage points behind Humphrey and 3 points behind McCarthy. Nixon has now pulled ahead of Humphrey by 2 points and McCarthy by 5.

Rockefeller's standing has changed little over the past 3 weeks. In the earlier survey he tied Humphrey, as he does today. The New York Governor is virtually even with McCarthy today. In the earlier test, he ran two points behind the Minnesota Senator. Nixon's gains against both Humphrey and McCarthy in the first three weeks of July have come about primarily in the East and Far West. Nixon has also made gains among young adults, Democrats, independents and among registered voters in the lower socio-economic levels.

Results of the latest test races are based on personal interviews with 1156 registered voters representing the proper proportion of Republicans, Democrats and Independents. Interviewing was conducted between July 20-23.

Wallace Support Holding Steady

Support for third party candidate George Wallace has remained constant over these three weeks, after a period of steady growth. Against Nixon and Humphrey and against Nixon and McCarthy, Wallace draws 16 per cent of the national vote. In races against Rockefeller, he wins a somewhat greater share of the vote.

The survey question: "Suppose the presidential election were being held TODAY. If Richard Nixon (Nelson Rockefeller) were the Republican candidate and Eugene McCarthy (Hubert Humphrey) were the Democratic candidate, and George Wallace of Alabama were the candidate of a third party, which would you like to see win?"

Here are the results of each of the latest trial heats and the trend. Interviewing dates are given in the column to the left.

THE LAST AMERICAN

by Don Oakley and John Lane

Marcus Garvey—
black is beautiful.

19 Harlem Renaissance

Yet I do marvel at this curious thing,
To make a poet black and bid him sing!
—Countee Cullen

Harlem was the fountainhead of a new Negro artistic vitality that seemed to explode in the 1920s. Writers and composers of first-rank talent poured forth books, poems, plays, music in such a burst of creativity that it was called the "Harlem Renaissance." More accurately, it was a Negro renaissance, for its influence inspired talented Negroes in other cities.

In literature, there were James Weldon Johnson, Claude McKay, Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen, Jean Toomer.

In music, songwriters like Aubrey Lyles, Eubie Blake, Noble Sissie, Irving Miller

Thomas "Fats" Waller, Duke Ellington.

Performers: Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, Josephine Baker, Florence Mills, Ethel Waters, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, Paul Robeson, Richard B. Harrison.

The Negro was in vogue. White society flocked to Harlem's nightclubs and theaters and celebrity salons, such as those held by Negro heiress A'Lelia Walker. Others, like Carl Van Vechten and H. L. Mencken, came to observe and write about the problem of being a Negro in America. White artists, like Eugene O'Neill ("All God's Chillun Got Wings") and Marc Connelly ("Green Pastures"), took up Negro themes.

Another phenomenon of the '20s was called Marcus Garvey, a Jamaican immigrant who founded the first Negro mass movement. Black was best, he preached, and "whiteballed" undesirable members in his universal Negro Improvement Association.

Garvey was the original black nationalist and urged a Back-to-Africa movement. Proclaiming himself "Provisional President of Africa," he created a colorful court of Dukes and Duchesses and Knights of the Nile. Most of his followers, however, were swayed more by his championship of Negroism than by any desire to go "back" to Africa.

Garvey was opposed by the more conservative Negro leaders and was eventually convicted of mail fraud arising out of his many enterprises. He was deported in 1927.

The black "renaissance" continued on into the 1930s, '40s and '50s and continues today. But something else happened in the fabulous 1920s that left a mark on the nation's soul—the stock market crash, from whose effects the last-hired, first-fired Negro was to suffer, more than any other American.

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service
NIA MEY, Niger, — Nigerian officials have disclosed a dramatic plan to bring relief supplies to starving Biafran civilians immediately, despite the failure of the two sides during talks here to agree on a "Mercy Corridor" plan.

It would be a unilateral step by the Nigerians to show their good faith toward suffering Ibo civilians and to try to convince them that Federal Nigeria is not out to commit genocide as Biafran propaganda has charged from the outset of the war.

The political ramifications of the plan are considerable. It would be a clear attempt to plant seeds of doubt in the minds of the Biafran civilians about the wisdom of Lt. Col. Olu megwu Ojukwu's decision to continue the secession in the face of military defeat and mass death and starvation.

The deceptively simple plan would involve trucking massive amounts of relief supplies overland to the front under the supervision of International Relief Agencies — the Red Cross and others.

They would be stockpiled at a predetermined point and Federal Nigerian troops would withdraw leaving the supplies behind.

International relief workers on the Biafran side would accompany the advancing rebel forces and would then supervise distribution of the food and medicine to see that as much of it as possible goes to civilians most in need.

The fact that the supplies would be under International relief agency supervision all the while they are passing through Nigerian territory would be used to answer Biafran government propaganda charges that the food would be poisoned.

The plan has not been announced officially, but one senior Nigerian delegate said after the preliminary talks closed here Friday that he thought a massive relief operation for Biafra might be in operation before the start of the new round of talks in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Aug. 5.

Although the Nigerian delegates would say nothing directly that might damage the fragile "spirit of Niamey" that is now providing a dialog between the two sides through the organization of African unity, the Nigerians gave the strong impression that they consider Biafra's playing for political advantage with the lives of its civilians.

"This would clearly put the ball in their court on a take-it-or-leave-it basis," one reliable source said. "If they still reject the food, the Ojukwu's reservoir of world sympathy would drain fast."

The plan would be a victory for the doves in the Nigerian government who see its humanitarian and psychological advantages.

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The telephone company says that in every working day about 84,000 residents of Washington lift the receiver and dial the wrong number. This generates irritation and anger. People scream at one another. There is excessive profanity, headaches, challenges to duels, upset stomachs and apoplexy.

There is a small and serene minority which remains calm and I am a member of it. For most of my wrong-number rings come from the same person, and I refer to her as The Princess because I am sure that is the type of telephone she uses. About three times a week—once it happened twice in the same day—my phone rings and a breathless, teen-age, female voice comes over the wire. Our dialogue never varies:

The Princess: "May I speak to Sharon please."

Me: "I'm afraid you have the wrong number."

The Princess: "Oh!" (A long reflective pause during which she doubtless is pondering the irritations of this age of automation) "I'm sorry. I truly am."

Click.
It is possible that deep inside the wire jungle of the telephone company there is a wayward bolt, nut or screw that diverts The Princess' calls to me? Impossible, says the phone company. Psychologists say it is a human failure and the principal reasons for wrong numbers are a state of acute depression, intoxication, or an exhilarating condition of excitement.

Has News

Is The Princess depressed? Never. Is she intoxicated? Cast no such slur on her fair name. Is she excited? Ah, now we are approaching the heart of the matter. The Princess has momentous news which she wants to communicate immediately to Sharon. So her voice becomes breathless, her hands tremble and instead of getting Sharon she gets—alas, me.

Every girl spends seven years as a teen-ager, so as the father of two daughters I am a veteran of 14 years service. I can tell you with great certainty about the calls between The Princess and Sharon.

The Princess gets herself in a reclining position with her feet higher than her head. She dials what she believes to be Sharon's number and then tucks the telephone under the left part of her chin and supports it with her shoulder. This is essential because both hands must be free to cope with the bottle of cola on her left and the tuna fish sandwich on her right.

On the occasions when the Princess gets Sharon instead of me she plunges immediately into a discussion of momentous matters: A new record by the Jefferson Airplane. Groovy. There is a rumor the curfew on the class dance may be extended from midnight to 12:30 a.m. Has Sharon seen the new movie magazine with the cool pictures of Ann-Margret and Wayne Newton? What's the decision about cutting Sharon's hair? Mom refused to allow The Princess to lift the hemline on the new dress more than two inches above the knee. Square. What did Johnny Shaw say to Sharon when he waked out of geometry class with her yesterday?

Talk, Talk, Talk

The elapsed time for the conversation can be anywhere from an hour to two hours and a half.

And what of Sharon? Lovely name Sharon. It comes like the velvet chime of a twilight bell straight out of the soaring poetry of the Songs of Solomon: "I am the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valleys . . . For, lo, the winter is past; the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come."

Does Sharon ever phone The Princess or is it strictly a one-way communications setup. Horrible thought: Is Sharon under some stern parental discipline which limits or eliminates her outgoing calls?

Questions without answers have plagued me ever since The Princess and Sharon came into my life. Sometimes I dream that I have a rendezvous with them at a soda fountain where I pick up the tab for an unlimited number of banana splits no matter how prohibitive the cost. I hope the dream comes true because I want to assure The Princess and Sharon that their calls are no bother to me.

Giant Dallas Skyscraper Stands Taller at Night

DALLAS (UPI)—During daylight, the concrete and glass LTV Tower in downtown Dallas is much like other skyscrapers.

But when night falls, the building abruptly becomes noticeable to Dallasites all over the city. It can tell Dallas where to go—or who is in town—or what civic fund is currently collecting money.

Big letters of light, 65 feet tall, proclaim the building's message to the world. DeWitt Fair, building manager, said the letters are formed by 40-watt fluorescent lights four feet long at the top of each window between the curtains and the window glass.

Fair said the building's signpost operates entirely upon request although it avoids commercial, religious and political messages.

Bias Allowed

But no one says the building or perhaps the people who decide what will go on its sides in lights have to be unbiased.

So, when Dallas Bryn Adams High School was in the state football finals, the building proclaimed:

"GO BA." For United Fund, it was "Give UP." For the Texas State Fair, which is dominated by a giant "Big Tex," the message was an outline of Big Tex.

Although the messages on the sides of the building are simple by necessity because of space limitations, there is nothing very simple about how they get there.

Fair described the process: "We generally ask the person making the request, 'How would you like to present it?' or 'What would you like to say?'"

Then the desired message must be translated into something that will physically fit on the side of the building. That is sometimes difficult when working with letters that must be a minimum of five stories tall.

Use Model

"I have a template that I devised which is an 8-by-11 piece of paper with the windows shown on it," Fair said. There are 750 lights of each side.

He draws the design on the template, notes the floor and window numbers needed to complete the design and heads for the master console on the 33rd floor to turn them on.

"The cost is less than minimal," Fair said. The system was expensive to install, but the upkeep and power costs are low. He estimated the maintenance cost was between $5 and $10 per night.

The lights draw little power and seldom, if ever, are all 1,500 turned on at once, Fair said.

"This time of the year, my requests are not as heavy," he said. "Starting about Labor Day until about Memorial Day, I suppose we have something in the neighborhood of 200 to 250 requests."

New Type Defense For GIs in Korea

WITH U.S. 7TH DIVISION, Korea (AP) — Soldiers of the U.S. 7th Division are carrying out with picks, shovels, airhammers and bulldozers a new concept of defense against a repeat of the 1950 Communist invasion of South Korea.

Until fairly recently, most faith in defense against another invasion was placed on a series of fortifications strung along the 151-mile-wide Korean demilitarized zone, massive U.S. aerial retaliation and the hoped-for ability of the Korean army and the U.S. 2nd and 7th divisions to contain the Communists along the Imjin River near the DMZ.

No one has ever officially admitted it, but if North Koreans cracked the defensive line and came streaming down the 20-mile-wide corridor that is the classic invasion route to the South, the allies would probably have to fall back and dig in on the south bank of the Han River.

As one military observer understated it: "This is not particularly appealing to the Koreans as Seoul is on the north bank."

A good portion of the capital's four million citizens remember 1950 when the Communists overran the "Special City" as they call it and came close to conquering all South Korea.

MD Benefit

Sunrise Avenue neighborhood children flock to backyard carnival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Iannotti. The event which featured a variety of entertainment was for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy. Marie Iannotti was ringmaster, assisted by John Iannotti, Linda Turco, Karen and Ricky Lowe, Debbie, Diane and Benny Gulnick, Kurt and Kevin Glaser, David Low, Mike Augustine, Gerard Perry and Gene Felice. Among the features at the neighborhood benefit were dart game, What's Your Number, tin target, spoon walk, book stall and Canadian Woodsmen. A marionette show was the highlight of the afternoon. Homemade refreshments were served and it was reported a social and financial success. All proceeds of the carnival which was arranged by the children for a second performance, will go to the Muscular Dystrophy association for research and treatment of patients afflicted with the disease. Need 1,246 Signatures On School Budget Petition

A petition is being circulated throughout the Onteora Central School District which, when completed, will be submitted to the Board of Education requesting that a school budget be resubmitted to the voters of the district.

The request is for a budget containing additional appropriations sufficient to provide the services included in the budget dated June 3, 1968. This takes into consideration that some items cut from the budget when the contingency budget was invoked, such as the football program and the yearbook, cannot be reinstated and certain supplies will have gone up in cost by the time they can be ordered under a new budget.

According to law 1,246 signatures are needed on the petition.

Representative members of the Onteora Citizens Committee in the various areas of the district, who may be contacted by all who have not yet signed the petition, include: Pauline Schlosser, Phoenicia; Jane Rossitz, Big Indian, Oliveira; Rose Sheehan and Marian Umhey, Mt. Tremper; Mrs. Donald Lattoff, Boiceville; Robert Donlon, Ashokan; Vivian Moscowitz, Eugene Marynowski, Mrs. Paul Williams, and Mrs. Jules Viglielmo, of Woodstock; Gerald Kreisburg, Len Waters, and Mrs. Gifford Morey, of Maverick Park; Mrs. George Dahlgren of Hurley Ridge; Robert Nussbaum and Hope Duffy of West Hurley; Mrs. Peter Weider and Mrs. William Fisher of Glenford; and Mrs. John Metzger of Morgan Hill Road.

Many other members of the committee also have petitions. It is not necessary to sign in your own residential area.

A meeting of the Onteora Citizens Committee is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 8 p.m. at the Overlook Methodist Church on the Bearsville Road in Woodstock. It is hoped that all petitions can be reviewed at that time.

One-Act Plays In Final Week

Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be the last performances at the Little Theater on Tinker Street, of Performing Arts of Woodstock's double bill of "Charles, the Child Beautiful," by Danny Klein, and "The Beholder," by Kit Jones, directed by Robert Burgos.

An outrageously funny film of "Charles" played by Ralph Santinelli, his mother, by Pearl Blackman and father by Larry Shufelt, shows the family out for a joyous picnic beside a lake when Charles was a baby.

The film, photographed by Mike Sullivan, and directed by Robert Burgos, was shot on location at Group 212.

The film is a prologue to the play, "Charles." In the play we meet Charles as a young man, but to his adoring mother, still a baby. However, father comes home just in time to deal with a critical moment in the family unity.

In the second play, "The Beholder," a lonely girl, beautifully portrayed by Isabelle Laikala, attempts, through self-hypnosis and the belief in ESP, to will her ideal imaginary man to come to her. A bitter, despairing man, hauntingly played by Dean Schambach, knocks on her door, one evening.

The Little Theater adjoins the Woodstock Guild of Craftsman, just off the Village Green. Curtain is at 8:30.

Minister Returns

The Rev. James W. Cook has returned with his family from a vacation in Maine and Virginia and will conduct the worship service at the Overlook Methodist Church at 10 a.m. on Aug. 4. The guest soloists will be Dr. and Mrs. Harold Snyder, a.m.

Airpaks Use Demonstrated For Firemen

An explanation of the workings of the Scott Airpak was given members of the Woodstock Fire Department, meeting in quarterly session at the Zena firehouse Monday evening.

William Nichols of Hyde Park presented the demonstration of the breathing device, pointed out the latest features including a warning bell which rings when the supply of air is almost exhausted, and cautioned the firemen against overconfidence when wearing the device.

Scott Airpaks are now standard equipment of the four Woodstock companies.

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson's report to the department listed 52 fire calls for the year to date, an increase over the last two years. He also spoke concerning the use of fire equipment in riots, stating that the apparatus was not to be used in riot disorders except to respond to a fire and that in case of attack upon firemen the men and equipment were to return to stations.

The matter of special jackets for members of the Woodstock Fire Department was discussed, with a committee appointed to determine costs and the four companies to consider the matter at their individual meetings. The possibility of a fire school on "Small Company Operations" was approved, with the chief to determine if this school would be available from the state authorities during the fall season.

A committee is scheduled for selection from each company for the purpose of proposing a slate of top line officers for the department. It will report at the next quarterly meeting to be held in Woodstock village on Oct. 28.

Love

"Love" will be the subject of the lesson sermon to be given Sunday at the First Church, Christ Scientist, Woodstock. Services will be held at 11 a.m.

Christ Church Fair, Cafeteria

Christ Lutheran Church Fair. Hot dogs and drinks will be on sale throughout the afternoon. The cafeteria will start at 5 p.m. with a menu consisting of ham, turkey, meat loaf, salads, beans rolls, desserts and beverages.

Take out orders will be available if containers are supplied.

Elder Trindle Preaching at Dutch Church

The morning worship at Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, Sunday, Aug. 4, 11 a.m. will be conducted by Elder Joseph W. Trindle.

Born to a missionary family in China, he received his education on the West Coast earning three degrees in engineering, physics and a bachelor of divinity degree from Fuller Seminary.

Prior to coming to Woodstock he served in the mission field for ten years in Morocco as an associate of his wife, Dr. Margaret Trindle, pediatrician, and doing Mission Evangelism there. He served as a consulting engineer, and as a teacher in Ulster County Community College, a Bible Teacher in the Woodstock Church, an Elder, and a supply preacher at Woodstock and in numerous churches of the area. This Sunday he will occupy his home church pulpit in the church where he helped to spark the present building enterprise as a leader in the canvass team.

Dutch Church Fair, Food Sale Aug. 17

The Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church fair and food sale, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Monroe Longendyke, will be held on the church grounds on Saturday, Aug. 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Among the articles to be featured on the new table this year will be note paper, hand-painted by a local artist.

Other table displays will include books, china, glass, attic antiques, jewelry, plants and flowers, hats, pocketbooks, sweaters, blouses, art items and frames, baked goods, food, beverages and a fish pond for the kiddies.

Portrait sketches will be done throughout the day by Mrs. Maxine Wingate.

Home style lunches will be available during the day.

Hadassah Party

The Woodstock Group of Hadassah will hold its annual card and game party and sale, Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 2 p.m. on the lawn of Mrs. S. B. Newman, 16 Millstream Road in Woodstock.

For further information contact Mrs. J. J. Miller.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Mrs. Orlando, Jaynee of The Month

Mrs. Frank Orlando was awarded the Jaynee of the Month certificate for her chairmanship of the July project held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Calidres.

Mrs. Ernest Braun attended the meeting as a guest and Mrs. James Priest was welcomed into membership.

The proposed budget was voted upon and passed insuring new projects to aid in helping the community.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 27 at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Edna Morrison, beauty counselor, speaking on the subject of skin care.

Any Jaycee wife interested in attending is asked to contact Jeanette Orlando for information.

Church Fair

The annual fair and roast beef dinner at the Blue Mountain Reformed Church will be Wednesday, Aug. 7.

The fair begins at 2 p.m. with dinner being served at 5, 6 and 7 p.m.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Floyd W. Myer.

Picnic, Swim, Trip to Cavern

The summer camp program of the Reformed Church of Saugerties will sponsor a picnic-swim to the James Baird State Park, Tuesday, Aug. 6. Cars will leave the church at 9:30 a.m. and will return by 4 p.m.

Thursday, Aug. 8, there will be a trip to the Secret Caverns near Cobleskill. The group will leave at 9:30 a.m. and return by 3:30 p.m.

Applications are being accepted for the Day Nursery School which will begin its third year this September.

Dartball League Annual Meeting

The annual meeting and election of officers of Saugerties Dartball League will be held Monday, Aug. 5 at 8 p.m. in Centerville Methodist Church Hall, Route 212.

All teams that wish to renew their franchise to play in the fall and new teams that would like to secure a franchise should be represented and prepared to pay the annual dues. Planning of the schedule, rule revisions and election of officers will be the main order of business, according to vice president Virgil Finger.

Further information is available by calling Finger at 20 Elm Street, Saugerties.

New OEO Leader in New York

Jack M. Sable, a former president of Kingston and present Director of the New York State Office of Economic Opportunity, has been elected chairman of the State Economic Opportunity Office Directors Association at the annual National Conference of the group held in Washington recently.

Sable was appointed Director of the State Office of Economic Opportunity by Governor Rockefeller in 1967. In April of this year, the Governor appointed him Chairman of the Inter-departmental Committee on Minority Labor.

The Directors Association of the State Economic Opportunity Office was established under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. The major functions of the Association are to mobilize and coordinate the efforts of the state units in furthering economic opportunity; providing technical assistance to communities in developing, conducting and administering community action programs.

Sable was born in Kingston and attended Yeshiva University where he received his B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees. He served in the U. S. Air Force during the Korean conflict, and is a major in the Air Force Reserve. He lives with his wife and family in the Bronx.

OK $1,521,138 For Catskill's Sewage Works

Governor Rockefeller announced today approval of a $1,521,138 Pure Water construction grant application by the Village of Catskill for sewage treatment works that will abate pollution of the Hudson River. Pure Waters program grants are provided under the direction of the State Department of Health.

This project, Governor Rockefeller said, "will consist of sewage treatment facilities, pump stations and interceptor sewers to serve the Village of Catskill. The plant is designed for an average flow of 1,500,000 gallons per day and for an expected population of 7,000 by the year 1977. At the present time, untreated sewage is being discharged into Catskill Creek, a tributary of the Hudson River."

"The estimated total eligible cost of this project is $2,576,200. The State grant represents 58 per cent of the eligible cost. This includes the 30 per cent State grant and an additional $747,678 which represents State prefinancing all but one per cent of the Federal share of 30 per cent. Because of inadequate Congressional appropriations for water pollution control, the Federal grant will be only $25,782."

An application for the Federal grant is being forwarded to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

Design engineer is Robert J. Ganley of Albany.

Youth Center Discussion at Marlbletown

"It's about time we did something for the teenagers of Marlbletown. There's nothing for them to do here, nothing to hold them, and as soon as they're old enough, they leave."

That's how one member of a group calling itself The Citizens of Marlbletown put it when he spoke of the need for a local youth center. "Now we're at least going to try to do something about the lack."

In order to find out the community's feelings, according to Sidney Reiss, organizer of the group, an open meeting has been called for Friday, Aug. 2 at 7:30 p. m. It will be held in the library of the Ulster County Community College. Both parents and teenagers are urged to attend.

"We're thinking now of a central clubhouse or nerve center with a number of specific activity branches in various communities," says Reiss. "These might range through anything from a skating rink to a canoe-club shop. We will figure out just where we're going at the meeting on Friday."

Datebook of Queen Elizabeth Very Complete

By MARGARET SAVILLE
LONDON (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth's datebook reads like no one else's anywhere.

Buckingham Palace statistics show she can expect in an average year to attend about 70 functions in different parts of Britain and make one overseas trip.

She gives nearly 300 royal audiences, including a once weekly session with the prime minister whenever parliament is in session. Foreign ambassadors, government ministers, armed service chiefs, bishops and principals of charitable organizations account for most of the rest.

In any one year she is apt to hold 16 meetings of the Privy Council, through which she exercises many of her powers and obtains advice.

At the palace she holds an average of 13 investitures to award accolades to new knights and other recipients of honors. At each of them she stands for more than two hours.

Again at the palace she holds four garden parties with 7,000 guests at each one, gives 26 formal lunch and dinner parties, and also entertains royal visitors at tea or cocktails.

On 11 occasions she will sit in one of the state rooms to pose for a photographer, an artist painting her portrait or a sculptor modeling her head.

She goes to nine movie benefits, concerts and variety

In addition, Elizabeth has to deal with official and private correspondence daily and read and approve numerous state papers. She spends at least two hours at her desk, seven days a week.

Sometimes she economizes on her precious time by studying documents under the dryer as she gets her weekly hair do and manicure in her palace dressing room. She has twice-monthly dress fittings for new clothes. Before an overseas tour, she usually devotes two entire days to wardrobe fittings.

Most mornings at the palace, the queen sees her housekeeper and her steward—he would be called the butler anywhere else—to deal with domestic matters and staff problems.

ROYAL LEO — When the British lion roars these days, even if he does so less frequently and less loudly than in days of yore, at least five members of the present royal family can claim, "He roars for me." The eldest of the royal Leos is the Queen Mother Elizabeth who celebrates her 68th birthday August 4. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Texas Coffee House Relaxation for GIs

By LEE JONES

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Malcolm X, Sophia Loren, Marilyn Monroe, and Albert Einstein looked down from bigger than life photoposters as a young GI in fatigues put a Peter, Paul and Mary record on the turntable.

A few feet away from the stereo's blaring speaker two Ft. Hood GIs in civilian clothes played a war game—chess.

Overseeing the scene was Josh Gould, who runs the Oleo Strut, a coffee house near the end of Avenue D, a garish, Army town type of street, lined with pawn shops, pinball joints, military uniform shops and small loan companies.

The Oleo Strut—the name belongs to a shock absorber on a helicopter's landing gear—is a project of the Summer of Support, an effort to put the "New Left" peace movement in personal touch with enlisted men in seven major Army posts. The coffee house opened a little more than a month ago.

One of Largest Ft. Hood is one of the Army's largest posts, both in land area and in number of troops—35,000 men in uniform.

It is about three miles west of Killeen. Many of its men are either bound for or just returning from Vietnam.

Two volunteers work with Gould in the Oleo Strut and say they pay their living expenses out of what the coffee house takes in.

One identified himself as Jay Lockard, 21, a Radcliffe College coed from New Jersey. She is tall, brown eyed with short black hair.

The other is a frail, blond youth, about 19, whose forehead keeps falling over his face. He is from New York. He doesn't want his name used.

Both came down just for the summer but now are thinking about staying on.

"There has been a problem of not many people in the peace movement understanding GIs. A lot even regard him as an enemy. But most of the guys in the Army see themselves as victims, not as enemies of peace," Jay said.

Gould, 23, says the purpose of the coffee house is to give soldiers a place where they can relax in the "with it" atmosphere many of them were used to before they came in the service.

No liquor is sold, and drugs are forbidden.

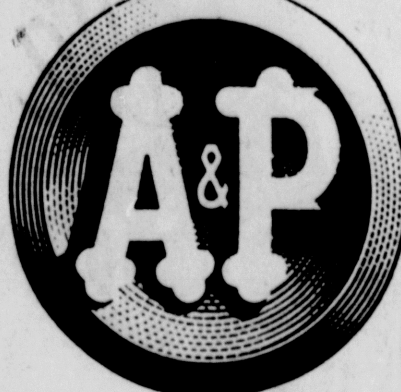

An ex-soldier three years in Special Services, from San Antonio, Gould claims no effort is made to convert soldiers to opposing the Vietnam war. During one weekday evening, none of the people who run the Oleo Strut was overheard starting a conversation about the war.

Yellow Walls
The walls of the Oleo Strut are light yellow. It has about 20 tables with orange plastic cloths over them, and an odd assortment of chairs. Numerous posters—psychedelic, art nouveau, giant blow-ups of celebrity photos—cover the walls. From a bar up front coffee, cider, soft drinks, cheese cake, ice cream, pie and donuts are sold. A rack full of records sits next to the stereo turntable for customers to play. The discs lean heavily toward the new rock groups, folk singers and protest songs.

Lettuce, celery, cantaloupes, cotton and alfalfa are the chief crops of California's Imperial Valley.

Helps You Overcome FALSE TEETH Looseness and Worry
No longer be annoyed or feel ill-at-ease because of loose, wobbly false teeth. FASTEETH, an improved alkaline powder, holds plates firmer so they feel more comfortable. Avoid embarrassment caused by loose false teeth. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

We care

a pledge from the management of A&P

What we are about to say is not new. Matter of fact, it's over 100 years old.

A&P IS DEDICATED TO BRINGING THE MOST GOOD FOOD, TO THE MOST PEOPLE, FOR THE LEAST AMOUNT OF MONEY.

That is the basis on which our company has grown and prospered over the years.

We think it's important during this period of time to reiterate that pledge.

We want there to be no doubt in your mind about our policy with respect to food costs.

We want you to know we are concerned.

We want you to know we're doing our level best.

We want you to know that above all, "We Care... About You."

Wants Gun Control Laws As Tribute to Sen. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Passage of meaningful gun control laws was urged Tuesday as a memorial to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., spoke at a memorial session in the Senate where several members said that pursuit of Kennedy's goals would be the best way to remember him.

Kennedy was assassinated in Los Angeles eight weeks ago. While many senators paid tribute to him the day he died, it is a Senate tradition to hold a formal session for eulogies.

None of the Kennedy family was present. The late senator's brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, has not appeared on the floor since Robert Kennedy died June 6.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said in his speech that "people will remember Robert Francis Kennedy when there is an end of Vietnams."

And Mansfield said, "People will remember Robert Francis Kennedy when the children of this land play together and grow together and then work and live together in a new national unity forged of an equal decency and dignity for all."

Javits said Kennedy's chief concern was for the plight of those "who are oppressed rather than uplifted by the society of which we are all a part."

Javits said Kennedy "endured personal torture" at the sight of starving children in the south and "he literally shook with passionate indignation that this could happen here."

"The greatest memorial we can have," the New York senator said, would be to work toward Kennedy's goals of revamping the welfare laws, helping the poor work their way out of the slums, and enacting "meaningful gun control laws."

21st Marine Ball Set for November

Commandant Raymond Malecki of the Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, has announced that plans are being formulated for the 21st annual Marine ball to be held Nov. 9 at the Walnut Grove on Field Court.

The affair will feature a top grade floor show from New York City and dancing and the usual fun and frolic that takes place at each ball.

The ball also honors the birthday of the United States Marine Corps which organized 193 years ago at a meeting of a group of patriotic men held at Tun Tavern in Philadelphia. Their first assignment was aboard the ships of what then constituted the U. S. Navy and they primarily were snipers attaching themselves to the rigging to fire down on enemy ships.

Since then the U. S. Marines have been an integral part of the history of this country, and the contributions made by the organization are recorded in the progress of the Republic.

Gilbert E. Gray is ball chairman; Joseph Sullivan is in charge of program journal; Frank Rafoldi will be ticket chairman. Other committee assignments will be forthcoming.

An annual feature of the Marine Ball is the announcement of the Ulster County Marine of the Year. Each year a man is chosen from the ranks of the Detachment who has proven by several years service that he is worthy of this designation.

The Detachment will also honor two citizens of the Ulster County area for particular service to the community and the Marine Corps League, and citations will be awarded to these recipients.

The ball committee is contemplating a change in the format of the Marine Ball. In previous years, the ball consisted of a floor show, dancing and beverages. The committee is pondering the possibility of including a dinner, to be followed by the usual ball program. This of course would require a considerable increase in ticket price, but serious consideration is being given the dinner idea.

Opinions are respectfully solicited from Marine Ball patrons as to how they feel about the dinner idea. A final decision will be made soon and proper announcement made.

The first Marine Ball was held in January, 1947, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. In the intervening time each year, except one, this affair has been held. Over these years it has grown in public acceptance and has become known as one of the "fun" affairs of each season.

Proceeds of the Marine Ball are used for operation of Ulster Detachment and also to support the Marine scholarship awards. Each year three Ulster County high school graduates receive a monetary award to assist them in furthering their education.

Ticket sales and program journal ads will be solicited by telephone and personal contact.

Kent Ends Visit

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — Landscape artist Rockwell Kent has ended a 10-day visit to Newfoundland, where he was exiled 53 years ago, and says he may return again.

Mrs. Kent, speaking for her 86-year-old husband, whose hearing has deteriorated because of a stroke, said Tuesday that "my husband found a house for rent."

Kent, who lives in Ausable Forks, N.Y., was invited to Newfoundland by Premier Joseph Smallwood after Smallwood read of Kent's deportation in 1915 as a suspected German spy.

Possible Arson

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Police say they are investigating the possibility of arson in three fires that have broken out recently at the Climate Control Division of the Singer Co.

Officials said Tuesday that an undetermined amount of damage has resulted from the fires, two July 24 and the third early Tuesday. There were no injuries reported in any of the fires.

AWOL Army Private Dies In Thruway Accident

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP) — A young Army private, being held as AWOL from Ft. Mead, Md., was killed Tuesday in the collision of an Army staff car, a truck and two other automobiles on the State Thruway near here.

The victim was identified as Michael Spine, 20, of Frankfort, who was being transported from Griffiss Air Force Base in Rome to Albany by two military policemen.

Seven other persons were injured in the crash.

The accident occurred about three miles west of the Amsterdam interchange, State Police said, and all vehicles were traveling in the eastbound lane.

Injured in the crash were the two military policemen, army Sgt. William Holland, 36, and Army Spec. 4, Anthony Cavalieri, 22, both from the 213th Military Police Detachment, Ft. Hamilton, Brooklyn; David Britton, 42, and his wife Barbara, 42, both of Ripon, Wis.; Charles B. Davies, 51, and his wife, Mildred, 51, of Syracuse, and James Lynch, 50, of Albany, the driver of the truck.

Holland was reported in serious condition and the Brittons in good condition in Amsterdam Memorial Hospital, while Cavalieri was reported in serious condition in St. Mary's Hospital here.

Davies, his wife and Lynch were treated and released from Amsterdam Memorial Hospital. Spine's address was listed as 106 Mill St.

Urban League Will Elect Time Inc. Head

NEW ORLEANS (UPD) — James A. Linen, president of Time, Inc., today was in line for election as head of the National Urban League at its 58th annual conference.

An Urban League spokesman said Tuesday night Linen's election was a "foregone conclusion" and "but a formality."

Linen would succeed Lindsley F. Kimball of New York, retired executive of the Rockefeller Foundation. Kimball has served the Urban League as president since 1964.

Stanley Marcus, millionaire owner of the Neiman-Marcus specialty store in Dallas, told 2,000 delegates Tuesday Negroes should take advantage of massive efforts by government, business and industry to provide jobs.

Employers now have a "new sense of responsibility," said Marcus. They are offering new job opportunities that are not being filled, he said, because of a "believability gap" between job counselors and job seekers.

Sterling Tucker of Washington, D.C., Urban League member for 22 years, has been named to spearhead a key "new thrust" aimed at making ghettos better places to live.

Tucker will head the newly created Urban League field services department to speed action in relieving ghetto conditions, fighting white racism and involving middle-class black people more deeply in the struggle to move Negroes from ghetto society to higher levels.

'Dormant' Volcano Erupts, 45 Dead, Many Flee Homes

ARENAL, Costa Rica (UPI) — U.S. Air Force planes rushed blankets and medical supplies today to thousands of refugees forced from their homes by the eruption of the volcano Mt. Arenal, dormant for 600 years until Monday.

The national guard counted 45 persons dead and 112 from 32 families missing in the destruction wrought by the volcano.

President Jose Joaquin Trejos declared a state of emergency and asked the legislature to set aside $3 million for emergency relief.

U.S. Air Force transports were bringing blankets, cots, tents and first aid kits for thousands of refugees in nearby Tilaran. American helicopters helped rescue them.

The 5,092-foot volcano spewed ashes 30,000 feet into the night sky and some landed as far as 60 miles away, blanketing the countryside.

Charged in Murder

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A 43-year-old man has been charged with murder in the death of Thomas Manous, 63, who was found in a downtown rooming house Tuesday with his throat slashed.

Police said they had arrested LeRoy Foster of Albany in connection with the slaying.

Foster also was being questioned in connection with another apparent killing, police said.

The second victim, identified by State Police as Alfonso T. Hillsman, 42, of Albany, was found Tuesday with his throat slashed in a grassy field near a Roman Catholic church in suburban Glenmont.

Puerto Nuevo's 8,447 residents on the mountainside absorbed the brunt of the first eruption and the town was abandoned, partially buried by the river of lava and rain of boulders spewn from the crater.

In 1951, there were tremors from Arenal, but no eruption. In recent years, children from Puerto Nuevo had slept in its crater, overgrown with scrub brush and grass.

Refugees streaming into Tilaran said rocks, some a yard in diameter, tumbled from the crater following the first explosion Monday morning. The river of lava then came creeping down the mountain.

On foot and by truck, thousands of Costa Ricans came streaming into the lowlands, their belongings hastily packed on their backs. Government relief supplies rolled in from San Jose.

Complete damage estimates were impossible. No one can tell when Arenal will cool down.

Favors Meetings At Different Sites

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank Harkin told The Freeman recently that informal meetings of the town board in pre-designated places in the hamlets should prove to be "a most effective way of letting the people know what the board is doing," and also of "learning what the people want."

Harkin established the plan when he realized that many older Wawarsing residents were unable to attend regular meetings of the board but who nevertheless were "vitaly interested in town affairs."

The first-term Republican Supervisor declared that board members "find the plan a valuable guide in assessing the needs of the people."

It is also a method for "hearing gripes" and comments that might otherwise have escaped official attention.

"It is a very elementary thing, but sometimes the simple things can be the most important," Harkin said.

Harkin explained that the size of the township requires a "full time supervisor," and that, although existing statutes do not force him to, he spends a full five-day week on the job.

"The town has 165.6 miles of roads, 85,000 acres of property (containing 132.9 square miles of land area within its boundaries), and 10 political subdivisions with a population of over 12,000-5,000 in the village (Ellenville) and 7,000 outside the village," the supervisor declared.

One item currently up for board consideration is the need for a town park, and Harkin would like to see the councilmen commit themselves to purchasing Camp Sunrise, or Sunrise Manor as it is sometimes called.

He points out that the $65,000 purchase price would be much less than the approximately $100,000 needed to develop the 218 acre Van Gorder property in the Greenfield area.

The Van Gorder site has already received the state's approval, through the Palisades Interstate Parks Commission.

Harkin said, the Sunrise property is already developed.

Coming up before the town board at its regular Aug. 1 meeting is the Wawarsing lighting district proposal. Petitions being circulated throughout the proposed district, located generally along Route 209 in the Hamlet of Wawarsing along with certain side roads, would have the town contracting for lighting of streets, avenues, highways and public places within the district.

The town board under Harkin has requested a meeting between attorney Benjamin Lonstein, representing the Hotel Owners' Association, and town attorney Joseph Friedman on the matter of a municipal airport.

The supervisor said that a state-funded survey could be set up in search of an airport.

Successful Investing....

by ROGER E. SPEAR

Investment Advisor & Analyst

Have Patience With Insurance Investment

Q — In 1964 I put $10,000 into Insurance Securities Trust Fund. Now after 4 years my investment shows a $3,500 paper loss. My broker says not to worry because insurance stocks have been in a slump. Would you advise me to take this loss and get into something else? — B.N.

A — I'm inclined to go along with your broker and not take the big loss confronting you at the present time. There is a distinctly better investment attitude developing toward insurance stocks in general and I believe you should wait to see how this change may possibly affect your fund's portfolio.

I also note that some corporate problems have developed in the management company which distributes your fund's shares. Earnings declined sharply for 9 months ended in March. It is not uncommon for such problems to temporarily affect share values.

However, I have repeatedly stated in the column that any investment in the insurance industry should be undertaken as a long-term commitment, perhaps up to 10 years, to get the most out of it. The entire industry has been in the doldrums for about four years. Reports have recently come to me that redemptions are going down and sales are going up in three leading insurance funds. So I hope that your investment will likewise take a turn for the better and I would exercise the patience to hold it for another year if you can afford to do so.

Q — My investment club holds a number of shares of Columbia Broadcasting System. What dividends were paid during 1967 and when? — H.L.

A — A quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share was paid on these dates during 1967: March 10, June 9, Sept. 8 and Dec. 8. A 2 per cent stock dividend was distributed Dec. 20. The corresponding ex-dividend dates — in case these might concern you — were Feb. 20, May 23, Aug. 21 and Nov. 20 for both the final cash payment and stock distribution.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all question possible in his column.)

Little Rock, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright won re-nomination in Arkansas' primaries Tuesday against three Democratic foes who urged voters to wrest the office from him because of his stand on the Vietnam war.

Facing his sternest campaign test in 24 years, Fulbright received about 53 per cent of the vote, enough to save him from a runoff but short of the 65 per cent he predicted he would receive.

With 2,548 of 2,659 precincts reported, Fulbright had 202,024 votes, Jim Johnson, 122,072, Bobby K. Hayes, a flooring manufacturer from Calico Rock, 46,701 and Foster Johnson, a music publisher from Little Rock, 10,952.

His opponents accused the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman of giving aid and comfort to the enemy because of his outspoken opposition to U.S. involvement in the war.

During an intensive two-month campaign, Fulbright told voters his opposition to the war was aimed at "stopping the killing of our men and to bring them home to their families where they belong." He was a constant critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

Fulbright, 63, who emphasized his senatorial seniority, faces another test in the Nov. 5 general election against Charles T. Bernard, 40, of Earle, who was Bill Alexander of Osceola, an attorney, led the field in the 1st Congressional District Democratic primary but also faced a runoff.

State Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman led a six-way race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, but will face a runoff Aug. 13 against either Ted Boswell of Bryant or Mrs. Virginia Johnson of Conway.

At Least One Dead, 400 Hurt As Mexico City Riots Flare

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City was a battle ground again Tuesday as mobs of young people ran wild through the city, fighting police, wrecking city buses and throwing rocks and bottles.

At least one person was dead, more than 400 were injured and at least 1,100 persons had been arrested since antigovernment rioting began last Friday.

Officials claimed the riots were Communist inspired and said they were the worst Mexico's capital has experienced in 20 years.

Tuesday night club-wielding students braved a heavy rain and hijacked four city buses after forcing terrified passengers to flee. Then they ran the vehicles into the sides of buildings.

Earlier, Army troops fired volleys of shots into the air and dispersed the students. The troops were withdrawn, but the mobs returned, marching from the old university section, and seized the buses near the city's central square.

Riot squads swinging long batons dispersed that crowd, but at least 3,000 of the youths gathered half a mile away near a teacher's college. Their leaders used bugle calls and walkie-talkies to control them. They swarmed over buses and a trolley car, smashing windows and running the vehicles onto the sidewalks.

At one point all four intersections around the park in front of the school were blocked by the wrecked buses.

Two busloads of riot police sped to the scene. The students fled and the police were again withdrawn.

The violence mainly involved prep school students from 14 to 18 years of age. The disorders began last Friday with a pro-Castro demonstration honoring the anniversary of the Cuban prime minister's 26th of July Movement. Students charges of police and troop brutality turned their backs to the teachings of God.

Huge loudspeakers carried the voices of the players in the pageant, entitled "America's Witnesses for Christ," to the audience who sat on benches in the amphitheater, lounged on their own lawn chairs or sat in their cars.

The performances run through Saturday night.

Two elders of the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the church in Salt Lake City, Utah, were in attendance Tuesday. They were Richard L. Evans, who since 1930 has written and directed the weekly nationwide radio broadcasts of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, and Mark E. Petersen, president of Mormon Missions in Great Britain and South Africa.

The Mormons believe a group of people migrated from Palestine to Central and South America about 600 B.C. and built a great Christian empire.

King Lamoni was an ancient pagan who accepted Christianity and raised the culture to new heights, they say, but the empire crumbled when the people turned their backs to the teachings of God.

The students were outraged during the rioting Monday night when police fired a bazooka shell and lobbed tear gas through the wooden door of the National University's No. One preparatory school, and cleared out several hundred students.

Violence Hits More Cities

A fire station on the north side of Kalamazoo, Mich., was stoned Tuesday as young Negroes broke windows for the second straight night.

At Jackson, Mich., a group of 15 to 20 Negro youths entered a meeting of the city commission Tuesday night and threw eggs, one hitting a policeman.

Most of the other cities which experienced racial violence this week were quiet.

At Jackson, the city commission was meeting when a group of young Negroes entered demanding to be heard. Mayor Morris Townsend asked the leader of the group his name. The youth would not give it and Townsend said:

"If you can't give me the name on your birth certificate, I don't have to listen."

UCCC Appoints Division Head

DR. JOHN F. PARK

Dr. John F. Park has been appointed chairman of the Humanities Division at UCCC, president George B. Erbstein announced today.

Dr. Park, who presently is serving as director of the summer session, will succeed Joseph Keefe, who resigned as chairman so he can devote more time to writing and working toward his doctorate degree. Keefe will continue at the college as an associate professor of English.

Dr. Park, a member of the original UCCC faculty, is an Associate Professor of Music and is coordinator of music. He also has served as conductor of the College Chorus, and as chairman of the Faculty Organization.

Before joining the UCCC faculty in 1963, Dr. Park had previous teaching experience at Columbia University, the University of Florida, the University of Georgia and Virginia Intermont College.

Dr. Park attended Furman University, and received his bachelor's and master's degree from the University of North Carolina. He received his doctorate degree from Columbia University and has done additional graduate study at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

The new chairman is the co-author of a music textbook and is the editor and arranger of several published musical compositions. He is organist and choirmaster at Temple Emmanuel in Kingston.

A native of Greenville, S. C., Dr. Park has been a resident of Kingston for the last five years. He is an officer of the local college chapter of the American Association of University Professors and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, Phi Delta Kappa and numerous professional associations.

Diplomats are skeptical that it can be done.

Members of LAFTA are Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela.

Those 11 countries contain more than 90 per cent of the population of Latin America—more than 200 million people.

According to the Montevideo Treaty of 1960, which established the organization, they were supposed to free 25 per cent of the trade between them from customs duties every three years.

The first 25 per cent was achieved in 1964. But more than two months of negotiations failed to produce agreement on the products to be included in the second 25 per cent which was supposed to be achieved by the end of 1967. Members were forced to call the present extraordinary meeting.

Its prospects are no brighter. Last December the negotiations broke down over wheat and oil. Freeing those two commodities would achieve the 50 per cent goal. But Mexico, with support from Argentina and Brazil, objected to oil, and Bolivia objected to wheat. The object, of course, was to protect the national producers.

The catalog also lists five one-year diploma programs. They are business office skills, technology, commercial typist, legal typist, medical typist and drafting.

Listed in the catalog are 270 courses, an increase of 16 over the 254 courses listed in the previous catalog put out by the college.

College Adds New Courses

A new catalog presently is being distributed by UCCC to schools and libraries in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

The catalog lists 14 two-year programs, including the new nursing program that UCCC will start this fall.

The other degree programs are liberal arts, science or mathematics, engineering science, mechanical technology, electrical technology, industrial technology, medical laboratory technology, accounting, business administration, executive secretarial studies, retail business management, community service assistant, and recreation supervision.

Save a second. Spoil a life.

Car theft is often the first offense that later turns a boy into a full-time criminal. A lot of the fault is yours. You make car theft so easy. (Last year 76% of stolen cars were left unlocked; nearly half also had ignition keys in them.) Quite a temptation. You realize how great this temptation is when you know that 64% of people arrested for car theft are under 18. When you carelessly walk away from your unlocked car, you may be avoiding a 10-second job, but starting someone on a 10-year sentence.

Don't help a boy go bad.
When you park, take your keys.

South of Border Transit Woes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Those coming here for the summer Olympic Games will be devoting a good percentage of their time to transportation problems, not only getting here but moving around within the city once they do. Competition sites and cultural attractions are widely scattered.

Here's a rundown on some decisions that have to be made: The capital forms roughly an equilateral triangle with New York and Los Angeles and can be reached directly by car, bus, train or plane.

Air travel is quickest, and generally recommended. Most direct and popular auto route is the Pan American Highway (route 85), from Nuevo Laredo, which is 765 miles and takes about 21 hours driving time, much of it through mountain. An alternate route is to take the Pan American Highway to Monterrey and then change to route 57 which is more of a lowland drive. Both have en-route accommodations, although the latter has more.

From Nogales, the Pacific Coast Highway runs south 1,569 miles, mostly paved, but narrow in spots, picturesque, with fairly frequent accommodations en route.

From Ciudad Juarez the distance via route 45 is 1,300 miles, or 31 hours, with relatively good road and accommodations en route.

Some sections of the main routes are patrolled by green trucks carrying fuel, oil, spare parts, first aid equipment and two men, one who speaks English. They pass a given point on their patrol section twice a day, and their services are free.

It is wise to bring spare parts for the car, as sometimes they are unobtainable in Mexico. Fill the tank at every gas station en route, for the next service station may be a tankful away.

Pemex, the government oil monopoly, supplies all gasolines, which come in three grades. The price per gallon in U.S. currency for the three grades will amount to 40 cents, 31 cents and 25 cents, respectively. High compression engines generally require "Pemex 100," the most expensive, while others should burn "Gasolmex."

Parking in Mexico City costs 5.20 pesos daily, but many attendants will use all their wiles to wash or wax your car before it leaves their lot.

If someone offers to watch your car, you'd better agree. Even if it is a type of blackmail, it's a guaranty that your car will be intact when you return.

Driving in Mexico is hazardous at best. Mexican drivers feel no compunctions about taking their half of the road out of the middle, and buses and trucks pass blind over hills on two-lane roads.

The horn is used more often than the brake and sudden lane changing is a way of life. Around the city a good map is best, in book form is the Guia indispensable and one of the Roja, which costs $1 U.S. at most bookstores or Sanborn's drug chain.

Buses from the nearest border points to Mexico City cost about $6 U.S. Autobuses Bwancas leaves from Nuevo Laredo and Transportes Frontera and Transportes del Norte serve the capital from Matamoros. Tres Estrellas de Oro makes the haul from Tijuana for $2.50 U.S. These one-way fares are subject to change without notice. The buses mentioned are first class with reserved seats, reclining chairs and air conditioning.

Rail service to Mexico City is generally on schedule and, while not up to U.S. standards, comfortable enough.

Here are some sample one-way, first-class train rates, including a lower berth, which are subject to change without notice: from Nuevo Laredo, $14.14 U.S.; from Nogales, $30.56 U.S.; from Mexicali, $38.56 U.S.; from Matamoros, with only coach service available, $8.56 U.S.; from Ciudad Juarez, $21.41 U.S.

Mexico's crack train is the "Aztec Eagle," which runs from Nuevo Laredo. It has dining car, bar and observation car. Meals aboard the railroads range downward from $2 U.S., which gets you a full dinner with filet mignon or fried chicken. The cheapest meal, a breakfast of hotcakes, costs 80 cents U.S. Some say the food is mediocre.

Airlines now serving Mexico from the United States include Pan American, Eastern, American, Western, Braniff, Aerovias de Mexico, CMA (Compania Mexicana de Aviacion) and Air France.

Here are approximate economy round-trip air fares without tax to Mexico in U.S. currency, subject to change without notice: from Chicago $214, Houston $88, Los Angeles $198, Miami $180, New Orleans $121, New York $254.

Various airlines will provide tickets during the Olympics only on a package deal made through U.S. travel agencies and only to persons holding confirmed accommodations and tickets for the games.

A tourist card is needed to enter Mexico. It's free and all a person needs is proof of U.S. citizenship, such as a birth certificate which he should carry with him. The tourist card can be obtained to any Mexican consulate, or through a travel agent who is handling the trip.

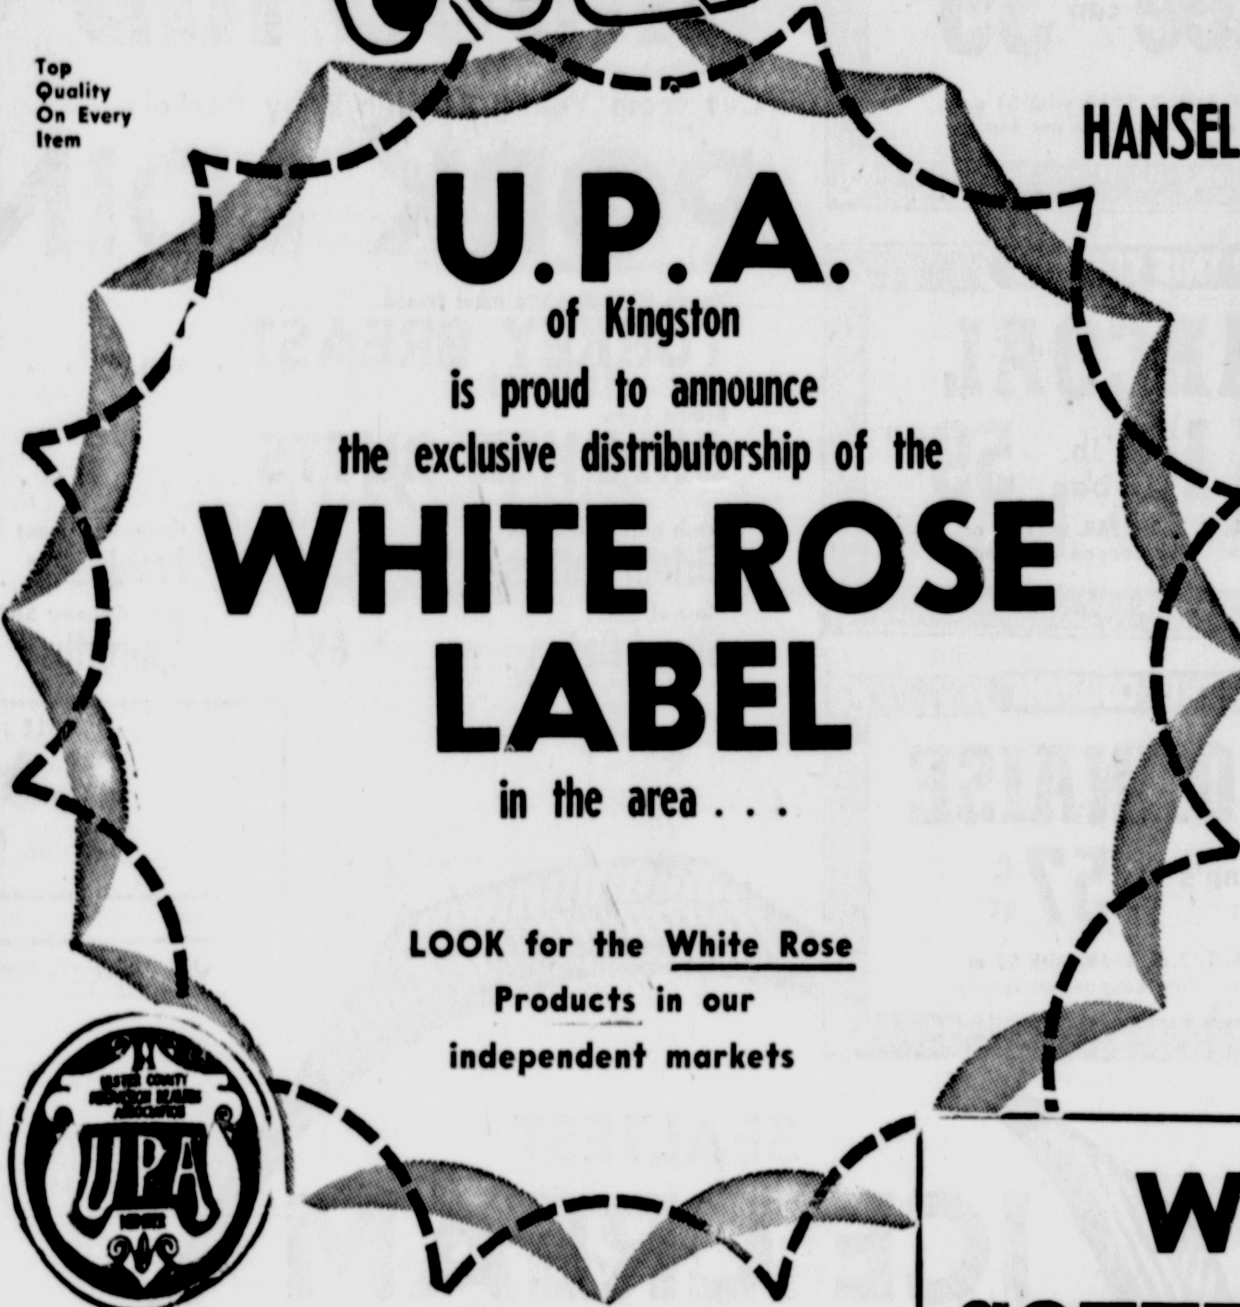

An auto permit is needed to drive into Mexico, and the person in whose name the permit is issued will not be allowed to leave Mexico without the car unless he leaves it in bond—a complicated process. This permit must be obtained at a border crossing point, you must prove ownership.

SHORELINERS DRUM, BUGLE CORPS

Nutmeg State Bandsmen Set For Aug. 10 Pow Wow Here

The Indians have announced that the Shoreliners Drum and Bugle Corps of Milford, Conn., will make their first appearance in Kingston when they pit themselves against six of the Northeast's top corps, at the fourth annual Pow Wow of Junior Champions. This international championship contest will be held at Dietz Stadium at 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 10, and promises to be one of the most colorful events of the area. The host corps, the Troop 12, and the Kingston Indians, will appear in exhibition.

The 1968 version of the Shoreliners presents a show best described as enjoyment. Precision marching and maneuvering is combined with a new musical repertoire that will please the most critical audience.

Since their organization in 1959 this corps has climbed steadily, compiling an enviable record that includes the 1967 Connecticut American Legion State Championship and the Greater New York Circuit Story medley, Hands Across the Championship. In their first attempt at a national champion, Comedian's Gallop, Mas Que ship, in 1967, the corps placed 11th out of some 60 competing corps. The Shoreliners have been the subject of a feature article in "Law and Order" by Bob Daniels, magazine which noted their accomplishments as police-sponsored youth, and have been officially cited by the City of Milford for their achievements.

The blue, white and gold corps is sponsored by the East Shore Post No. 196 American Legion, Devon Post No. 7788 Indians, at the Amalgamated V.F.W., and Milford's Finest, Clothing Workers of America. Field compliment of the corps Sottile's Shoe Repair at 377 consists of 36 bugles, 18 drums, Washington Avenue, and and color guard of 24. 1968 rep-Frank's Barber Shop, 230 ertoire includes West Side Greenkill Avenue.

Friendship Wanes

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Public displays of friendship between South Africa and Rhodesia which surged through both countries after Rhodesia's seizure of independence in November 1965 are on the wane. The newsletter of the Rhodesian National Friends of South Africa says the organization notes a fade-out of enthusiasm and doubts whether it will get the necessary monetary support for the next financial year.

Rondout Group Aids Activities at Cornell

By JON POWERS

Despite pre-season plans to exclude Cornell Park from the Recreation Department's summer program, the attendance there, while substantially less than some of the larger and better equipped playgrounds in the city, has thus far warranted the last minute decision that kept the park in operation for the summer.

Cornell is located adjacent to Spring Street, off Broadway, in the downtown section of the city. The park was not originally intended to be included in this summer's recreation program, primarily because of low attendance last year. But, because Cornell is the only place in that area where youngsters can gather together and participate in an organized and supervised program of outdoor games and activities, the decision to close the park was cancelled.

Although it had been suggested that the youngsters attend the programs in either Hasbrouck or Block Parks, the trip from the downtown Broadway area to either of the two parks would have been too far and exhausting for many of the younger children. The fact that the park has remained open to the youngsters of the area has, in itself, been instrumental in keeping many of the children off the streets during the day-time hours.

Two Factors

Cornell's decline in attendance can be attributed to two main factors. The first is the absence of a substantial amount of equipment available to the youngsters at the park. Cornell's five-acre tract contains a small pavilion able to accommodate a maximum of twenty persons, a wading pool, horse-shoe pits, and swings. The wading pool is, of course, the most popular fixture at the park. The youngsters divide their time between the pool and the pavilion, where they participate in arts and crafts projects, quiet games, reading hours, puppet shows, etc. There are, however, no extensive sporting facilities (such as tennis or basketball courts).

Cornell does, however, receive the same attention as the other six parks in the city. The youngsters are provided with arts and crafts materials, and the youngsters are able to participate in each of the citywide tournaments and field days that are held throughout the summer. In addition, they take weekly excursions and field trips to areas of interest in and around the city.

The second factor that has contributed to Cornell's decreased attendance is one that has, nevertheless, proven to be beneficial to the youngsters in the area. Cornell, as well as Hasbrouck Park, is participating in a recreational program sponsored by the Rondout Action Group which is held on weekday mornings. The group, operated by 41 volunteers from three area churches—St. Mary, St. Ursula, and the Trinity Methodist Church—has organized a morning program of games and activities similar to the programs offered at the other parks in the city.

The advantage of the Rondout Group's program is that the youngsters are afforded more intensified individual attention. The 41 volunteers are doing what five counselors from the two parks were required to do before the program was put into effect.

One of Three Churches

The youngsters gather at the recreational facilities of one of the three churches every morning and remain until the early afternoon. They take part in quiet games and arts and crafts sessions under the direction and supervision of the volunteers. When the morning session has ended, they can return to Cornell for additional supervised activities.

Because the Rondout Group program is better organized and supervised than Cornell's own program, many children prefer to attend the morning session rather than spend that time at the park. In addition, after a morning of intensified activity, many children are reluctant to participate in the some events during the warmer afternoon hours.

The Recreation Department is the first to applaud the efforts of the Rondout Community Group. Many officials feel that if more citizens and community groups took an interest in the activities of the city's youngsters, the recreation program would flourish tremendously.

The Recreation Department has made plans for supplying Cornell and the other city parks with additional equipment. Over $6,000 worth of swings, slides, and merry-go-rounds have been ordered and are expected to be installed in the near future. Most of the equipment is described as "ultra-modern" and if it proves to be a hit with the youngsters, more may be ordered in the future.

The new equipment, in addition to the regular facilities and materials supplied by the Recreation Department, are just a part of the overall program that the city has instituted in order to provide the youngsters of Kingston with a worthwhile summer program of constructive fun. The success of this year will determine whether or not next summer will be even more successful.

Art Projects

Cornell counselors Sharon Kennedy and Stan Henderson assist youngsters in making foam rubber hats during an afternoon arts and crafts session under the pavilion at the downtown park. In addition to taking part in creative project, the children play in the wading pool during the hot afternoon hours, and take weekly excursions to Kingston Point Beach and local sites of interest. Last week, 32 children from Cornell accompanied over 150 youngsters from the other city parks on a field trip to the Bronx Zoo. During the morning hours, many of the children participate in the Rondout Action Group's summer program of quiet games, reading activities, and arts and crafts projects. The program, sponsored by three churches in the downtown area, consists of 41 volunteer workers who direct the youngsters in their activities. By next week, the Recreation Department is expected to install some newly purchased "ultra modern" playground equipment, including "saddle-mates" and "space platforms," at Cornell. With the new equipment, the Recreation Department hopes to stimulate new interest in the park's facilities. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Facing Famine

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — More than 200 African families in drought-stricken southwest Rhodesia are facing famine. Tswana-speaking tribesmen in the Mpoengs Reserve near the Botswana border are reported worst hit.

About 20 families have qualified for government famine relief so far. The drought caused failure of the vital corn crop.

Isaac, modeling; Richard Cyr, programs; Lois Buchan, pageant secretary; Francello, Ralph Lachmann, Robert Naccarato, Bud Turek and Schnell, staging; William Hayes, set execution, and Inga Hayes, set design.

Orientation sessions are being held in all parts of the county in preparation for the first rehearsal Sept. 4. Applications of eligible single young ladies in the 17 to 28 age bracket are still being accepted. Mrs. Vivian Schultz entries coordinator may be contacted at Vivian's Specialty Shop, Saugerties, by phone or in person.

Closing date for nomination is expected to be Aug. 3.

O'Dwyer Repeats: Cannot Support HHH

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Paul O'Dwyer, Democratic presidential nominee, wrapped up a Western New York campaign trek here Tuesday by re-affirming his refusal to support vice president Hubert H. Humphrey if he wins the Democratic presidential nomination.

O'Dwyer, a former New York City councilman who hopes to upset Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits in the Nov. 5 election, said he had been assured support by Joseph P. Crangle, Erie County Democratic Chairman, and Frank E. Sedita, Buffalo's Democratic mayor.

He said speculation on a possible Humphrey-Sen. Eugene McCarthy ticket was wasted effort because "That would be like mixing oil and water. I can't conceive of Sen. McCarthy taking second place on a ticket with Mr. Humphrey."

O'Dwyer, a strong supporter of the Minnesota senator's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, won an upset victory in the June 18 primary to get the Democratic nod for the senatorial contest.

He visited several smaller Western New York cities between Sunday and Tuesday, and told a group of Buffalo labor leaders that he was sure McCarthy would win the Democratic presidential contest in Chicago this month.

He said Humphrey's campaign "has not gotten off the ground," while the McCarthy contingent continued to amass grass roots support across the country.

O'Dwyer said many of New York State's uncommitted Democratic National Convention delegates would throw their support to McCarthy by the time the convention opens Aug. 26.

12th Armored Division Elects Saehloff President

Freeman advertising man, Robert H. Saehloff of 28 Dietz Court, was elected president of the 12th Armored Division Association, one of the largest of its type in existence, boasting memberships in all 50 states, at the organization's 22nd annual reunion held July 25-27 at the Sheraton Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa.

Saehloff, the association's 16th president, just completed two terms as 1st vice president in charge of membership which reached an unprecedented high total during his tenure.

ROBERT H. SAEOFF

Officers elected to serve with Saehloff include Victor Challen, first vice president; David Golden, second vice president; Jack Miller, third vice president; and Leonard P. Dooley, treasurer. Nicholas J. Hardony and Frank Nestico were elected as directors. Harold Hendricks was reappointed executive secretary.

Saehloff, in his address to the approximately 400 in attendance at the annual dinner dance, thanked the members for their cooperation in aiding his membership drive promotions of the past year and outlined plans for the coming year.

Reunion Chairman Bernard McCann announced that the Philadelphia reunion had emerged as one of the best attended and most successful of those held so far. He stated that the groups who toured the Schmidt's Brewery and the historical section of the city offered praise to the committee in charge.

It was voted by the members to hold the 23rd reunion in 1969 at Cleveland, Ohio.

The 12th Armored Division Association was founded Sept. 15, 1945 at Heldenheim, Germany. A reunion has been held each year since the first gathering at New York City in 1947. According to Saehloff, a charter member of the association, former members of the division may obtain additional information concerning association membership and the division's monthly "Hellcat News" by contacting him or writing to Harold J. Hendricks, executive secretary, Box 13, Skokie, Ill. 60076.

Negro History Series To Be Offered Locally

Ulster County Community College has added a new course, the History of the Negro in America, which will be offered for the first time this fall.

George B. Erbstein, president, announced.

Dr. Erbstein said the college will offer this course Thursday nights this fall at Kingston High School, starting Sept. 12, to make it more available for residents of the community.

"The faculty added this new course at the college," said Dr. Erbstein, "because they felt the importance and relevancy for people of all ages and segments of the community to understand the many contributions of the Negro in United States history."

The course will cover the role played by the American Negro in the history of the United States from the colonial period to the present. Emphasis will be on the influence of slavery, segregation and racism on political, economic and social developments in American history.

This history course carries three college credits, but mature adults not interested in credit will be permitted to audit the course.

$4.6 Billion Shave Listed For Projects

Ellenville and Rosendale's share of the water projects money incorporated in the Public Works Appropriation Bill of $4.6 billion was announced today.

The senate has sent the White House a compromise bill which is $300 million below the administration's budget request.

The approximate figure for North Ellenville is $679,000; South Ellenville, $427,000 and Rosendale, $970,000.

The measure, approved by a voice vote of the House last week, would provide $1.2 billion for water projects to be built by army engineers and $273 million for the Interior Department's Reclamation Bureau for power and irrigation projects.

Port Ewen

There will be a dog show at Ross Park in Port Ewen sponsored by the Ken-L-Ration Dog Food Company. The show will be held Aug. 2 at 10:30 a. m. Entry blanks will be available at the park.

On July 25 Ross Park held its annual Doll Show. Among the first and second prize winners were: Biggest Doll, Debbie Miller and Susie Mould; Smallest Doll, Janey Atkins and Susie Mould; Cutest Baby Doll, Lare Carol and Debbi Carlson; Prettiest Doll, Lori Provenzano and Gail Terwilliger; Funniest Doll, Salvatore Cuti and Pat and Carol Lee Rucker; Most Original Doll, Kristy Emerson and Terry Carlson; Best Dressed Teenage Doll, Jeanette Davis and Patti VanLoan; Bride Doll, Roxanne Pecora and Lori Shelighner; Most Unusual Doll, Nancy Griggs and Janey Atkins; and Best of Show, Judy Leon.

Nab AWOL Marine

Michael Frank Binns, 17, of West Union Street, was picked up Tuesday by Kingston police and booked for being AWOL from the U. S. Marine Corps. The youth was later turned over to military police from Stewart Air Force Base.

Fish Opposes Addict Release

Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican nominee for Congress, said today that he "strongly opposes" the release of court certified narcotic addicts from the Mid-Hudson installation at Matteawan and other locations in the state.

The question of their release arises from a recent decision by the State's highest court which held that certain procedures committing addicts were unconstitutional.

Fish said, "New York has spent vast sums to combat the problem of narcotic addiction and resulting crime. It would be reckless to turn loose on society hundreds of addicts in cases where their rights were not violated. The Court of Appeals," Fish continued, "held that proper safeguards relative to 'hearings' were not conducted. There are some 900 addicts who fall within this category. However, of the 900, at least 700 never requested a hearing, and were committed on the application of friends or relatives following court certification."

Mental Health Payments Due

Members of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health are reminded that this year's dues should be sent to Mrs. William A. Krum, membership chairman, as soon as possible.

The dues play an integral role in supporting this voluntary health organization. If the membership dues are not received, the services of the Association such as chartering the monthly bus to the Middletown State Hospital, publishing the Directory of Mental Health Services in Ulster County, and providing educational programs to civic groups, churches, and schools throughout the county would not be possible.

'Our Biggest Contract Ever' Claim Happy Steelworkers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers Union (USW) won its biggest contract ever from the basic steel industry and many of its members soon will be receiving one of the top provisions—increased unemployment pay.

Agreement on the contract, valued at $1.5 billion over its three-year duration, was reached Tuesday and ended the threat of a nationwide strike at midnight tonight by 400,000 union men employed in basic steel.

But the industry plans a 33 per cent cutback in operations from Aug. 1 through at least the remainder of the year. Accordingly, there will be layoffs, although not necessarily at the same rate.

The threat of a strike was averted earlier this year in the can, aluminum, copper and auto lever the union used in achieving the settlement. It also is the cause of the pending cutback. Consumers, stockpiling for up to a year in the event there was a work stoppage, now must use up their backlog and steel shipments are expected to fall from nine million to six million tons per month.

Six Per Cent Hike

The agreement provides pay raises, improved vacation, pensions, insurance and hospitalization coverage, and higher supplemental unemployment benefits.

Its cost is set at about 90 cents per hour or about 6 per cent, equal to contracts negotiated by other steel companies. The previous high, also including wages and fringe benefits, was 47.7 cents per hour negotiated in the contract that expires tonight.

An industry source estimated the contract would cost the 11 major basic steel producers about a half billion dollars a year. Costs for an additional 150,000 steelworkers in allied companies would be about $561 million over the three years. Contracts for these workers usually follow the pattern set by "big steel."

Basic steel workers now earn an average hourly rate of $3.71. Under the new agreement there will be a general 20 cents an hour increase immediately, 12 cents the second year and 12 cents the third year.

Increase Varies

With increased increments between job classifications, the companies say, the hike will range from 44 cents an hour in the lowest classification to 73 cents in the highest.

USW President I. W. Abel and U.S. Steel Vice President R. Conrad Cooper, the top two negotiators, sat side by side at a news conference Tuesday night and expressed satisfaction with the contract.

"It's a fine thing that a settlement has been reached in these negotiations without a strike at a critical time in our history," Cooper said.

Abel said he agreed with Cooper that "neither of us are totally and completely happy with the results," but he termed it a "very good" settlement.

In addition to a hike in wages, the new contract calls for an increase from $37.50 per week to $52.50 per week in the supplemental unemployment benefits while drawing state assistance and an increase from $60 per week to $80 per week when state aid ends.

Man Is Charged With Murder

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The body of Alfonso T. Hillsman, 42, was discovered in the stomach of a man who was stabbed in the throat has led to the arrest of LeRoy Foster, 42, of Albany, who will be arraigned on murder charges today, police said.

Foster was arrested after the bodies of the two men were found Tuesday.

Industry Probing the Seas

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry is plunging into the science of oceanography in hopes of reaping profits from the wealth of resources in and beneath the seas.

The hidden treasures include oil, minerals and food.

"Just as the seas are the last great area for physical exploration on the planet, they are also the last great area for economic expansion," says Dr. Charles F. Jones, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

The big brokerage firm Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith includes oceanography in its list of five emerging industries. The others are medical technology, nuclear energy, learning aids and pollution control.

The federal government spearheaded research into the realm of oceanography. The oceanographic activities of 22 federal agencies may involve an expenditure of $500 million next year.

"Three hundred of the nation's 500 largest corporations have ocean science programs of their own," reports Oilways, a publication of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

But Samuel A. Jordan, manager of Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s Undersea Division, cautions against thinking that a harvest of wealth from the oceans is just around the corner.

"In the immediate future the outlook is uncertain," he says. "But we want to be ready. For the long haul you can be optimistic. Ten or 15 years from now there probably will be production from deep oil wells and the more sophisticated food areas."

Current manufacturing activity in the oceanographic field is mainly confined to submersible vessels, research instruments and equipment to enable man to operate at great depths.

In its projection of oceanography's future as a commercial undertaking, Merrill Lynch says scientists believe the greatest riches of the ocean, which cover 71 per cent of the earth's surface, lie on the continental shelves surrounding the land masses.

So far, industry's biggest and most profitable oceanographic venture has been offshore production of oil and gas. Offshore wells provide 16 per cent of the petroleum produced in the Western world and are expected to account for 40 per cent 10 years from now.

Companies now are extracting sulphur, manganese, salt and bromine from the seas. In the future they may be able to remove from deep-water manganese nodules not only manganese but rich deposits of nickel, copper and cobalt.

Many companies are optimistic about the possibilities. Frank Compton, who heads the Ocean Division of North American Rockwell Corp., a manufacturer of aircraft, missiles and electronics products, predicts that within 10 years underwater business will account for 20 to 25 per cent of his company's business.

Safe for Consumption

Army Defends Irradiated Canned Bacon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army insists that irradiated canned bacon is safe for human consumption despite the Food and Drug Administration's decision to stop the military services from feeding it to the troops.

Col. Edward L. Johnson of the Army's food-irradiation laboratories at Natick, Mass., said in a telephone interview that animal tests of the bacon were made prior to the Army's petition to feed it to some troops, and the tests showed "no evidence of any adverse effects from the irradiation."

"There seems to be a difference of opinion in the interpreting of the data from the tests," said Johnson. "We're hoping to resolve this."

Johnson made the comments on published reports, confirmed by an FDA scientist, that:

1. The FDA has turned down a new Army petition to begin serving irradiated ham to soldiers.

2. The FDA has taken a second look at its 1966 approval of irradiated bacon, and ordered it out of the mess halls pending further study.

Adverse Effects
The FDA contends there is evidence that irradiated bacon can cause adverse effects on the reproductive process in rats.

Daniel Banes, an associate FDA commissioner for science, said in an interview the animal tests were sponsored by the Army before it petitioned the Agency for approval, but he said the FDA obtained full details on the tests only a few months ago.

Banes said the Army originally stated "that there were no indications that radiation caused adverse effects" in animals fed irradiated bacon.

He also said that when the Army in 1966 and 1967 began to petition for an okay on irradiated ham, it submitted some raw data on use of irradiated bacon in animals to support its contention that irradiated ham was safe.

But, Banes said, the animal data on the bacon raised questions in the minds of FDA scientists, and they asked for further details. It was after these additional details were furnished that the FDA concluded the data showed a reproductive process hazard to rats, he said.

Banes said the FDA scientists concluded the data showed a 23 per cent reduction in the number of live-born offspring of rats fed irradiated bacon; and a similar reduction in the number of offspring surviving the weaning period.

"We have had second thoughts on the original bacon petition approval," he said.

"And the FDA is taking action to rescind it."

Col. Johnson said that after the FDA's original approval, the army procured only a single consignment of irradiated bacon in December 1966—approximately 30,000 pounds—and that this "was all fed within a month—half to army troops and half used for testing purposes." He said the bacon had never been supplied "for general use."

More Tests Planned
He said the Army, in the wake of questions raised by the FDA both on irradiated ham and bacon, plans additional tests.

With regard to the ham tests, he quoted Dr. Edward S. Josephson, associate director of the Army's Natick laboratories, as saying:

"The really significant question raised by FDA has to do with the data provided on reproductive process. In order to show the safety of irradiated ham, the Army will conduct new animal feeding studies which will over four generations of weaned rats and take two years. Approval of the experimental design will be obtained in advance, and we'll conduct periodic reviews with FDA."

Banes had said in testimony prepared for the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee that the Army's petition for approval of irradiated ham had revealed "deficiencies in design and execution of experiments."

Storage Search In Ice Caves

The Brooklyn Union Gas Company has reportedly brought in several large pieces of equipment in its continued test borings near the Ice Caves mountain on Village of Ellenville property.

According to Ellenville Mayor Eugene Glusker, the village is paid for the use of its property and the gas company will pay royalties on whatever they take out of the mountains surrounding the village.

"It is basically a storage search," said Glusker, with the utilities people looking for a certain cubic capacity in an underground cavern.

The ice caves themselves are protected by a village-company contract entered into "about a year ago," declared the mayor.

Glusker also said that, should the utilities company discover gas, they will, of course, use it.

An informed source in Ellenville, said the company was drilling in the Cragmoor area with seven pieces of equipment supplemented by four more pieces on Saturday—"eleven in all."

Mills - Groppuso Nuptials Told

Miss Catherine M. Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mills of 154 West Pierpont Street, Kingston, became the bride of Michael Stephan Groppuso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emilio Groppuso, Paris Road, Clinton, on Saturday, July 20, at the Holy Name of Jesus Church, Kingston.

The Rev. John G. Russell officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wayne Cushman, organist, accompanied Nadine Wionoski who sang traditional wedding selections. White satin bows marked the family pews. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with accents of peau d'ange lace on the bodice, sleeves, and skirt. The detachable train was chapel length and a headpiece of seed pearls and aurora crystals secured her silk illusion veil.

Miss Ann Ryerson of Port Ewen, served as maid of honor. She wore an empire style gown of bon bon pink chiffon with a cowl collar and waistband of matching satin. A double crown of nylon braid and seed pearls held her waterfall tulle veil.

Attendants were Miss Suzanne Reilly of Sawkill, and Miss Barbara Zupa of Ulster Park. Their pale aquamarine gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant.

Maryann Mills, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore an A-line gown of aqua chiffon which featured a butterfly bow and long streamers at the back waistline. She wore a crown of tiny flowers in her hair.

Jeff Groppuso, brother of the bridegroom, of Clinton, was best man. Ushers were Edward Mills, brother of the bride, of Kingston; and Carl Zanchoski of Clinton, Gary Groppuso, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

After the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held at the Twaalfskill Country Club, Kingston.

The bride selected a mint green A-line dress with matching accessories for her wedding trip. Mrs. Groppuso is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a hair stylist in Long Island. Her husband is also a graduate of Kingston High School.

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, was the setting for a double wedding Sunday, July 21, when sisters, Miss Theresa Ann and Miss Denise Margaret Hudela, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bronislaw Hudela, 198 Washington Avenue, this city, exchanged nuptial vows with Andrew John Savage and Thomas R. Gardner, respectively. Savage is the son of Mrs. Andrew Savage of 12 Mountain View Avenue, Kingston, and the late Andrew Savage. Gardner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gardner of Hillside Terrace, this city.

The Rev. James J. LeBar officiated at the ceremony.

The sisters served as attendants for each other. Best men were Charles Gaffney Jr. of 204 Pearl Street, this city; and Paul C. Gardner of Gardiner. Ushers were Michael Hudela, brother of the bride; Timothy O'Reilly, both of Kingston; William Murphy of Massachusetts; and Robert Dittus, 42 Clifton Avenue, Kingston. After the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the brides' parents. Mrs. Savage is a graduate of St. Ursula Academy and completed two years at Trinity College in Burlington, Vt. Mrs. Gardner, also an alumna of St. Ursula Academy, received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Trinity College. Savage was graduated from Mt. Assumption Preparatory School in Plattsburgh and is attending Fordham University in New York. Gardner, an alumnus of Kingston High School and Marist College, received fellowships for graduate study in chemistry at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and Catholic University.

Mr. and Mrs. Savage will reside at The Grand Concourse, Bronx and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will live in New Paltz.

Miss Rose Mary Berardi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Santo Berardi of 100 Glen Street, Kingston, became the bride of Robert Earl West Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert West, West Camp, on Sunday, July 21, at St. Mary's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Edward Farrelly officiated at the double ring ceremony. Theodore Riccobono, organist, accompanied Richard Scherer who sang traditional wedding selections. Basket arrangements of white gladioli and pompons decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a high neckline, long tapered sleeves, and a fitted bodice. The gown featured iridescent sequins around the neckline and a detachable chapel train. A stylized headpiece of lace and cut crystals held her bouffant veil and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Diana Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, of West Camp, served as honor attendant. She wore a cage silhouette orchid gown of lace with a matching Dior bow headpiece and chapel veil. She carried a cascade of white carnations with a bow to match her gown.

Attendants were the Misses Lana Boughton, Lillian Raff, Cheryl Davide, Denise Mitchell, all cousins of the bride, of Kingston; and Holly Smith, cousin of the bride, of New Camp.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Ferroxcube Corporation of America in Mt. Marion. Her husband is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed by Rotron Manufacturing Company. The couple will reside in West Camp.

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW EDGE of 32 Webster Street, Kingston, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a party at the VFW Hall, Delaware Avenue, this city, on Sunday, July 28, given by their children, Mrs. James Jaffer, Dale and Wayne Edge. Married July 31, 1943, the couple have one grandson, Patrick James Jaffer. Their attendants, Mrs. Salvadore Ambrose and Albert Hendricks, were in attendance at the party. Mr. Edge is employed by IBM and his wife works at Kingston Telephone Answering Service. (Freeman photo by Haines).

The Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

The everyday problems of people have been going on since history began. Wives are convinced that husbands can never find anything. "It's on the second shelf next to the refrigerator," they say. Fifteen minutes later the husband returns and says the object is not where she said it was. She sighs, gets up off the sofa where she has lain down to read the paper, goes to the shelf, and there the object is. "Oh," says the husband, "I didn't know you meant there."

Husbands, of course, think their wives are ignorant of machinery, beginning with a hammer and screwdriver. Wives say nothing about the times they have quietly fixed the screen door or tightened the hinge on the bathroom cabinet or even put up a modest shelf over the sink. Little children complain that big children run away from them. "They won't let us play their games." Big children say little children don't know how to play the particular game. "They don't understand." When a grown-up suggests that they play house, father, mother, and children, they say house is boring. As indeed it often is.

Such family crises, small as they are, occur every day. Sometimes the familiar is expressed with freshness and force. A New York boy of 10 wants to form a Children's Organization for Peace and Brotherhood, members of which would be eight to 12 years old. His name is Stephen Antonakas; he likes soccer and football, rock and coin collections, and Peanuts, the comic strip. Yet his dream is not only of brotherhood but of brotherhood helped along by the power of children to combine and express their desires. "Children," Stephen said, "could change America if their feelings got widespread."

Stephen picked the age group of eight to 12 because after that you are a teen-ager and "you often hear about teen-agers taking dope and mugging people." "I think we could get people to realize what's been happening. Children are just not recognized as people. They are not allowed to take part in anything that's happening just because we're young." "When you're young, you don't really understand how people can kill each other. When you get older you get spoiled."

It is sad to relate that so far Stephen has been able to convert only one friend to his point of view. One hopes there will be more. Stephen's opinions are well worth consideration. Although his aspirations are unusual for a child, his situation is only too common. Of course children are not treated as people. "You wouldn't understand." How often we have said it.

If instead of including this cliché with all the other family clichés, we could think of the age group eight to 12 as containing innocence and charity and wisdom, if we could believe with Stephen that these are the years before people get spoiled and hence important years, it is just possible that Stephen's current Children's Crusade might lead us back to the sanity we often seem to have lost.

Politics Still a Man's Game States Political Scientist

Women are not becoming more influential in politics, but actually are losing influence, according to political scientist Martin Gruberg of Wisconsin State University. The reason for this, Gruberg asserts, is that both men and women — especially women — believe more than ever that "woman's place is in the home."

Writing in his new book, Women in American Politics, published this month (April) by Academic Press, Oshkosh, Wis., Gruberg said that American women do not actually have the "unseen power" that many people believe they have, in politics or in any other area. Rather, they are a majority group that is treated like a minority. Women are discriminated against in every field where they try to compete with men, especially in politics, where virtually every woman who has achieved high political office has succeeded because of her close association with a successful male politician.

The fact is that a great many people in America would not vote for a woman for any office, if a male candidate is also on the ballot, Gruberg said. Americans do not really have much confidence in their women, stereotyping them as emotional, illogical, and lacking in seriousness. Politics is still considered to be "man's work," and women are still valued more for their ornamental appeal than for their brains or efficiency.

Gruberg's assessment of the female political role is not entirely pessimistic, however. He believes that women represent a huge reservoir of untapped talent and brainpower, that is now so badly needed that America can no longer afford to act as though it does not exist. In the future, Gruberg predicts, women will continue to demand equality of opportunity, and eventually will get it.

Gruberg's book, Women in American Politics, is not only an evaluation of women's voting behavior and political achievements, but is a sourcebook of reference facts relating to a great many individual women who have been politically influential at national, state and local levels. The book also presents an evaluation of the work of many different women's organizations, and discusses some aspects of women's political status and achievements in other countries.

Wedding Announced

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Lisbeth Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Tucker of Gardiner, to Edward S. Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Tucker of Wallkill, in Rockville, Md.

The bride wore a street length dress of cotton-satin fashioned with an empire waist, long sleeves and a stand-away collar.

Upon their return from their wedding trip to Virginia, the couple was honored at a small reception for the family and friends given by the bridegroom's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Terwilliger of Wallkill.

The bride is a graduate of New Paltz Central High School, attended the State University College at New Paltz and was graduated from Grace Downs Airline and Secretarial School in New York City. She was employed by Dr. Martin Rubin, New Paltz.

Her husband is a graduate of Wallkill Central High School and is employed by the New York Communications Co., Inc. of Poughkeepsie.

Are You Nudging Middle Age Yet?

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Forty-two in daylight, thirty-five in lamplight, and twenty-five or what you will in a blonde wig and the spotlight."

Dorothy Sawyers put the problem of a woman's added years in her "In The Teeth of the Evidence" in 1940.

I fell to thinking of Miss Sawyers' comments on what a bright light can do to show up the years. A dim one to dim them, as I observed reluctantly another milestone — a birthday. Birthdays seem to arrive faster these days. They are fine when you can hardly wait to grow up, are traumatic experiences after you are grown and moving toward the middle years.

One comfort is that middle age is being pushed farther and farther into the fore as man's life span increases. Small comfort, though as you see the lines today that weren't there last year.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: This cute idea was given to me by a young newlywed. When hanging crisscross curtains, pull up the top ruffle of the curtain next to the window so that it stands up at the TOP of the window and looks just like a top double-ruffle!

It adds so much to the window. Mrs. J. Bukemose

Now that's what I call real hunky-dory, and you're an absolute angel pie for passing it on. Heloise

Dear Heloise: I put a coat or two of asphalt roofing paint on the inside bottom and lower sides of my garbage and trash cans and let it dry thoroughly to prevent rusting. Frank Gullette

Yes, you're nudging middle age if you look at those lines and say, "oh, they're a sign of character. They come from living."

You're nudging middle age if you examine the mirror the gray strands and console yourself that it's a face-softening look.

You resolve to get the weight back to your "fightin'" trim of the college years and start by deliberately buying a couple of dresses two sizes too small.

When you decide black is a difficult color to wear.

You wish that relatives and friends would forget cards and gifts and if there's a cake you insist that it have only one candle on it.

You get a physical and insist on an electrocardiogram.

You remember Major Bowes, the Sons of the Pioneers and Shep Fields and his Rippling Rhythm.

You don't chase dirt as ferociously around the house.

You go out and buy a whole new set of highly touted face creams.

Have more trouble reading the numbers on the buses and subways.

Mohaupt - McKinney Wedding Announced

Miss Sally Lee Mohaupt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Mohaupt of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, became the bride of Bruce Evan McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. McKinney of New Paltz, on Saturday, July 20, at St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Cuyahoga Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of embroidered Swiss organdy and a Dior bow held her cathedral length veil. She carried white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Paul Harris of Encino, Calif., served as matron of honor for her sister. Attendants were Miss Linda McKinney, sister of the bridegroom of New Paltz; Mrs. Charles F. Mohaupt of Columbus, Ohio; Miss Carol Bayer of Cuyahoga Falls; and Miss Elayne Moline of Los Angeles, Calif.

T. Craig McKinney of New Paltz, served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Scott Yeager, Michael Stillman, both of New Paltz; Charles F. Mohaupt of Columbus, Ohio, brother of the bride; and Melvin Damski of Roslyn, Long Island.

After the wedding a reception for 200 guests was held at the Stan Hywet Carriage House, Akron.

The bride is a graduate of the College of Medicine, Ohio State University, and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

McKinney is a graduate of Colgate University, a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and employed in his father's publishing company, The Hudson Valley Newspapers, Highland.

After a trip to Cape Hatteras, the couple will reside in Highland.

Miss Debra Steeger Makes Dean's List

Named to the Dean's List at State University at Oneonta was Miss Debra Steeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steeger of Port Ewen.

Miss Steeger is majoring in Secondary Education.

READY FOR GOPers — The recently enlarged Miami Beach Convention Hall will be the site of the 1968 Republican National Convention. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

New industries, roads and customs duties and sales taxes, and produced locally free of manufacturer's chemical factory, slaughterhouse, dairy and milk products, manufacturer of prefabricated house factory, ranching and farming enterprises; textile mill; smelter to produce iron using wood coke from the Amazon's vast forest reserves; cement plant; lumber warehouses are going up on a rush basis.

Hip Room, Bar on Crashers Some of Changes for GOP

By GEORGE J. MARDER
MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The last week's bagel. The Republican delegates will have more hip room, the demonstrations will be less synthetic and race track identification stamps will be used to bar gate crashers.

These are a few of the changes Republicans are making so they can conduct their national convention here Aug. 5-8 "with the highest degree of decorum and dignity."

That was the goal of a convention reform committee established two years ago, after former President Dwight D. Eisenhower complained about the chaotic way in which political conventions were run. Eisenhower said there must be a better way to nominate a president and a vice president and decide on a statement of party principles.

He had in mind running a convention something like a special session of Congress, with the delegates sitting in a chamber, insulated from outside influence and interferences, and making their decisions after quiet and due deliberation.

Some Modification

However, the reforms adopted don't go quite that far. Delegates will find their seats are wider, padded and have arm rests; there will be less milling on the floor; fewer distractions on the platform; hopefully shorter but more genuine demonstrations for "the man who..."

And that will be about all the changes.

The GOP reform committee was in favor of a limited amount of dignity, heretofore a relatively unfamiliar ingredient at political conventions. But it said that if "stripped of its glitter," a national convention "could well be incredibly uninteresting and dull."

So the committee sought a balance of glamour and decorum. But its recommendations went through a period of attrition in which some of the most drastic were abandoned or modified.

As a result, the gregarious delegates, of whom there are many, will not deliberate in ivory tower splendor even though there is a rule banning all but delegates from the section of the hall reserved for them.

Fewer Aides

There will be 1,000 honorary assistant sergeants of arms, 500 fewer than in 1964, in the hall. But instead of milling around to grab any empty seat, they will be assigned what convention arrangers call "observed view" seats.

Some of those seats will be behind the big television camera stand in front of the speaker's rostrum. The reform committee wanted that stand eliminated. The networks complained this would hurt their broadcasts of the convention. The stand remains.

As in the past, newsmen will be given passes to interview delegates on the floor. The reform committee had wanted delegates to talk to newsmen only off the floor. Reporters complained that interviews arranged under such cumbersome

In Saugerties Area

Ninety Pct. Nix Gun Registration

Ninety per cent of the Saugerties area residents who replied to a recent questionnaire mailed out by Saugerties Area Sportsmen's Clubs are opposed to the registration of firearms.

The SASC, in its first report on the poll, said 70 of the 77 persons who answered were against gun registration. Five favored it and two gave qualified answers.

One person suggested registration "only in large cities" and the other said "pistols only."

Sixty nine of those who replied believed that stricter law enforcement of present laws would be a better solution to the gun dilemma. Six didn't think so.

Seventy believed that more severe punishment for crimes committed with firearms would be a better solution. Five did not agree.

Seventy four thought gun registration could lead to confiscation, three did not.

Sixty six thought the question of gun controls should be submitted to the electorate on Nov. 8. Eight disagreed, three others did not answer the question.

Sixty one believed gun registration would lead to confiscation.

Seventy four of the 77 believed a person should be allowed to own a gun. Sixty four of those quizzed owned more than one gun. Eleven thought gun registration should be a matter for the federal government; 27 said the states should handle it; 23 said both and 16 did not answer.

Of the 77 answering, all were United States citizens, 68 males and 8 females. One did not specify sex.

The committee has voted to send registered letters to all political candidates, asking them to publicly state their position on gun registration.

More answers to the questionnaire will be revealed at the group's next meeting on Aug. 18 at the clubhouse of the Saugerties Fish and Game Club.

Five Braves Join Him

Thomas Likely to Get HVRL All-Star Nod

Ron Thomas, Kingston Braves top pitcher with a 5-1 record, most likely will get the starters nod for the North in Saturday's North-South, Hudson Valley Rookies League All-Star game, set for 8 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

Thomas, who was supposed to hurl last night when the Braves demolished the Florida Comets, 17-0, on Bob Speirs' two-hitter at Dietz, will probably work tonight when the Braves host the New Windsor Rockets.

Thomas heads a list of six Braves chosen for duty in that Saturday All-Star clash, and Braves' coach Paul Giannuzzi, who will be an assistant in that contest to Dom Petrucci of the Newburgh Atoms, says he'll have Thomas ready, providing he doesn't have to use the big righthander in Friday's game against those same Comets.

Joining Thomas are Pete Watzka and Chick Boice in the infield, Ron Valle and Jerry Hawkins on the picket line and Glen Davis behind the plate.

Atoms; Ed Bonnett, Ions; Ken Jennings, Ions; John Darcy, Astros; Frank Mesnick, Astros; Bill Budd, Ions. OF-Ron Valle, Braves; Jerry Hawkins, Braves; John Pliego, Atoms; Steve Garo, Astros; Tom Brooks, Ions.

SOUTH — P-Charlie Delmonico, Missiles; Gary DeTurris, Rockets. OF-Joe Smith, Explorers; Dave Bliss, Missiles; Jim Jennings, Comets; Vince Roberto, Rockets; Dennis Coakley, Rockets.

In tonight's game, Frank McGowan is slated to go against the Rockets' Dennis Robinson. The Braves' pilot, however, may use Thomas if McGowan runs into any sort of trouble.

In last night's destruction job, the Braves pounded the Comets for 16 hits, including a double and a triple by Speirs, a double by Mike Patrick, a two-bagger by Bernie Schaeffer and a pair of doubles by Boice.

Speirs, 3-1, gave up singles to Larry Scheuermann and Art Dross in hurling the Braves 12th win.

Klingman Wins In Park Race

A quarter mile run, last week's event in the fourth weekly City-Wide Tournament, was held at Hutton Park last Friday under the direction of the Kingston Recreation Department.

Gerald Klingman of Cornell Park captured the Senior Boys title when he toured the hilly Hutton course in a time of 0:59.0. The other class winners were: Toni Secreto, Hasbrouck; Mike Addams, Cornell; and Debra Timbrook, Hasbrouck. The events were run in Junior and Senior classes for boys and girls.

A total of 20 boys and girls participated in this latest city-wide tournament. Each winner earned his or her park one point in the overall summer standings. The park which has accumulated the greatest number of points by the end of the summer will be designated as the "Top Park of the Year."

The tournaments are held Thursday or Friday of every week at Hutton Park. During the earlier part of the week, each park holds playoffs in the week's event to determine which youngsters will represent their park in the city-wide championships.

Tennis Deadline Set for Friday

Deadline for filing entries is Friday, tournament chairman William Spangenberg has announced. Tournament information may be obtained by calling him at Woodstock in the evening.

Competition will be held in men's singles, women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles.

The tournament opens Aug. 7 at Forsyth Park and ends on Aug. 25.

Grill Victory Evens Standing

Silver Grill evened its Ellenville Softball League record at 6-6 last night, handing winless Eddie's Country Fair a 5-1 loss. The Grill got two runs in the first inning and breezed home from there. John Pepper, who had a double two innings later, led off and was hit by losing pitcher Corky Van Vliet's pitch. He stole second and scored on Tom McCoey's double. Bill McCoey then bunted safely, sending Tom down to third, from where he tallied on Charlie Scott's groundout.

Silver Grill stands fourth in the five team loop, that shows a mad scramble for the top spot. Tonight's clash, pitting league leader, Schrade Walden (8-3) against third place, Wright's Service Station (7-4), could throw the lead into a three-way deadlock should Wright's win. In second place is Hotel Shanley with an 8-4 charting. A Wright's victory would give them all 8-4 marks.

Carp, in the nearly 100 years they have been in American waters, have become a casebook example of the hazards involved in importing and stocking species of wildlife not native to the area.

In Europe and Asia, carp is one of the staple food fish. It was assumed they would be equally popular in the United States, according to State Conservation Department fish biologists.

Instead of becoming an asset in many waters, they instead developed into a prolific pest. This is especially so in our Hudson river and all of the reservoirs of the New York City water supply.

One of the biggest offenders, we believe, are the fishermen who, using live bait out of tackle shops, upon completing a day's fish, will dispose of their surplus bait with the remark: "It will make food for the ones we didn't catch." This is true to a degree, but what about those tiny carp that may be in the bait bucket? Some will survive and with their rapid growth will soon become abundant in some of our finest trout, bass and pike waters.

IT IS NOT UNCOMMON, early in the morning or early evening, to see carp as "big as your boat" (using a fisherman's term) churning in the coves of the Ashokan, making the water oily and turning up vegetation upon which many ducks feed. In their search for food, the carp disrupt spawning beds and eat eggs of the other fish and, in general, raise havoc with young fish fry.

We have found that many reclaimed ponds which prohibit the use of bait fish of any kind are already becoming infested with carp despite the efforts of the Conservation Department. It would be well for those who fish Echo Lake, near the Mead Mountain house, to be sure and destroy all bait fish, if they must be used, and not dispose of them in this fine brook trout lake, either dead or alive.

Much of the carp problem can be eliminated by increased fishing pressure on this species. We are told they make an excellent TV snack if, after cooking on a board, you discard the carp and eat the board.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW that rabbits and hares are not one and the same animal. Rabbits are born blind, naked and in a covered nest. Hares are born with eyes open, fully furred, in above ground depressions and generally move away from the birth point within the first 24 hours.

Although once eliminated from the state, about 20,000 turkeys are harvested annually by New York state hunters. And the future looks even better, as new, promising ranges are being stocked with trapped and transferred birds.

We may add that, if you are planning a holiday turkey, via the gun, be sure and consult the game wardens in the area you are to hunt, since there are only a few open counties where taking is legal. Some of the few in nearby Happy Hollow have been taken and proved to be mighty high-priced holiday feasting for the "city-slicker," who doesn't know a turkey from a buck deer.

A FEW SHORT TAKES: Frank Hornbeck of Ellenville sends a note about a trout bonanza at our favorite spot—Indian River at Indian Lake. Using his son Billie's hand tied flies, he bagged limits on three successive days. With the river low, and despite the warm weather, the fish were most cooperative. "I never saw so many trout in one river," said Frank. Sure hope they stay there for our September vacation.

Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club members preparing for their annual clambake Sunday, Aug. 18. Chairman Vic Locke reports a brisk ticket sale and if you plan to attend, get your reservations in early. The number of seats is strictly limited.

Dr. Hamilton Boyd takes time out from his busy schedule Aug. 15 for a trip to the north country, hunting for Dall sheep and big, brown bear. Also intends to accommodate some of those big fish which are just waiting for some good Kingston bait.

OLD RIP SEZ: Wouldn't it be a nice gesture, if you hunt woodchucks, to first ask the land owner's permission and make sure you know what you're shooting at.

Are copycats as good as Tiger Paws?

We made a terrible mistake in putting red circles on our Tiger Paws.™

It made Tiger Paws so easy to imitate. And it made it easy for some dealers who sell these copycats to palm them off as Tiger Paws.

You. And they'll continue to fool you until you discover that your "Tiger Paws" aren't living up to their reputation.

How could they? Copycats only look like Tiger Paws.

Friends, be warned: Tiger Paws are made only by Uniroyal. And sold only by Uniroyal dealers.

Anybody who tells you different, isn't your friend.

Singer Tommy Sands Talks About Future

By BOB THOMAS
HONOLULU (AP) — "I'm the guy those boots were made for walking on," cracks Tommy Sands, and the night club audience shares his rueful humor.

Most of the nightly visitors to the Outrigger Hotel ballroom understand the significance of the remark. Singer Sands is the ex-husband of Nancy Sinatra, who achieved success of her own with the man-taunting "These Boots Are Made for Walking" ("and one of these days these boots are going to walk all over you.") During his new night club act, Sands refers to his marriage and to onetime associates Dean Martin and Sammy Davis but avoids mention of his former father-in-law, Frank Sinatra.

Every time I returned here, I realized that the people were warm and genuine. And so in May of last year, I gave up everything to come here and live.

"Throughout my career, the thing that gave me the most satisfaction was writing. I wrote songs and I sold them, but I also wrote poetry and movie scripts which I didn't sell. I realized that if I was to get anywhere with my writing, I would need to educate myself—I never even graduated from high school. So I got myself a tutor and I earned my high school diploma. Then in September I will enroll at the University of Hawaii in an English course, and I intend to stick with it until I get my master's degree."

Has Defied Formula

This is a curious turn in Sands' career, but then, his career has defied formula. New York-born, he started singing at 16, left high school to go on the road and six months later starred on television in a play, "The Singing Idol." A movie version followed, and Tommy Sands became one of the bright young singers of the post-Preller period.

His marriage to Nancy Sinatra helped his fame. But Sands was disturbed by whispers that his career had been aided by his famous father-in-law.

After the divorce, Sands seemed to drop out of sight. His transfer from the hurly burly of Hollywood to the relaxed atmosphere of Hawaii appears to have made him a happy man.

Searchers Seek Missing Teacher

DUBOIS, N.Y. (AP) — Searchers struggled up 13,758-foot Gannett Peak, Wyoming's highest mountain, Tuesday in an attempt to find a Buffalo, N.Y., schoolteacher who left here July 14 to scale the mountain and never returned.

Albert Scibetta, 28, told the owners of his Dubois motel he would climb the peak and be back within five days. Deputy Sheriff George Johnson of Dubois said.

The searchers located his automobile Monday at Trail Lake Camp, the jumping off point for climbing the mountain.

In Buffalo, Scibetta's mother, Mrs. Thomas Scibetta, said her son was a skilled climber who had ascended Switzerland's famous Matterhorn and accompanied expeditions to Alaska's rugged glacier country.

His sister Carol, a senior at Buffalo State College, said, "I know he'll come out of this all right." She said her brother made a 6,500 mile journey across the United States on a motor scooter five years ago and climbed the walls of the Grand Canyon in 120-degree heat during the trip.

"He said it was like scaling the walls of the world's largest steam bath," she said.

Mobilize Reservists
MANILA (UPI)—The Philippine armed forces announced Tuesday night it would begin immediately a "paper mobilization" of the nation's one million military reservists.

Brig. Gen. Ruben Maglaya, Philippine army commander, said it had nothing to do with the nation's dispute with Malaysia over the territory of Sabah but was a requirement of the new defense budget which says the armed forces must speed up development of a "citizens army" composed of reservists.

Use for Rate

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The Bhaikane Institute has evolved a plan for the eradication of rats, which eat away 10 per cent of India's foodgrains.

It launched an advertising campaign pointing out the fact that rat products can now be sold commercially. Rat meat is best for pets like cats and dogs. Rat skin is very useful for wristwatch straps, kid gloves and ladies' purses.

Four Upstaters Are Drowned

A Lake Erie boating accident took the lives of a father and son, and two 15-year-old Niagara Falls boys died in the Niagara River Tuesday in separate incidents.

Carroll M. Goerke, 40, and his son Timothy, 7, of the Buffalo suburb of Lancaster, drowned when their 14-foot boat overturned while they were fishing in Lake Erie about 1½ miles off the village of Angola.

Walter M. Goerke of the Buffalo suburb of Clarence, Carroll's father and Timothy's grandfather, was rescued after he clung to the capsized motorboat for several minutes.

Paul Diehl, 15, drowned while swimming in the Little River section of the Niagara River above the falls. Minutes later, police said, another 15-year-old, Arthur Hagopian, was swept into the lower Rapid while swimming in the pool below the falls.

Over Court Nominees

Claims More Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The opposition leader to President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations says his forces have doubled in recent weeks and have more than enough votes to keep the Senate from voting on the appointments.

"I am confident these nominations will never be confirmed," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., Tuesday about the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and Homer Thornberry as an associate justice. Griffin said 40 senators now oppose the two.

He did not name the senators who he claims have increased the opposition strength from the original 19.

Griffin and his allies have threatened a filibuster against the appointments and it would take a two-thirds vote to shut off their debate. Griffin needs to muster at least 34 members to vote against choking off the filibuster.

Griffin commented in a speech to the National Press Club while members of the Senate Judiciary Committee gathered in secret in the Senate's basement recording studio to view three films which one called "hardcore pornography" and another labeled "crude vulgarity."

The question of pornography has taken center stage in the drawn-out hassling over Fortas' nomination to succeed Earl Warren. One Republican has charged on the Senate floor that Fortas' votes on obscenity have helped "destroy community morals" in the United States.

Recess on Friday

Congress recesses Friday for the two national political conventions, returning in September. There appears to be no chance for action on the nominations until then, although committee Chairman James O.

Eastland, D-Miss., called a meeting today to consider the Fortas appointment.

The committee has put off any action on Thornberry's nomination until after the Senate confirms or denies Fortas.

President Johnson has accepted Warren's retirement effective upon selection of a qualified successor, meaning one that has been approved by the Senate.

Warren says he will stay on if Fortas, an associate justice since 1965, is rejected.

One of the three films viewed in the small basement room was "0-7."

Fortas voted with the majority in reversing a lower court decision that "0-7" was obscene.

Peters New President At Kingston Hospital

Wilbur R. Peters of Hurley was named president of the Board at Kingston Hospital while Francis H. Delaney and Bevier H. Sleight Jr. were named to the Board of Trustees, according to a recent announcement from the hospital.

A Freeman story yesterday listed the appointments, but the headline in the early copies of the paper listed the men as being named to posts at Benedictine Hospital.

Waterfield became quarterback for the professional Los Angeles Rams while his wife starred in scores of pictures during the 1940s and 1950s.

During the last year of their marriage, Miss Russell testified, Waterfield was often out until 2 and 3 a.m. and rarely showed up for dinner.

Miss Russell was given custody of her adopted children, Thomas, 18, and Tracy, 17. Waterfield won custody of their third adopted child, Robert, 12.

Miss Russell received a $110,000 house in Newport Beach and Waterfield, 48, received the $55,000 family house in Sherman Oaks.

Miss Russell continues to receive $900 a week under her contract with Howard Hughes, who launched her movie career by starring her in "Outlaw."

"Outlaw" premiered in 1943. That year Miss Russell married Waterfield, the star quarterback of UCLA's vaunted football team.

Dear Abby

Better Wait Than Be Sorry

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN.
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune.
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and Chuck is 23. We've been married going on five years and we have three children and another on the way. We were so much in love we could hardly wait to get married, but a lot of things have changed all that. We have never had a place of our own since we've been married. We have lived with my folks or Charlie's, mainly because Charlie can't seem to hold a job, so I have to work, and we need someone to look after the kids.

On top of that, Charlie still runs with the guys he ran with before we were married, and he just doesn't seem to want to settle down to married life. We have separated twice on that account and I can see it coming again. If it weren't for the kids, I'd leave him sure. I just might anyway. Have you advice for a girl who messed up her life as badly as I?

DEAR OLD: There is not much advice for a young woman in your position but your experience could serve as a warning signal for lots of 17 and 18-year-olds who are "so much in love" they can hardly wait to get married. You are still young enough, however, to make a better life for yourself, so if leaving Charlie is in the cards, don't wait another five years.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do with a husband like mine? Last night I served fresh raspberry pie, which has always been one of my specialties. And all of a sudden my husband, whom I shall call "Dr. Jekyll," turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for raspberry pie as it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth. Then he said he never could understand why I've been shoving it down his throat for 28 years!

Abby, I always thought my husband liked raspberry pie. I felt so hurt I cried myself to sleep. Was I wrong, or was he? RASPBERRY FIGHT

DEAR FIGHT: If a man doesn't care for something his wife serves him, he shouldn't wait 28 years to tell her about it. Tell Mr. Hyde you're no mind reader, and serve him baby food.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband wasn't feeling well so he went to a doctor. The doctor checked him over and told him he needed an operation. My husband never went back to that doctor, and he never had the operation. Today he says he never felt better in his life. How can you account for this?

HIS WIFE: DEAR WIFE: Either your husband didn't need the operation in the first place, or he still needs it. If you love him, get him to a doctor for another checkup. If he's lost confidence in the first one, let him try another.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST FOR THE RECORD" IN BOSTON: Yes, I write all my own answers. A ghost writer hasn't a ghost of a chance with me.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S NEW BOOKLET "WHAT TEEN AGERS WANT TO KNOW," SEND $1.00 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

Bridge

Expert Errors Are Identical

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Today's hand, played in the recent bridge Olympiad, shows that even the best players in the world make mistakes.

The bidding and entire play went the same way at both tables. The first trick saw the heart jack covered by the queen, king and ace. The ace of trumps was cashed at trick two to guard against the possibility of West holding all four trumps. When East followed, the winning line of play would be to lead a club toward dummy. West's best play would be to duck, whereupon the 10 should be played from dummy. South would cash dummy's queen of trumps and his own king before leading another club.

West best play would be to take the ace of clubs and throw South in dummy with another club, whereupon South would lead a diamond from dummy and finesse either the queen or 10. It wouldn't matter. West would be on lead and have to play away from his remaining diamond honor or lead a club to give South a ruff and discard.

Both declarers made the mistake of leading a spade to the queen at trick three and taking the double diamond finesse at trick four. Each West player was on lead with the jack and showed that their defense was up to world's championship form. Each led his jack of trumps.

Each South was in his own hand and could do no better than to lead a club to dummy's 10. This left the declarers in dummy at the wrong time. The best they could make was to try the finesse of the diamond queen. West had the second defensive trick with the king and it was a simple matter to take the third trick with the club ace and let East make his 10 of hearts in the cool of the evening.

TWO THINGS IN LIFE YOU CAN'T AVOID—

ineluctable (in-i-LUK-tuh-b'l)
unavoidable

The high school senior was told by his uncle, a man of great education, that it was almost an ineluctable law of human nature for all young men to love foolishly. Realizing that a meeting with his worst political enemy would be ineluctable if he attended the dance, the mayor decided he would stay home that evening. The outspoken cynic proclaimed that two things in life were ineluctable—taxes and death.

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

Battle Royal for Mondays

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In the past television season, CBS-TV's Monday night lineup demolished the opposition and earned the network ratings supremacy. The lineup consisted of "Gunsmoke," the Lucille Ball and Andy Griffith series, "Family Affair," and the Carol Burnett show. In the coming season, however, a battle royal is shaping up for Monday night ratings supremacy—and the outcome may determine which network scores best in the overall statistical competition. CBS-TV's chief challenge will come from NBC-TV, which, lost out last season with "The Monkees," gave way at midseason to "Rowan and Martin's Laugh In," and the other three series simply won't be back in the fall.

Laugh-In Successful

"Rowan and Martin's Laugh In," however, will indeed be back, and it has been the phenomenal success against the potent CBS-TV Monday pairing of "Gunsmoke" and "The Lucy Show."

Furthermore, NBC-TV will follow "Laugh-In" with its new Monday night movie series—the third weekly motion picture for the network, which also shows feature films on Tuesdays and Saturdays.

In addition, NBC-TV will precede "Laugh-In" with the long-running "Barbara Eden to the Griffith show, and in fact is set in the same southern locale.

Added Attractions

ABC-TV doesn't figure, at this point, to give real ratings competition to CBS-TV and NBC-TV on Mondays, but it will draw off some of the audience with the following lineup: "The Avengers," "Peyton Place," "The Outcasts" (a new hour western with white and Negro stars) and "The Big Valley."

The new series, starring Ken Berry, is called "Mayberry

Lucille Ball, however, may find herself a little more pressed in the ratings than usual. "Laugh-In" has done so well against her that there was talk of moving her series. Now she will also face the competition of "Peyton Place." Miss Ball, however, usually manages to meet every challenge. She always seems to have another ace up her sleeve. In the coming season, for instance, her son and daughter will join her as regulars on her series.

WHY WE SAY

THE REAL MCCOY

FROM BOXING: This expression alludes to a boxer in the 1890s known as "Kid McCoy." So many people imitated McCoy's style that boxing enthusiasts became angry and would raise the cry that they wanted "the real McCoy," and not just an imitator.

Risky, All-Out Try

For Nixon on First

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's top strategists now favor a risky, all-out attempt to win the Republican presidential nomination on the first ballot when the GOP convention votes one week from today.

The former vice president will make the final decision himself early next week on whether to attempt to grab off the nomination at the first chance or play it cool for a second ballot opportunity.

He will lean heavily in this decision on the advice of his campaign manager, John N. Mitchell, Richard Kleindienst, Robert Ellsworth, R. J. Haldeman, and Herbert G. Klein, his press director. They make up the inner circle of Nixon's advisers.

There are some out-sized political risks involved in a blitz attempt. Failure conceivably could cost Nixon the nomination.

The tactical move would involve riding roughshod over favorite son candidates who might be more amenable to supporting

Nixon after they have had a moment of glory on national television with formal nomination for the nation's highest office.

Beyond this, however, lies the political desire of these heads of state delegations to claim they supplied the necessary votes for the nomination of the party's standard bearer when he needed them.

A first-ballot victory would subject Nixon to charges that "bosses" had chosen the nominee without free consideration by the delegates of whether he was the man most likely to win in November.

The arguments against this put forth by the Nixon advisers were simple: No contender bows to protocol if the nomination is within his grasp. Nixon won all of the GOP primaries and thus is the popular choice of a majority of delegates.

Backers of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller indicated they hope Nixon puts all of his chips on the line at the start.

William E. Miller, former party national chairman and the 1964 nominee for vice president, said the Governor's camp is ready to combat alternate strategy moves by Nixon.

"As we see it," Miller said in an interview, "Nixon has only two courses open. He can go for the nomination on the first ballot or he can sit tight and let the favorite sons have their votes and then try it on the second ballot."

"If he doesn't break apart the favorite son vote on the first roll call, then he's in trouble. If he decides to wait until the second ballot then he will be in trouble because I don't think the favorite sons are going with him. If it gets by the second ballot, Rockefeller is going to be the nominee."

Both sides agreed privately that the key individuals involved in this tug of war are Govs. Ronald Reagan of California, George Romney of Michigan, James A. Rhodes of Ohio and Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland.

Miller spoke hopefully of Rockefeller's chances of convincing the delegates he was the nominee they needed to win in November.

Miller said a poll taken by the Rockefeller group showed that as head of the ticket the New York governor would pull marginal district Republicans through in congressional races in New Jersey, Ohio, North Dakota, Kentucky, Michigan and Rhode Island who would lose if Nixon were the nominee.

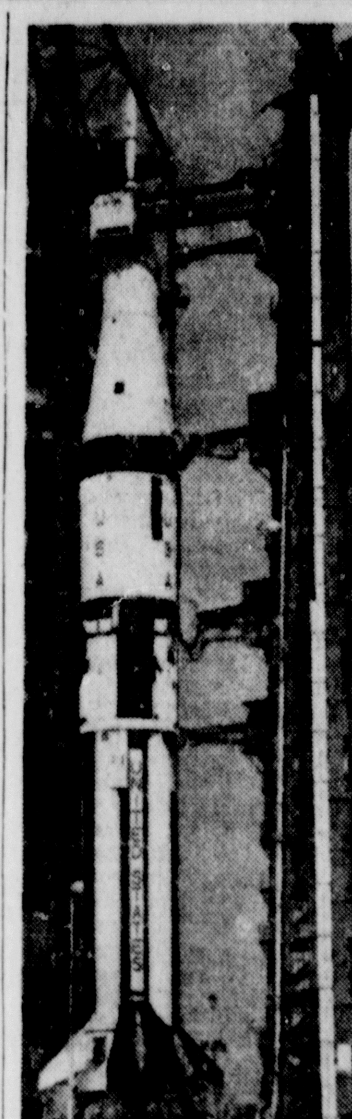

"These congressional contests are going to have impact on delegations from these states," Miller said. "These people want a local winner."

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City came to town to testify before the convention's platform committee. He proclaimed on arrival that he doesn't want to be anybody's running mate.

In sharp contrast, Gov. Claude V. Kirk Jr. of Florida, who has come out for Rockefeller, told a reporter: "I'd even run on Harold Stassen's ticket."

Stassen, a perennial candidate for any available office, told a news conference he was confident he would emerge as the compromise presidential nominee.

Lindsay, who has been mentioned as a possible choice by Nixon for second place on the ticket because of the mayor's appeal to Negro and low income voters, was more emphatic than usual in saying that he doesn't want to be considered for the job.

Hubert Jabs Administration

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today jabs at both the Johnson administration and Congress in charging not enough has been done to combat hunger in the nation.

Humphrey, returning from a four-day campaign swing in California in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the nation needs "a strong president."

Humphrey's remarks were prepared for a National Association of Counties meeting. He said neither Congress nor the administration—specifically the Department of Agriculture—had done enough to combat hunger in the United States.

"It is immoral to allow some babies to suffer from malnutrition while others in our population are concerned about the dangers of overeating," said Humphrey, and he added:

"Let me be perfectly candid—neither Congress nor the United States Department of Agriculture have made an adequate response to the severe problems of hunger and malnutrition we know exist in America."

Humphrey said there was no reason for anyone to be hungry in a land of "unequal wealth and agriculture productivity."

The Humphrey campaign hopes to get a refueling of dollars at a $500-a-place dinner to night in Washington.

Humphrey and his aides have acknowledged campaign money problems. Humphrey said Tuesday that the pinch had forced a cancellation, at least temporarily, of some advertising.

However, Humphrey is known to be watching over the money raising machinery himself and expects the situation to be eased if not remedied once the conventions are over. In addition, aides hope that tonight's affair will bring in as much as $1.5 million.
